Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto Him with songs of praise. Psalms 95:2

The "Choraleers" a musical group from Lancaster Mennonite High School, sing songs of thanksgiving at the 60th annual meeting of Inter-State Milk Producers, held at the Host Farm Resort Thursday night.

Sen. Heinz upset by some ag policies

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER – Some of the government's farm-related programs and policies are such that the responsible agencies should be taken to jail, not just to court, alleges U.D. Senator John Heinz, Republican Senator from Pittsburgh.

The junior senator from Pennsylvania made the stinging remark at the 60th annual dinner meeting of Inter-State Milk Producers, held here Thursday evening at the Host Farm Resort.

Heinz expressed disappointment over a number of issues, particularly the new Farm Bill, imports, and conflicting nutritional directives by government agencies.

Heinz didn't come to Inter-State's gathering of 1100 people to just deliver sour notes, however. He frequently mixed his

Soybean harvest hampered by weather

By KENDACE BORRY

LITITZ – The weather is the main concern of soybean farmers in the Lancaster Farming area according to a survey done this past week. Rainy conditions have held back harvesting to the point where crops which by now would normally be almost completely harvested are still standing in the fields.

Raymond Callis, Manheim R1, in Lancaster County, raised 65 acres of soybeans this year and at the time of this survey, only four acres were harvested. According to Callis, he needs three sunshiney days before he can get back to combining his fields and he hopes to be back to doing his soybeans by the beginning of the next week. Although he mentioned that he had some minor problems with hail damage and weed problems in his fields, he expects an

NEPPCO hears of economic gloom

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER – On Tuesday afternoon of this week, one of the country's best known experts on the stock market, Albert Sindlinger, forecasted the market would drop significantly on Friday (yesterday).

Sindlinger was one of the main speakers who spoke at the final annual conference of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council (NEPPCO) held here at the Host Farm earlier this week. Sindlinger's message was in part an economic outlook, and partly an assessment of our government's ability to cope with financial matters.

In short, Sindlinger said that officials in Washington do not understand U.S. financial matters and that some internal power struggles are causes for continuous bungling. The net result is that a recession is inevitable and

York 4-H livestock team captures national title

KANSAS CITY – Pennsylvania, represented by a York County team, won the American Royal National 4-H meats judging contest for the first time last week in test was held from November 9 through November 11.

The team's win came about by earning 1888 points out of a possible 2070. 1878 points and Nebraska was third with 1870 points. Fourteen states were represented in the contest.

Kathy Sunday, York R1, was high individual in the points out of a possible 690 points. Brenda Werner, Hanover, R1, was ninth overall judging.

In the beef carcasses and beef chuck classes, Laurie was second high individual with 144 points out of 150, and David Wise, Spring Grove R2, was third with 142 points. The York County team

From calf to cow, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

Are you in the dairy business to stay?

Are you ready to devote an hour or so of your time planning for a more profitable future?

If your answer to both questions is yes, you owe it to yourself to read what we have to say.

Unlike many other feed companies, we develop custom feeding programs for each individual dairy.

It all starts with a Pennfield man reviewing your total operation with you. Your goals. Your records. The health and overall condition of your milking cows and young stock. Your management practices. Your roughage feeding program. And other factors that have an effect on your profit potential.

We also conduct laboratory analysis of the roughages you feed to determine their nutrient content.

With the aid of computers, we then design a balanced feeding program specifically tailored to your operation and goals—a program that can improve your profits by reducing expenses, increasing production, or both.

For example, while using a Pennfield customized feeding program, 30 herds this past year averaged 1,688 lbs. more milk and 64 lbs. more fat per cow than the previous year.

There is no cost—or obligation—for this unique service. But you must take the first step by writing or phoning us. Do it today.

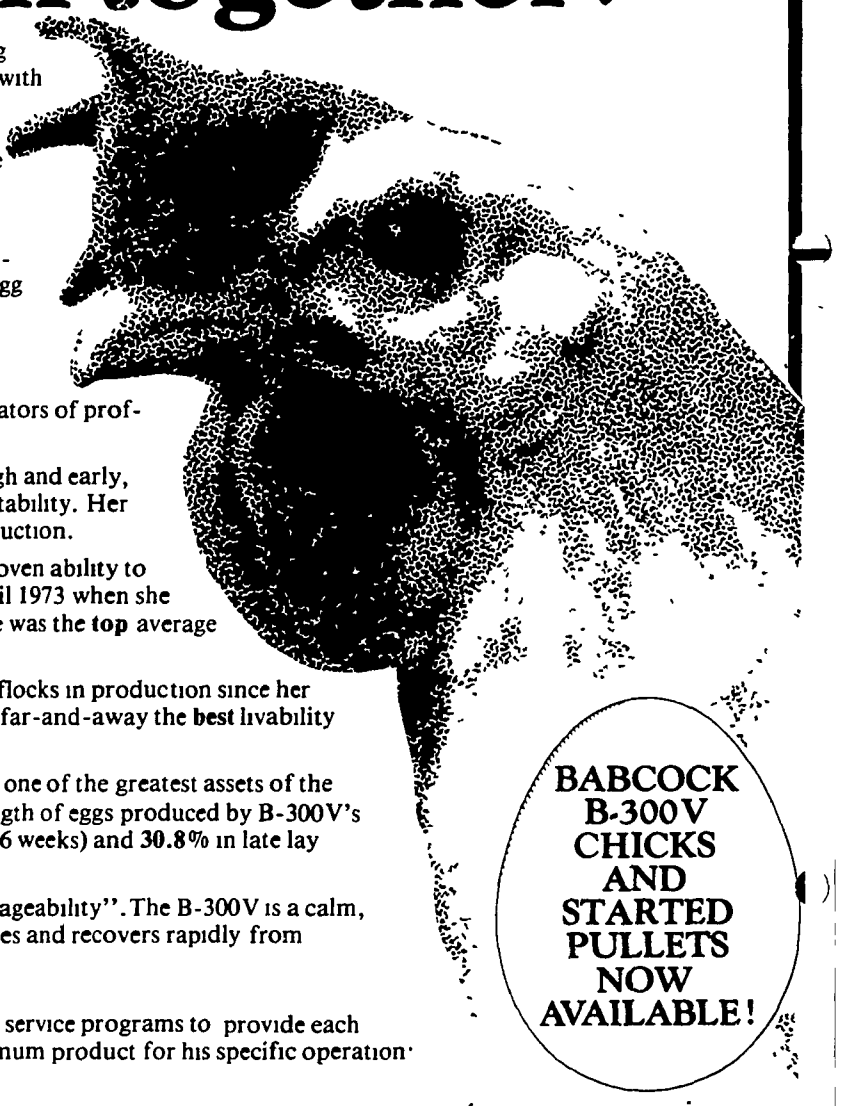
Put it all together!



The Babcock B-300V is rapidly reestablishing herself as the world's top layer. Egg producers with flocks well into production are reporting performance they haven't seen for years . . . from any layer. In many cases, in fact, they are reporting their best performance ever.

But in this business, potential is only half the game. Babcock backs its bird with the most professional, experienced distribution team in the egg industry.

Consider these features:

PRODUCT

The B-300V rates "excellent" in all key indicators of profitable performance:

*EGG PRODUCTION -- The B-300V peaks high and early, for quick recovery of your costs, and early profitability. Her persistency after peak translates to top egg production.

*FEED CONVERSION -- The B-300V has a proven ability to efficiently convert feed to eggs From 1966, until 1973 when she was withdrawn from Random Sample Tests, she was the top average feed converter in the industry.

*LIVABILITY -- Field results from all B-300V flocks in production since her reintroduction in late '76 indicate she may have far-and-away the best livability in the business.

*EGGSHELL QUALITY -- Eggshell strength is one of the greatest assets of the 1977 B-300V. Between 1972 and 1976, shell strength of eggs produced by B-300V's has improved by a measured 15% in early lay (36 weeks) and 30.8% in late lay (68 weeks).

*RESISTANCE TO STRESS -- We call it "manageability". The B-300V is a calm, adaptable bird. She resists environmental stresses and recovers rapidly from management problems

SERVICE

The Babcock distribution team has developed service programs to provide each individual grower or egg producer with the optimum product for his specific operation·

*DELIVERY -- Careful, on-time and courteous

*QUALITY PRODUCTS -- Birds are hatched and/or grown with Babcock technical assistance. Uniform, healthy chicks and started pullets are vaccinated for your area challenges, and are correctly and fully-developed for their age.

*SERVICE -- Experienced, professional service is available before, during and after delivery.

*FLEXIBILITY -- Babcock distributors are equipped to supply the needs of your operation, whatever the size of your order. Cage or floor grown started pullets are available, depending on the needs of your program.

Talk to a professional about your next replacement flock. The businessmen behind the businessman's bird have a performance package tailored to your chick or started pullet program.

Quality and service. Put it all together with Babcock!

Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council

Join your fellow pork producers in supporting pork promotion and production research to keep hogs a profitable farm enterprise. Tell your market or buyer that you want 10 cents per market hog or 5 cents per feeder pig deducted to support these programs. Most markets and buyers will cooperate fully if you let them know.

The PPPC was formed and is funded and directed by producers. There is no Government Agency involved.

--Cattle--Compared with previous week's close--

Closing prices on Slaughter Steers were mostly 50C lower instances 75C off. Heifers Closed 25-50C lower. Cows were 50-1.50 lower and Bulls 1.00-2.00 lower.

Four day receipts 13,900 as compared 15,400 previous week and 16,100 a year ago. Fed Cattle prices were forced downward in pre-Thanksgiving trading as movement of carcass beef at the wholesale level was generally slow in the face of stiff competition from poultry products for the approaching holiday. Live trading was often slow as most interests were competitive only for minimum requirements and some acquired a moderate portion of their volume from other areas. Much of the steer and Heifer supply was good to average-choice and some carried a moderate amount of mud as the result of recent rains. Slaughter Steers made up approximately 27 PCT of the weekly total and Heifers 28 PCT. Cows contributed 7 PCT and Feeders 35 PCT.

STEERS: Three Loads choice and Prime 3-4 1142-1317 lbs. 42.25-42.50 early, Six Loads same grade 3-4 1107-1230 lbs. 42.00 later. Choice 2-4 975-1250 lbs closed 41.00-42.00. Mixed Good and Choice 950-1225 lbs. 40.00-41.00. Good 2-3 950-1350 lbs. 37.00-40.00. Standard and Good 2-3 35.00-36.00.

Average of LS-214, Detailed Quotations, for choice 900-1100 lb. Steers this week 41.42, Choice 1100-1300 lbs. 41.55. Average weight steers first three days 1110 lbs as compared 1110 lbs. previous week. Average weight heifers first three days 972 lbs as compared 976 lbs. previous week.

HEIFERS: load and part load choice and prime 3-4 1023-1044 lbs. 41.50, Several Loads same grade 3-4 951-1039 lbs. 41.00-41.25. Choice 2-4 875-1050 lbs. 39.50-40.75. Mixed Good and Choice 2-3 875-1000 lbs. 38.25-39.50. Good 2-3 34.50-38.00 Standard and Good 2-3 32.00-33.50.

COWS: Utility and Commercial 2-4 22.50-23.50, Few 24.00. Canner and Cutter 19.50-22.50.

BULLS: 1-2 1400-1800 lbs. 28.00-30.00.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS By DIETER KRIEG, EDITOR

Precious families, wonderful friends, delicious food comfortable homes, welcome opportunities, beautiful surroundings, healthy bodies bountiful products, good fortunes, priceless freedoms, and our needs met in so many different ways -- these are just a few happenings of our daily lives which we have to be thankful for

The list could go on and on From the smallest and seemingly insignificant drops of water to the big blessings of a healthy family We have a lot to be grateful for

As we approach another holiday of Thanksgiving we should remember that Nov 24 isn't just a turkey feast Thanksgiving meant much more than that to the early settlers who came to this country centuries ago They did not and could not take anything for granted due to the circumstances which brought them to this land

Our duty on Thanksgiving -- and really every day -- is to remember the many blessings we have, and to live and work in such a way so that the blessings may be passed on to coming generations It's often said that we're in danger of losing some of our blessings, and it's generally acknowledged that if we do -- it'll be because we took them for granted

The meaning of Thanksgiving and the traditions should never be forgotten or neglected

Have a happy Thanksgiving, everyone!

Farmland preservation urged

Editor, Lancaster Farming: I was certainly very pleased to find your editorial on "Preserving good farmland" on the front page of your newspaper. This, or a similar editorial should be upon every front page of every newspaper each week until something constructive is done to preserve good farmland throughout our nation. How can a nation of people, who supposedly are the most intelligent people on Earth, permit such wanton destruction of our most important natural resource; the land which provides us sustenance? We foresee a doubling of world population within a 25 year period and already are conducting annual world food conferences hopefully to solve the problem of starvation throughout the world at this present time. How can we ever hope to feed twice the people within another generation with a dwindling of the Earths resources which can and will affect food production; and yet condone the taking of the finest soils for non-agricultural development?

Certainly there is much concern expressed by politicians as well as editors and environmentally concerned people. However, little or no action is taken to stop the conversion of land use, or should I say, in setting up a wise land use program nationwide as well as state wide.

Clearly, of course, this is because of politico-economic reasons. If would be political suicide for any legislator to dare suggest that we place restrictions on what we consider as private property rights. Infact I, as a property owner, would and have resisted what I consider as too much governmental intervention in rights which to us are nearly sacred.

However, I knew at the time of purchase that I was buying the title to a piece of this Planet Earth, a bit of God's creation and not a renewable commodity which can be freely traded over the counter. I also realized that this bit of Earth would be here for someone to treasure long after my journey here has ended. Therefore, I would not and should not be bitter knowing I could sell the good land with good agricultural capabilities for none other than so noble a purpose.

To put this all together, I am too well aware that restrictions on land use are unpopular with farmers as a whole. We tend to be fiercely jealous of property rights. Therefore I would suggest another approach be taken to solve the problem. An approach not as immediately effective to be sure, neither anymore painful or disdainful.

To understand better what I am about to suggest, review in your own mind what down through the years has brought development into the agricultural regions and what is attracting further development in these regions. Certainly one of the reasons was good roads which helped to develop commerce. Another was industry which at first may have been agriculturally related although this relationship has long ago disappeared.

Therefore, I am about to suggest that we press first for a responsible state agency to fairly map soils capabilities within counties and the State and designate agricultural land versus for

GOD AND/OR CAESAR?

Lesson for November 20, 1977

Background Scripture.
Luke 20:19-26
Acts 5:27-32;
Romans 13:1-10.
Devotional Reading:
Romans 12-1-8.

"Than render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's."

What kind of answer was that?

Was Jesus giving his flowers a rule-of-thumb that could be used whenever faith and state seemed in conflict?

Well, yes.....and no.

It was the beginning of an answer, but not the whole to it. To those Jews who believed that any co-operation with the Roman authoritities was contrary to their allegiance to God, Jesus was indicating significant disagreement. His answer, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's...," says plainly that God's children do have responsibilities to the state. Since it was the question of paying taxes that precipitated this question, Jesus is obviously saying that taxation was one of them.

Not either/or

To those, on the other hand, who feel that the believer must in every situation and choice be obedient to the state, Jesus was also saying that there are areas of life in which man owes his highest obedience to God alone. Thus, Jesus was not agreeing with either extreme. He did not believe that a person had to choose to obey only the state, or only God.

The problem for us is that, apart from the obvious reference to paying taxes, Jesus' response does not spell out just what belongs to God and what belongs to Caesar. So how can we know Jesus' view on these knotty conflicts between faith and state?

The answer, I believe, is that we must not look for this one utterance—on "Caesar" and "God" - to provide us with all the answers. All Jesus is saying in it is that it does not have to be God or Caesar. As he responds it is evident that it is God and Caesar. Beyond that, we must look elsewhere.

What comes first?

If we look at the rest of his life and teachings we begin to see more of the answer. For one thing, it is evident from his whole life that, although he was generally a law-abiding citizen, his greatest allegiance was always to God. He followed the commands of Caesar so long as they were not in conflict with the commands he received from God. Therefore, there were times when he was critical of state officials (Luke 13:32). There were times when he was not cooperative with public officials and was even sharp in some of his replies (Luke 22,23). He obviously could have saved himself before Pilate, but he refused to go back on his God-given mission. So, Jesus was executed by the state as a common criminal, a gross miscarriage of justice.

Thus, from his own life we find the full answer he gave: God and state, but when these two are in conflict, then God!

TO BE CAREFUL WITH BIG BALES

We are aware of the increased number of big bales of hay and corn fodder being made during the past Summer and Fall. These bales usually weigh from a half a ton up to a ton and can be the cause of accidents and fatal injuries. If they are to be moved by a front-end loader on a tractor, then be careful they do not overturn the vehicle, or roll down from the loader onto the driver. Also, we have heard of them rolling down steep slopes into fences, buildings, or farm machinery. This is a new way of storing and handling roughages, but requires some special safety measures in order to avoid an accident.

TO CHECK FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

The Winter season is at hand when barns are full of livestock, marchinery, and feeding materials; also, more time is being spent around the barn than last Summer. This requires fire prevention methods on everyone's part; also, condemns smoking in buildings which I feel is done too frequently Several good fire extinguishers in the buildings is strongly suggested to help keep the fire under control until the fire truck arrives. This means that the extinguishers should be in working order and every member of the family know where they are located and how to operate them. Don't be caught with a fire extinguisher that won't work.

TO CHECK DAIRY BARN VENTILATION AND INSULATION

We have had our first touch of Winter weather and no doubt many walls and windows were wet with condensation; this is difficult to completely eliminate, but efforts should be made to prevent this condition as much as possible. When foul air is moved out of the barn with exhaust fans, there should be less condensation; also, with adequate insulation in both ceilings and side-walls, there should be less dripping. Any type of farm animal that is housed in confinement will give off body heat that can't escape from the building unless some special means is provided. Open buildings, or cattle in open feedlots, have plenty of natural air movement and should not require any type of ventilation.

TO PREPARE FARM PONDS FOR WINTER

Owners of farm ponds might be giving some attention to ice-skating safety, and the use of the pond as a fire fighting tool..In the first case, emergency rescue equipment should be at the pond in case a skater breaks through ice; this can be wooden raft, a wooden ladder, rope with inflated inner-tube, or several planks or wide boards. Any of these might be needed quickly and should be on hand. Referring to fire fighting with the pond water, owners should keep in mind that the fire truck must get within 25 feet of the water in order to pump water to the scene of the fire. Be sure there is all-weather lane or road to the edge of the pond. The heavy truck may mire down in the mud and be useless.

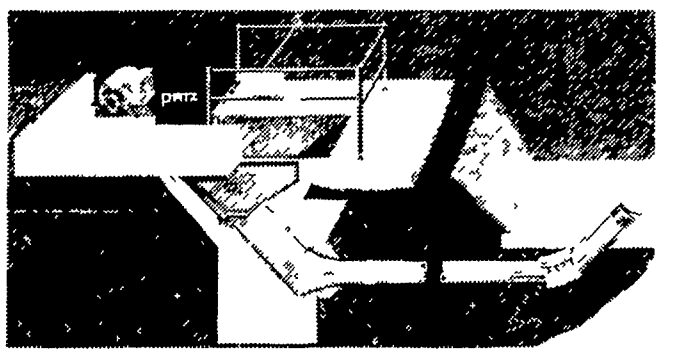
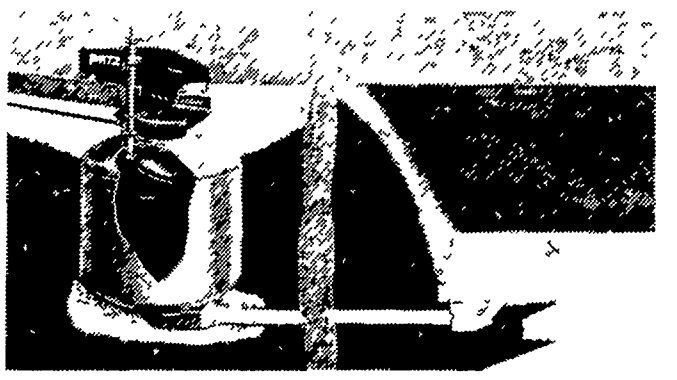
The old strongarm method of Manure Handling gives way to new muscle from PATZ — namely the Slurry Manure Pump and compressed-air Liquid Manure Mover These modern methods of manure movement provide simplicity, rugged construction, operational ease, dependability, plus convenience



Slurry Manure Pump

Slurry or free flowing manure is pumped from a 180 gallon hopper under ground through 12 in PVC pipe to the manure holding area (If bedding is used only fine cut is recommended) Stroke is adjustable and driven by tough roller chain drive/reduction unit Plunger sleeve and one-way valves all can be removed for servicing



Liquid Manure Mover

Big 1700 (US) gallon below-ground pressure vessel collects slurry that is moved simply and easily by as little as 10-12 lbs of air pressure through 12 in PVC pipe to manure storage area Simplicity in design, turning swing-away hatch cover, one-way valve at bottom and flapper valve at the discharge end are the only moving parts Century Farms to be honored in Chester County on Mon.

WEST CHESTER - Chester County's rural heritage and its commitment to open space and agriculture will be recognized November 21, when the Chester County Commissioners honor the owners of some 60 "Century Farms" in the county.

Awards will be presented to the owners of these Century Farms by the commissioners at the 19th Annual Farm-City Night dinner at the West Chester Treadway Inn on Route 202. The dinner is sponsored annually by the Kiwanis Club of West Chester and the Chamber of Commerce of Greater West Chester.

A Century Farm is one which has been owned by the same family for a continuous period of 100 years or more. The farm must be at least 10 acres in size or gross over $1000 a year in farm income.

The award ceremony is being made possible by grants from the commissioners and several Chester County banks including Elverson National Bank, First National Bank of Honeybrook, First National Bank of West Chester, National Bank and Trust Co. of Kennett Square, National Central Bank, Peoples Bank of Oxford, and Southeast National Bank.

The award ceremony will only be a part of the night's activities at the dinner. The Kiwanis Club and the Chamber of Commerce have also planned a sing-a-long featuring Mrs. Donna Beech at the piano and the main entertainment will be provided by the Holy Trinity Boys Choir, which is well known in the area and last year performed throughout Europe.

The concept of honoring Century Farms is not unique to Chester County. Other counties in the state have honored Century Farmers.

Members of that committee were Robert Powers, county agricultural Extension agent; Charles Gable of Elverson; Leon Wilkinson of Landenburg; John McCausland of Downingtown; Marshall Jones of Westtown; Ira Hicks of West Chester; G. Pownell Jones of Toughkenamon; Harold Martin of Oxford; and Eugene McDowell of New London.

"The farm families of Chester County have contributed more than we could ever estimate to the economy, culture and character of Chester County," said Earl M. Baker, chairman of the county commissioners, "and it is proper that they are recognized for their commitment."

The list of Century Farms offers a cross-section of agricultural types in Chester County. They range from dairy farms to mushroom farms to general crop farms. Also, there are Century farms in all sections of the county with the majority of them located in the southern, western, and northern sections of the county.

$10.35 paid for October milk

NEW YORK, N.Y. – Dairy farmers supplying milk plants regulated under the New York — New Jersey marketing orders during October will be paid on the basis of a uniform price of $10.35 per hundred pounds or 22.3 cents per quart. Market Administrator Thomas A. Wilson, who announced October's price, also stated that the uniform farm price was $10.34 per hundred weight in September 1977 and $10.40 per hundredweight in October 1976. The uniform price is a market wide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

The seasonal incentive fund (Louisville Plan) returned a total of $3,423,416.65 or $.446 per hundredweight to the dairy farmer's uniform price for October. This fund was generated by reducing the uniform price paid producers during the high production spring months.

The total amount of milk received from the 18,603 dairy farmers supplying the New York-New Jersey Marketing Area was 766,975,532 pounds during October 1977. This was more than 25.4 million pounds above last year. The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $81,008,492.99. Mr. Wilson explained that this included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not voluntary premiums or deductions authorized by the farmer.

Regulated milk dealers (handlers) utilized 394,567,304 pounds or 51.4 per cent of the total amount of milk for Class I. The Class I milk is used for fluid milk products such as homogenized, flavored, low-test and skim milks. For October 1977, handlers paid $11.04 per hundredweight, or 23.7 cents per quart, for the milk used in Class I products compared with $11.39 a year ago.

The balance of the milk, 48.6 per cent, was used to manufacture Class II products including butter, cheese, ice cream and yogurt. For this milk the handlers paid $8.80 per hundredweight.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 per cent butterfat. For October 1977, a differential of 11.6 cents was applied to the price for each one-tenth of one per cent that the milk tested above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

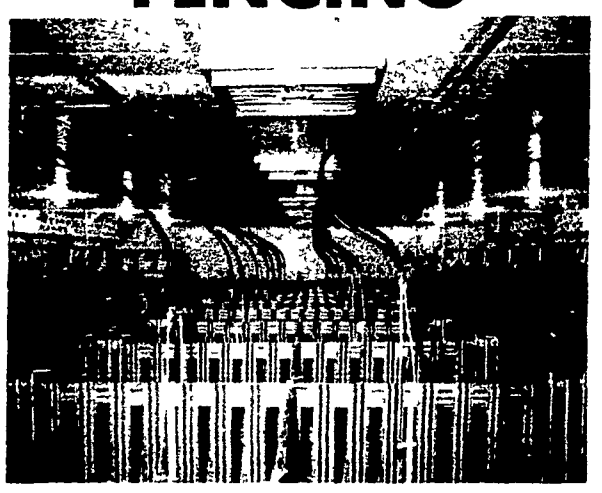
NORTHCO FARM AUTOMATION SYSTEMS

HOG FENCING BUILT TO LAST AND LAST!

NORTHCO PANEL FENCING



NORTHCO PANEL FENCING is available in stainless steel or galvanized. Stainless Steel panels are generally used over the pit Panels are designed with a positive locking system and can easily be opened with Northco's gate closure rod.

Stainless steel or galvanized Northco panel fencing is available The stainless steel fencing is generally used over the pit.

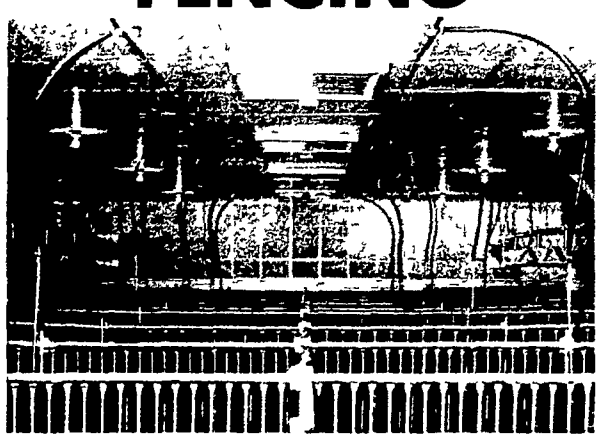
HOG PANEL FENCING

MADE FOR CONFINEMENT

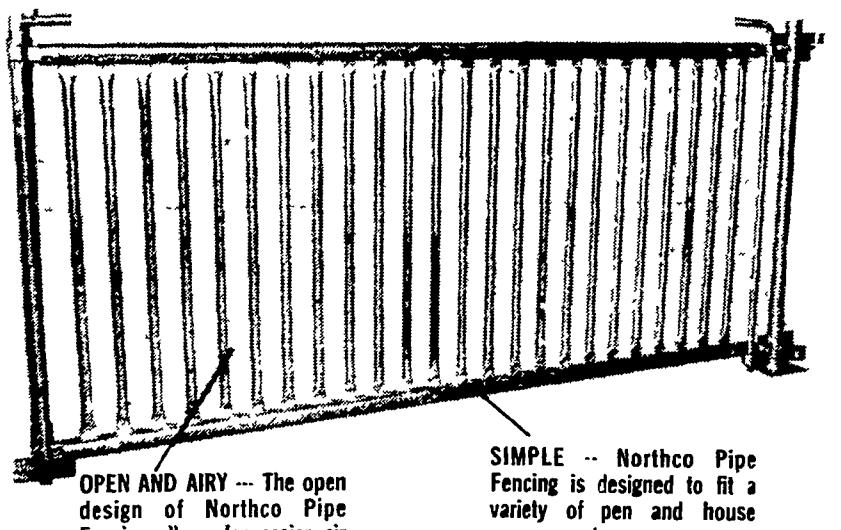
- Northco Hog Panel Fencing is built specifically for hog confinement by the experts in the field. That's why Northco Panel Fencing has advantages like these:
- UPRIGHT PICKETS—Hogs can't climb the upright pickets and the "open" design of Northco Panel Fencing aids the ventilation system.
- EVERY SECTION SWINGS—The closure rod can be quickly removed so every fencing section in the building will act as a gate.
- EASY TO INSTALL—Hinges allow for some length adjustment to simplify installation. Also Northco Panel Fencing can be ordered in sizes to fit almost any hog building including both total confinement and open front systems.

NORTHCO PIPE FENCING



NORTHCO PIPE FENCING is available with picket spacing of 2" for nursery, 3" for finishing and 4" for gestation.

Sorting hogs is easier with aisle gates that open at either end. Northco's gate closure rod simplifies opening and closing time and keeps the gate locked securely the rest of the time.



OPEN AND AIRY — The open design of Northco Pipe Fencing allows for easier air movement and better ventilation SIMPLE -- Northco Pipe Fencing is designed to fit a variety of pen and house arrangements.

PIPE FENCING

BUILT HOGHOUSE TOUGH

- STRONGER MATERIAL—Northco Pipe Fencing stands up strong to hog-house abuse. Structural steel vertical pickets and horizontal rails made of 1.66-inch galvanized tubing add strength and increase resistance to corrosion.
- BETTER DESIGN—Hogs can't climb the vertical pickets used in Northco Pipe Fencing. This open design also allows for easier air movement and helps prevent manure build-up.
- ADAPTABLE—Northco Pipe Fencing comes in 2-inch, 3-inch and 4-inch spacing for use in nursery, finishing and gestation systems. Standard lengths from four to twelve feet are available.

The Northco Hog Experts have designed SUCCESSFUL hog confinement systems since 1963. This experience is part of the reason Northco is considered the leader in hog confinement.

Not long ago agronomists advised farmers to try nitrogen fertilizer on just a few acres to prove its effectiveness

*U.S. Patent Pending

SYMBEX is a new product, but the way it works is as old and proven as your soil.

SYMBEX is a unique grouping of naturally-occurring soil microorganisms suspended in a patented* enzyme and nutrient base.

SYMBEX stimulates microbial action in your soil to ...

1. Speed decomposition of crop residue
2. Promote the nitrogen-fixing capability of soil bacteria
3. Increase humus formation, which will ...

- Build soil fertility and tilth
- Enrich crop quality
- Boost crop yields and dollar returns
- Minimize leaching of plant nutrients and pesticides
- Improve moisture-holding capacity of your soil
- Provide stronger disease resistance through antibodies produced by soil microbes.

SYMBEX is not harmful to humans or animals, and carryover is not a problem.

SYMBEX application is simple and can easily be included with your 1977 crop.

MAKE a test strip and evaluate results. Just a few acres this year will change the way you farm.

PFA recognizes members' efforts

CAMP HILL – Boyd E. Wolff, a Westmoreland County dairyman and community leader, Tuesday night was presented the distinguished service award of the Pennsylvania Farmer's Association (PFA). Also, the Franklin County Farmers' Association was named the top county for overall program achievement for 1977.

Both awards were presented Tuesday night along with 20 other program awards at the PFA's annual awards banquet which was held in conjunction with the group's four-day convention here at the Penn Harris Motor Inn.

PFA is a general farm organization with 21,723 family members in the state. It has 53 local units and is affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Boyd Wolff owns and operates a large dairy farm in Westmoreland County, near New Alexandria. His farm consists of 421 acres and a dairy herd of 150 registered Holsteins.

He was praised by the farm organization for his willingness and public relations efforts to bring understanding between farmers and city dwellers. He has appeared on numerous TV and radio shows to discuss agriculture, and has been source of many newspaper articles.

The Wolfden Farm, operated by Wolff, has been opened to the public on many occasions, to local school children, Pittsburgh inner-city children, service clubs, cub scouts and many foreign groups.

Wolff has held many state and national positions with professional agricultural groups, and has won numerous awards for community service.

Franklin County Farmers' Association was designated the "all star" county for operating the best overall program for their membership. Joel Wenger of Greencastle and president of the local unit, accepted the award. The association took individual program awards for advisory council, information, insurance, national legislation, marketing, commodity and took first place in overall program achievement for local units with more than 400 family members.

Other individual program and achievement winners by county association were Chester/Delaware Association - State Legislative (Harold Martin of Oxford).

Erie Association - Local Affairs (William Goodwin of Lake City).

Montour Association - Membership (C. (Herbert Zeager of Watsontown).

Snyder Association - Second in overall achievement for local units with membership between 251 and 400 (Robert Klingler of Selinsgrove).

Mercer Association - First in overall achievement for local units with membership between 251 and 400, and first place for Policy Development (William Cannon of Sharon).

Armstrong Association - Second in overall achievement for local units with membership in the under 250 member category (Bernard A. Goodheart of Dayton).

Berks Association - Second in overall program achievement in the over 400 member category and first place for individual programs including political education, women's activities, and farm management (William R. Myer of Myerstown).

Washington Association - Supply Purchasing (Robert Lowry of Washington).

Clarion Association - First in overall achievement for local units with membership of 250 or under.

Lehigh Association - Organization (Russell K. Dietrich of New Tripoli).

Each of the awards consisted of cash and plaques.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Wolff, were presented with the distinguished service award Tuesday evening, in recognition of their services to the Pennsylvania Farmers Association. Flanking the pair are daughters Pat, left, and Corky.

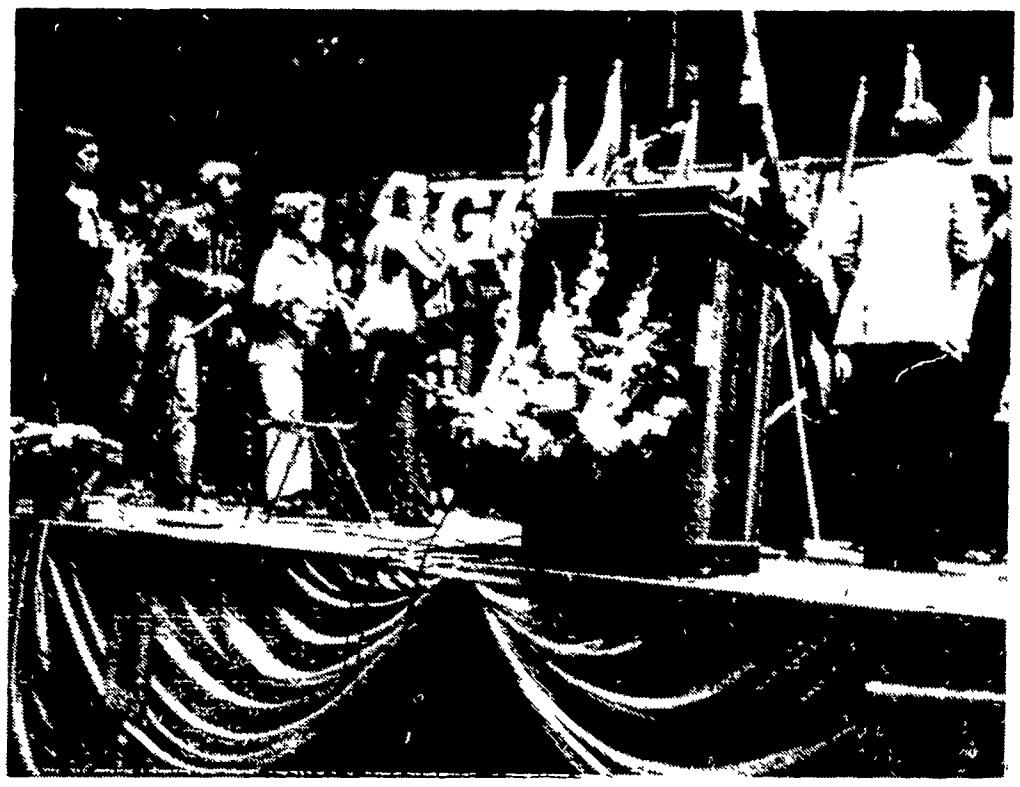
Golden Anniversary FFA conv



Pageantry -- colors, flags, music, speeches, and an atmosphere of fun with dignity -- dominated the Golden Anniversary activities of the National FFA's 50th convention in Kansas City last week.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - FFA members from across the nation braved cold temperatures in Kansas City to participate in the organization's 50th Anniversary Convention and join in the kickoff celebration for the Organization's year-long golden anniversary celebration More than 22,000 FFA members, advisors, parents, and guests filled hotels within a 40-mile radius of here. Closed circuit television was installed to handle overflow crowds in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium.

The record crowd heard addresses by well-known speakers that included Ohio State Head Football Coach W.W."Woody" Hayes, North Carolina Governor James Hunt Jr. and humorist Grady Nutt. A greatly expanded career exposition featuring exhibits portraying career opportunities in agriculture drew record numbers of interested FFA members to the Exhibition Hall. Several special activities on the convention floor helped call attention to the opening of the organization's 50th Anniversary.

National FFA President James Bode of Geary, Okla officially called the convention to order on the morning of Nov. 9. Members of the National FFA Band and Chorus joined in an audio visual presentation on the FFA theme, "FFA - A Golden Past - A Brighter Future," which set the stage for the three days of convention activities. Keynoting the opening session, Coach W.W. "Woody" Hayes gave the audience his views of discipline and motivation, saying, "First, you have to get their attention, then show them immediate improvement." Comparing his coaching methods to the Bible's disciples he said, "the ones who believe in you, believe in your teachings."

The 50th Anniversary medallion designed by FFA member Patti Yanz of Washington and the 50th Anniversary FFA flag were unveiled during the session, and convention participants were welcomed to Kansas City by Mayor Charles Wheeler.

Keynoting the Wednesday afternoon session was Grady Nutt, the "Prime Minister of Humor" from Louisville, Ky. Illustrating his talk with many humorous stories, Nutt challenged FFA members to meet their job "head-on". He said that he was aware it was not an easy task, and urged that they strive to do their best at whatever agricultural career they chose to pursue.

The afternoon session saw the presentation of some of the over 2500 awards presented at the convention. National Chapter Safety Awards recognizing chapters for participation in safety projects in their local community were presented to 106 FFA chapters. The sponsors are the Farm and Industrial Equipment Institute (FIEI) and Dow Chemical U.S.A.

Always a highlight of the convention, Wednesday evening's National Public Speaking Contest drew a capacity crowd to the auditorium to hear 18-year-old Dee James of Clay Center, Kans., deliver his winning speech, "Agriculture's New Generation." Competing against three other regional finalists, James emphasized the importance of vocational agriculture and FFA programs in our society today. "I firmly believe in the role of the Future Farmers of America," he said, noting that vocational agriculture training helps supply the manpower and leadership that "will stand solid for our part in that inspiring task."

During the evening session, six dedicated leaders received the FFA's VIP Citation for their many years of continuous service to the National FFA Organization. Charles Dana Bennett, Harold Garver, Wm. Paul Gray, Ralph Howard, Clifton B. Jeter and George Shepherd were presented citations. In another presentation Distinguished Service Citations for many years of service to FFA and vocational agriculture were awarded to the Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Production Credit Associations of the United States, and Venard Films.

In a highlight of the evening's program, convention participants witnessed the premiere showing of a new FFA history film "Learning and the Land - 50 Years of FFA," sponsored by Firestone. Twenty-nine Charter FFA members, who joined FFA between 1928 and 1930, were introduced to the convention audience. They were brought to the convention by the FFA Alumni Association, which hosted them at a breakfast in their honor on Thursday morning.

Thursday morning's program featured presentation of regional and national FFA Agricultural Proficiency Awards for outstanding achievement in 19 areas of production agriculture and agribusiness. Panels of judges representing education, business, and industry selected the national winners.

At the Thursday morning session, participants saw the National Citation, the highest award in the FFA community development program, Building Our American Communities (BOAC), presented the North Fayette County FFA Chapter of West Union, Iowa. The 136-member FFA chapter developed a highly successful all-purpose community building for the county fairgrounds. The award was signed and presented by Senator Richard Lugar of Ind., who served as Chairman of the National BOAC Selection Committee. BOAC awards are sponsored by Lilly Endowment, Inc., of Indianapolis, Ind.

At the afternoon session, FFA members listened as Ray Wilkinson, Capitol Broadcasting Company's Farm Relations Director of Raleigh, N.C. combined humor with a serious message about the future of American Agriculture. "The future is bright for American Agriculture," Wilkinson told his audience of American Farmer Degree recipients emphasizing that "The best is yet to come."

Honorary American Farmer Degrees were conferred on 191 men and women who have served and supported the FFA. The American Farmer Degree, highest degree of membership in the FFA, was presented to 801 FFA members this year. It was the largest number of FFA members ever to receive the degree. From this select group judges named Dwight Buller, a 22-year-old crop farmer from Hendricks, Minnesota, Star Farmer of America, and another Minnesotan Michael Deming, 21, a materials handling equipment dealer from Owatonna, Star Agribusinessman of America. The Star Farmer and Star Agribusinessman of America awards are recognized as the nation's top awards for young men and women becoming established in farming and agribusiness careers. The awards were presented by the National FFA Foundation, Inc., following the premiere showing of the CIBA-GEIGY Corporation sponsored "Stars Over America" film documenting the achievements of the eight regional stars.

National FFA Foundations Sponsors were also recognized for their support in 1977. The 1977 Sponsoring Committee Chairman, David A. Phillipson, DVM, vice president and general manager of The Upjohn Company of Kalamazoo, Mich., announced that 1977 was a record year for the Foundation which provided nearly $900,000 for FFA incentive award programs. Clarke A. Nelson, group vice president, Carnation Company, Los Angeles, Calif., was introduced as the 1977 Sponsoring Committee Chairman. In other convention award presentations, the nation's 335 most active chapters were presented the National FFA Chapter Award recognizing participation in a well-rounded program of activities. Winners from Pennsylvania were announced in last week's issue of Lancaster Farming.

FFA members filled to capacity the four leadership workshops held during the 6th annual National FFA Alumni Association Convention held in conjunction with the FFA Convention. The workshops, sponsored and conducted by the Alumni Association, informed FFA members of the ways and means of becoming better leaders. "The leadership workshops have been a tremendous success - full house every time," said Robert W. Cox, administrative secretary of the National FFA Alumni Association. Other workshops were held for advisors and state alumni leaders on the how-to's of forming Alumni Affiliates and the effective use of these affiliates.

Past and a Brig..er Fu..re" was the theme of this convention in Kansas City, at which more than ents participated.

The National FFA Alumni Association held the opening session of its sixth annual meeting on Wednesday morning at the H. Roe Bartle Hall. Over 800 persons attended the 13,500-member Alumni Association's meeting which convened for two half-day sessions on Wednesday and Thursday mornings. FFA Alumni Outstanding Achievement Awards were presented to three FFA alumni members who have served agriculture and the FFA for many years.

Legion of Merit Citations were presented to 147 individuals for active leadership in building the FFA Alumni Association. The Marysville, Ohio, FFA Alumni Affiliate was presented the second Outstanding Alumni Affiliate Award in recognitiion of the support Marysville FFA Alumni have given FFA and vocational agriculture in their community. In addition to the award presentations, Alumni members conducted business sessions, held committee meetings and elected new officers. The new FFA Alumni Chairman is Arthur R. Kurtz of Madison, Wis.

Eight National FFA Contests were conducted in conjunction with the National Convention. The contests involving 1000 FFA members on 312 three and four-member teams are conducted as a practical test of skills and abilities learned in the vocational agriculture classroom. This year contests were held in eight instructional areas: livestock, poultry, dairy cattle, milk quality and dairy foods, agricultural mechanics, horticulture, meats and farm business management. The Cloister Chapter from Ephrata took second place in dairy cattle.

The contests are sponsored by individuals, businesses, industry and trade associations through the National FFA Foundation, Inc., which provides awards and travel funds. The contests are an annual event held in cooperation with the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show which provides the animals.

Throughout the week FFA members were entertained by music provided by the 117 piece National FFA Band and 99-member National FFA Chorus. These musical units were recruited by mail had never played or sung together before arriving in Kansas City last Sunday. The National FFA Band leads the opening parade for the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show on Saturday. Entertainment was also provided by many talented FFA members who performed individually and in groups on the convention floor and at the numerous recognition banquets held during the week.

In addition to the Agricultural Career Show, convention participants visiting the Exhibition Hall saw special FFA Association exhibits from 46 of the 50 States. A special exhibit of 12 oil paintings from FFA Calendars representing the purposes of FFA were on display. Artist Arthur Sarnoff was present to autograph reproductions, and visit with members.

North Carolina Governor James Hunt delivered the keynote address at the Friday morning session. Recalling his strong ties to the Future Farmers of America as a State FFA President, Hunt told his audience that experiences in the FFA helped him develop the leadership skills that led to his successful political career. He challenged FFA members to participate in FFA leadership and career development activities and take advantage of opportunities to develop their own skills.

Six new national officers were elected unanimously at the close of the Friday morning session. The six FFA members replace the current team of national officers whose one-year term of office began at the close of the 1976 National FFA Convention. Election of the officers followed their recommendations to the delegates by a Nominating Committee of state FFA officers. The six national officers elected to serve the FFA in 1977-78 are: J. Ken Johnson, 19, of Nacogdoches, Texas, as National FFA President; Howard C Morrison, 19, of Gilbert, Arizona, as National Secretary; Peggy Sue Armstrong, 19, of Newhall, Iowa, as Vice President, Central Region; Robin C. "Rob" Hovis, 20, of Helena, Ohio, as Vice President of the Eastern Region; Christopher C. Hardee, 20, of Chiefland, Florida, as Vice President of the Southern Region, and Dee Sokolosky, 20, of Owasso, Oklahoma, as Vice President of the Western Region.

The program concluded with the recognition of the 1976-77 national officers for their year of service to FFA. Parents and FFA advisors of the retiring officers were recognized and the six 1977-78 national officers were installed in their new offices. Special entertainment by The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, followed the closing session of the 50th National FFA Convention.

Soybean harvesting

Kenneth Rutt, of Edgefield Farms, Quarryville R2, spoke of the 125 acres of soybeans he raised this year, of which only 20 acres are harvested, due to the wet weather Speaking of the weather, he said that a small percentage of his crop was beginning to sprout due to the warm wet rains in the recent past, and he was glad for the cold weather Although he feels that the quality of the crop will lower slightly the longer it stands in the field, he expects a pretty good crop.

"There's a lot of learning that has to go into growing soybeans," Rutt explained. "It's a hard crop to grow to get high quality beans, and you need lots of management. It's not a crop that you just go out and plant. Although it can pay better than corn, it must be managed properly to get the maximum yields you want."

In Northampton County, David Paul, Bath R2, hadn't done any harvesting yet due to poor weather Anxious to get started on his 38 acres, he hopes to be combining by late today, if the weather cooperates. He related that he had heard reports of a greatly increased harvest of soybeans in the U.S. this year, but added that there also was an increased demand for the product. He expects soybean prices to be good and hopes for a good crop.

David Paul, Bath R2, checks his soybeans as he prepares to harvest his crop. If the weather cooperates, he should be in the fields combining by late today.

Located near York, John Shearer, Jr., has about half of his 180 acres of soybeans waiting to be harvested yet. Although he is fitting his schedule around getting both his corn and soybean crop harvested between the wet weather, he spoke of his soybean crop not being up to his expectations due to the dry conditions encountered in York County during the growing season.

Mark Hershey, Lebanon, who buys, sells, and processes soybeans stated that there are too many soybeans out in the fields yet, and the beans have been slightly hurt. He expects an average to little better than average crop this year.

Hershey expects average soybean market prices this year, and stated again that the biggest concern of the soybean farmers right now is the need for fair weather.

Preserving farmland is no critical issue

By DIETER KRIEG

LITITZ – There's no reason to panic about the continuing disappearance of farmland, some farmers say. Considering that we have an abundance of crops – and even surpluses – and yields per acre or animal climbing, the idea of farmland preservation does not sound too important to them. What's more, they have some good arguments to make their point.

One such farmer who didn't care to be identified, is a 36-year-old Chester County dairyman who says he can remember the time when his grandfather used to say: "We'll soon be running out of farmland – the day of the farmer is at hand."

That hasn't happened yet, and despite such talk which has been going on for years, the Chester Countian – among others – claims that farmland preservation isn't all that important yet.

Another argument is that farmers don't have a retirement plan.

"It's up to me to do the planning, not the government. One way I can do it is through wise land purchases, registered cattle, and other assets which appreciate in value when you go to disperse. The farmer makes his own retirement program through land," the young farmer stated.

The Chester Countian does not blame the high costs of land on developers. Rather, he says that home buyers and other final buyers drive up the price of land. Developers are just vehicles between the farmer who sells and the final buyer. As such, they generally only hold land for short periods of time, although there are exceptions, he explained.

"The residential buyer can't afford to buy a farm, but he can afford to buy a lot or a couple of acres. The developer is the middleman," continued the Chester Countian. "Don't turn against them because they're the ones who pay the top dollar when we go to sell," he advises.

"I used to think that the preservation of farmland was of uppermost importance and that developers were driving land prices sky-high. But I don't think that anymore. I changed my mind about five years ago," he said, citing continued abundance of cheap food as one reason for his thoughts.

The dairyman argues further that farmers are not forced to buy high-priced land When they do, it's usually with the backing of assets they have in the form of earlier land purchases.

"Farming is not a way to make a lot of money, but it is a way to make a good living -- as good as anybody else," he continued, adding that he was well satisfied with his own situation.

However, if a farmer isn't doing so good financially, the Chester Countian believes that looking into another profession should be seriously considered. "If they're at the bottom, are they doing their family justice by staying on the farm?" he asked. The fellows at the bottom may be better off from a financial standpoint if they choose to drop out, he said.

Other thoughts the dairyman had on land use and urban sprawl included landfills and standards of living in general.

On landills, he said "I wouldn't want to have one next to my farm, but they're going to have to be somewhere, and can we afford to have our refuse trucked 20 or 30 miles?"

"I was in Israel. They live kind of plain over there. I wonder if we shouldn't have to slow down in this country -- maybe not have those fancy gadgets which cook hot dogs from the inside out, etc.," he continued.

On the subject of public expenses such as sewers, landfills, schools, etc. the Chester Countian exclaimed· "I think these expenses are going up faster than our means to pay for them. The public will soon become aware of that fact. When that happens, and the pace of growth and sprawl slows down, the theory is that wiser land use will come along on its own.

Jim Breneman named outstanding FFA'er

NEPPCO hosts poultry contest for youth

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER - The Northeastern Poultry Producers Council, meeting here this week at the Host Farm for its final annual convention and exposition, hosted a youth program in which some 50 FFA and 4-H members from eight Northeastern states participated. Teams from Pennsylvania placed second in each division, and a Penn Manor FFA student was named the Outstanding FFA Poultryman from the region.

Capturing the high individual honor was Jim Breneman, 17, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos W. Breneman, Columbia R2. He received the award on the basis of his record-keeping and experience with laying hens. His parents own and operate a 68,000 bird layer operation and Jim has kept complete records on a portion of them for the past several years. Items in his record book were inclusive of all performance data as well as financial figures and medical records. Asked what he learned through this project, the young man answered: "I learned how the chickens performed - the percentages of laying hens, costs, and so forth." He's convinced that good records are a good management tool.

A senior at Penn Manor High School, Breneman was coached by the school's ag department head, Gus Birchler. In addition to his achievements with poultry. Breneman has interests in Holstein dairy cattle, and has been involved in numerous activities. He is a past president and vice president of his FFA Chapter, and currently serves as treasurer.

The NEPPCO award he received Tuesday morning was presented to him by John Watkins, area FFA consultant from Ohio.

In two other divisions of youth competition, 4-H and FFA teams scored second-places. Pennsylvania's 4-H team consisted of a quartet from Beaver County which recently broke the state 4-H poultry judging record. Six 4-H poultry judging teams from six states were involved in the NEPPCO contest.

The second-place FFA poultry judging team consisted of three Ephrata High School students and one from Penn Manor. The Penn Manor student is 15-year old Paula Ortman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ortman, Washington Boro R1. Her work experience with poultry includes a few birds at home and helping with chicken catching duties for area poultrymen. The latter is an organized fund raising project of her FFA Chapter. In individual placings, Paula scored fifth.

Ephrata's trio, which rounded out the Pennsylvania team, consisted of Lamar Groff, Mark Weiler, and Hans Groff, who placed fourth, seventh, and tenth, respectively, on the individual scoring sheets.

Five FFA teams competed in the poultry judging contest, which tested students' knowledge in a variety of areas. Areas to be judged and tested included candling of eggs for interior quality, measuring broken out eggs for quality, giving oral reasons, and evaluating broilers.

The cost of the youth program put on by NEPPCO is partially funded by the students themselves, in part by NEPPCO, and with contributions from the following companies: Agway, Big Dutchman, Diamond International, Favorite Manufacturing, Fox Company, Hubbard Farms, Kuhl Corporation, Horace W. Longacre, Inc., Southern States Egg Service, and the USA branch of the World's Poultry Science Association.

Heinz

comments with humor, and was lavish with his praise for dairymen, their industry, and their cooperative. He noted several achievements which Inter-State was directly responsible for and extolled some virtues of milk in surprising fashions.

Federal milk price supports, said Heinz, provides the public with the cheapest form of health insurance he could think of. While milk and its pricing is not generally thought of that way, he noted that the annual expenditures for price supports amount to 3/8 of a cent per quart. This keeps the milk supply flowing to babies and other consumers. Unlike other commodities, there is no substitute for milk, he pointed out.

Senator John Heinz

The Pittsburgh politician, whose family made it big with pickles and ketchup, praised Inter-State for meeting the challenges of marketing. Two major incidents he mentioned were the energy crisis last Winter when a milk handler for Inter-State found his natural gas supplies shut off and Inter-State officials went to bat to get energy and avoid the dumping of milk. More recently, Inter-State has been finding outlets for surplus milk in faraway areas such as the Dakotas and Deep South.

While praising Inter-State for its efforts, Heinz was sharply critical of the Public Utilities Commission and other agencies which allowed energy shortages to take place. Agriculture is to receive top priority in cases of energy allotments, that did not happen last Winter when Dietrich's Dairy of Reading was cut short on gas supplies, charged Heinz. He pledged to work for assurances which would give agriculture top priority should energy curtailments be necessary in the future. Some predict such measures will be necessary even this Winter.

Heinz delivered his strongest criticism in regards to new ice cream standards, a battle which Inter-State and the National Milk Producers are heavily involved in. (See page 26 for a related story). Congratulating the dairy organizations for taking the U.S. Department of Health to court over the ice cream standards, Heinz snapped: "I'd like to see them (the dairy organizations) take the Health Department to jail."

Upset over the issue because it is unfair to both consumers and dairymen and because it doesn't make nutritional sense, Heinz was totally unequivocal about his stand. He left no doubt that he intends to fight U.S. agencies which are attempting to cheapen ice cream by lowering quality and filling them with artificial "chemical" additives. Such is the case, charges Heinz, with the support of dairy cooperatives. The senator considers the issue particularly ironic since the proposed substitute to be used is an imported substance called sodium caseinate. It's going to be brought into this country despite the fact that we have huge surpluses of milk as it is. What's more, it's not a pure dairy product, and as such goes against other proposals being made which encourage consumers to get back to natural foods – and healthier diets. (See page 104 for a current battle between federal agencies and the egg industry).

The proposed new ice cream standards are also going to be costly, Heinz informed the group. He estimates it will cost consumers $200 million annually if sodium caseinate is brought in to replace some dairy products in ice cream. The cost will be incurred due to taxpayers having to pick up the bill when the Commodity Credit Corporation buys up the additional surpluses of milk once this market for ice cream is closed. Heinz and Inter-State, among others, believe strongly that this outlet for milk production should be maintained not just for economic reasons, but for health and quality reasons as well. If not, Heinz says ice cream will end up tasting like a mixture of glue and air.

In other remarks, the senator praised Inter-State for displaying "great initiative and thorough professionalism in its decision to invest more than $8 million in a milk manufacturing plant near Carlisle. Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers of Baltimore, Md. are equal partners in the plant, known as Holly Milk, Cooperative, Inc. It is expected to be operational next May.

The new Farm Bill, as evaluated by Heinz, is outrageously costly. President Carter originally proposed a Farm Bill costing

At Inter-State banquet

Gartley credits member cooperation

Boyd Gartley

LANCASTER - "Cooperation is the simple means whereby everyone benefits more through the efforts of all", said Boyd C. Gartley, director of member and public relations Thursday, to attending delegates at Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative's annual meeting. "And all of you were cooperatively successful during the past year."

"You members have changed from 'going it alone' to effectively bargaining together," Gartley continued. "You have done this with the ability to make one sale for all milk; secure one price; elect one decision-making board of directors; collect and give money equally to all members; and vote together as 'one voice' away from the barn."

Gartley told the Inter-State members how legislators, educators, consumers and the news media were made aware of the hurdles they faced this past year.

"The Young Cooperator Consultant Committee has been, without a doubt, one of the highlights of your cooperative's awareness program," said Gartley. "It consists of a group of 15 couples whose enthusiasm and interest is unmatched by any other group I have seen."

Gartley also explained the areas of public and member relations in which the cooperative was involved this past year.

Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative has 2,800 dairy farmer members in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia. Annually, these dairymen market nearly 2 billion pounds of milk.

Ice Cream standards saved

IMPCO cites battle triumphs

LANCASTER -- "The strength of our cooperative has given us the resources to meet the many challenges which have faced us this past year," Lester C. Jones, president of Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative said Thursday.

Jones was addressing delegates representing 2,800 members of Inter-State at the co-op's 60th annual meeting.

The Food and Drug Administration proposed new standards for ice cream could have made ice cream a non-dairy product, said Jones.

"Only by the united efforts of dairy farmers has this scandal been averted," said Jones. "The fight is not over but we are in a good position."

Jones noted if the standards were put into effect, "the results could be devastating to the dairy farmers of America."

The New Jersey dairy farmer also referred to the most recent attack on the industry in the form of Dr. Frank Oski's book, "Don't Drink Your Milk." Jones noted that the National Dairy Council has countered the slanderous attack on the nutritional values of milk.

"These factual rebuttals, however, have not been given the same banner headline treatment that the attacks have received," said Jones.

Jones noted the huge milk surplus created numerous problems. He noted demand was up one per cent but production was up seven per cent.

Inter-State, like many cooperatives, attributed huge losses as a result of their surplus condition, he noted.

"But despite our marketing losses," he said, "Inter-State was still able to reach its goal of $500,000 net savings last year."

Jones credited Inter-State's strength not only to its financial status, but also to its management, membership and board.

"Inter-State is moving ahead in its service to members," concluded Jones.

Lester Jones

Inter-State claims 'comfortable' position

LANCASTER - The general manager of Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative commended its 2,800 members for putting them in a "comfortable" position to face the dairy co-op's sixth decade of operation.

Dr. James E. Honan told the members at Inter-State's 60th annual meeting that this participation in making unanimous decisions "has been the groundwork for Inter-State's success."

He noted some of the most important decisions made this past year were regarding the price at which milk was sold and insuring that all milk was sold.

"Price is one part of your income," Dr. Honan noted. "Selling your milk on a regular basis is the other part."

Aside from a full slate of participation in federal and state hearings to maintain fair prices for the dairy farmer, Inter-State has had a challenging year marketing a huge surplus of milk.

"Perhaps Inter-State's biggest decision yet is presently in the works in the form of Holly Milk Cooperative," noted Dr. Honan. "Your staff feels extremely comfortable with the fact our Holly Milk plant will be on the line in 1978."

It's expected the $8.2 million powder-butter plant under construction in Cumberland County, Pa. will ease the anticipated surplus milk burdens. The plant, being built jointly with Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, is expected to be operating by May 1, 1978.

"Much of Inter-State's strength is premised upon our financial position," said Dr. Honan.

Contributing to this strength, he said, was Inter-State's fortunate decision a little more than a year ago to purchase QC, Inc., a Southampton, Pa. - based quality testing laboratory. The wholly-owned subsidiary proved much more successful than anticipated, contributing to Inter-State's overall successful year.

"Inter-State has the staff, the members and the milk," said Dr. Honan. "We must continue to strengthen our member relations, to maintain the board and the staff in a position to continue good business decisions."

Dr. James E. Honan

"We must continue to pay strong attention and give priority to the continued growth of Inter-State," Dr. Honan concluded.

$500,000 saved annually

Financial strength is key to Inter-State's success

LANCASTER -- The financial strength of Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative has enabled the co-op to grow in a year which has placed unprecendented burdens on the dairy industry of the Northeast.

Robert M. Dever, Inter-State's treasurer, revealed the financial position of the co-op's 60th year Thursday before delegates representing the 2,800 members at the annual meeting held at the Host Farm Resort, here.

Dever noted that surplus milk marketing conditions placed extreme hardships on cooperatives throughout the Northeast. Inter-State, he reported, has expended considerable sums in unexpected, above-normal marketing costs thus far this year.

He credited the decisions of Inter-State's board establishing a goal of $500,000 net savings each year for preserving the cooperative's financial strength. Inter-State achieved this goal this past year.

Two months into Inter-State's last fiscal year, the purchase of QC, Inc., a complete analytical laboratory, was completed.

"It's after-tax income exceeded in a 10-month period," said Dever, "all of the economic downturn could even wind up as a depression. It may come as early as this week, or during the first half of 1978.

As Sindlinger sees the economic issues, a recession is inevitable. The only question remaining is when. And the 'when' is largely up to two men – namely President Carter and Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve System. There's a power struggle going on between the two men right now. All told, just 12 men control this nation's economy.

Sindlinger sees the events of the near future as being very critical to the economic outlook. His viewpoints are highly respected by financial experts and he is a frequent visitor to high government offices in Washington and news studios of major networks and publishers. suggested and needed non-agricultural uses, breaking these down onto intensive areas where even small scale development could take place within a farming region.

Secondly, the legislature should serve notice unto all investors and developers by act of legislation that no public funds of any sort will be used to serve public needs brought on by additional development in agricultural zones. This could be by curtailment of highway funds, sewerage development funds and funds for public school facilities. Further, any prospective purchaser of land or property in these zones should be made aware of these conditions before any sale can be consumated.

Thirdly, in order to establish an orderly development pattern, all forms of state and federal assistance funds should be channeled toward establishing improved highway systems, new industry, public parklands, recreational facilities and waste treatment systems in areas which would not be predominately good agricultural land and designated for residential and industrial use.

I could go on and elaborate on these suggestions, yet it should not require a vivid imagination to conceive the potential. Truly this would be a slow process, but also an effective method to solve a sticky problem. Surely there would be some cost involved, costs which the public should be willing to bear for a mutual benefit in the end result.

Certainly, this method would be less costly and much more equitable than the sale and purchase of development rights which in my humble opinion, is the most inequitable manner ever suggested and by far the most expensive for the public to bear.

Once having been an elected public official, it was then and is now my firm belief that it is often far better to govern by initiative and example in direction of growth rather than by ramrod legislation.

I think for the greater part, most of us agree that we must preserve the remaining agricultural land if we as a nation are to exist in peace. The problem seems to be in finding a method acceptable to the greatest number of people both in and out of agriculture. The sooner we put aside our personal desires for windfall gains, be we farmers, investors, or developers, the sooner we will agree upon the means. What we do now, or fail to do, we will do unto our yet unborn grandchildren. Think about it!

Our forefathers built this great nation for us. Let us preserve it to our posterity. This means agricultural land preservation, now!

Base and surplus milk scored

Editor Lancaster Farming:

Your Lancaster Farming-newspaper is enjoyable.

But I get sick and tired of farm paper eidtors, county agents, and co-op managers flapping their jaws about surplus milk. That is what the government, the dairies, and co-op managers want.

A quick and easy solution whick should have been in effect for years is:

1. No new averages or bases, and why should I ship surplus milk if I don't want to. I am still milking the same amount of cows I did 18 years ago. I own and operate four farms and we only have cows on this one farm. Two of the farms had dairies on them which moved away when we purchased them.

2. Co-op managers' salaries based on results of Class I sales and no business losses like MCMP have had in the past. Why should I pay top brokerage to get rid of Class II milk?

I am not blind to what's going on, but I know of a cooperative official whose operation is four times bigger now than it was five years ago. Big white buildings – a tremendous outfit. They're going to milk close to 1000 head. Then his wife is going around to-complain about the price of milk. There area lot of dairy farmers till milking the same number of cows as they did 20 years ago.

It is unfair to them to have to make a new base every year and ship Class II milk.

As long as you have managers who see how hoggiest they can be and want new bases every year, the whole thing is wrong.

Farmers not blamed enough

Editor, Lancaster Farming:

Your Nov. 5 editorial on preserving good farmland fails to put enough blame on farmers. Tough zoning laws could prevent development of good farmland. However, farmers are traditionally opposed to any regulations on their right to use their land as they see fit.

In order to preserve good farmland, farmers will have to give up their right to sell good farmland for non-agricultural use. You can't have your cake and eat it too.

Farmers should spend more time in local government offices. Elected offices tend to be filled by the less competent. Recently, a very competent farmer resigned as a local township supervisor. If you are going to complain about government, get involved. In order to preserve good farmland, you need:

1. Taxes based on agricultural use.
2. Freedom from condemnation.
3. Freedom from assessments for water and sewage.
4. Freedom from competition from non-farm use.

The general public is willing to give farmers the first three. These breaks will cost non-farmers something. In return for their breaks to farmers by non-farmers, I feel farmers should be willing to give up the right to sell land for non-farming purposes.

Development can take place on areas other than good farmland. Around here many homes are built in wooded areas. Land is available in some of our cities.

Our current food surplus will soon disappear. Ruining farmland is a crime.

Sincerely,
R.W. Wright
Elliottsburg

Lancaster Laboratories re-elects board

LANCASTER – The annual meeting of the board of directors of Lancaster Laboratories, Inc., was held November 11 at the company's plant at 2425 New Holland Pike. The principal officers of the corporation were unanimously re-elected by the board for another 12 month term.

Dr. Earl H. Hess, president, reported an 18 per cent increase in sales over the previous year, continuing the 18 to 25 per cent annual growth rate of the past five years. Hess attributed the growth to increasing technical challenges in society, such as increased government regulation at all levels, the rise of consumerism, new methods of agriculture and food processing, all of which require the services of an independent laboratory for testing, research, and development.

Greater business activity has required a 25 per cent increase in staff over the past year, and a 2500 square foot addition of laboratory space, which is currently being completed. In addition, significant investment in sophisticated laboratory equipment has been required to meet the challenge of new, faster, and more accurate services to the agricultural and industrial community.

After the board meeting a banquet was held at the Bird-In-Hand Restaurant for board members, employees, and their spouses, totaling 65 persons. The evening program consisted of a slide talk by Dr. Christoph Grundmann, noted scientist, lecturer, and member of the board. Dr. Grundmann's speech was titled "A German-American Looks at the Old Country and the New," and concerned the differences in the lifestyles, outlook, and cultural backgrounds of the two countries.

Wheat farmers get $1.2 billion, ASCS will mail checks next month

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said last week an estimated $1.2 billion in 1977 crop deficiency payments will be paid to U.S. wheat producers.

Payment checks will be issued through the county ASCS offices beginning Dec. 1 through Dec. 15, he said.

Secretary Bergland estimates payments will be 65 cents per bushel for wheat planted within the allotment acres established for the farm on an historical basis. If the full allotment was not planted, 22 cents per bushel will be paid for the balance.

Secretary Bergland pointed out that the new farm legislation provides a distinct advantage over the old programs in that payments next year will be based on acres planted by the farmer and not on an arbitrary historical allotment for each farmer.

The deficiency payment rate is calculated on the difference between the established price of wheat and the higher of either the national average loan rate of $2.25 a bushel or the national weighted average market price received by farmers from June through October.

Under the new farm act, Mr. Bergland noted, deficiency payments for the 1977 wheat crop are computed in two steps: multiplying the appropriate payment rate by the planted or underplanted wheat acres by the projected yield established for each farm.

"Based on this formula, we have arrived at the $1.2 billion figure for total deficiency payments," Bergland said.

Following is a selected breakdown of estimated wheat deficiency payments for 1977:

State	Allotment	Planted	Program Yield	Estimated Def. Pymt. (Mil$)	Estimated Payees -1,000-
Kansas	12,265,209	13,200,000	34.6	255.3	236

the estimates we had hoped for in 12 months."

The co-op treasurer also noted that Inter-State's single biggest investment in history was made this past year with the forming of Holly Milk Cooperative, a joint venture with Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers. May 1978 is the anticipated completion date for the $8.2 million surplus milk manufacturing facility.

Looking at the future, Dever noted Inter-State should double its net worth within five years.

Dever noted Inter-State's existing financial strength and even more promising future gives the farmer-owner producing milk on the farm the needed security for his continued growth.

"Ten years ago, 3,300 Inter-State members received approximately $70 million in dairy related income," said Dever. Last year, 2,800 members received almost $200 million.

No significant change seen in dairy future

Dr. Paul Hand

LANCASTER — Dairymen in 1978 will see only slight improvement in the price they receive for their milk, noted Dr. Paul E. Hand, economist and assistant general manager for Inter-State Milk Producer's Cooperative.

Dr. Hand, in his address before delegates of the 2,800 member marketing cooperative, predicted most of the improvement over 1977 prices will be in the first three months of 1978.

The nationally-acclaimed dairy economist credited excess cheese production as the principal factor preventing the Class II milk price from reaching the support level. He noted that as long as excess inventories of cheese exist, it is doubtful manufactured milk prices will rise to support levels for any extended period.

Dr. Hand told the dairymen that after more than 10 years of rising base and Class prices, the upward trend stopped in 1977. He credited the halt to increased production.

"While Class I sales in total have shown very little change in the last 12 months," said Dr. Hand, "increase in production has resulted in substantial decline in Class I utilization.

"1977," he noted, "will be the first year Class I utilization will average below 60 percent in Federal Order 4."

The economist noted Inter-State along with Pennmarva Dairymen's Federation, has adopted a position in support of the continued use of the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series in a U.S. Department of Agriculture hearing which convened in Philadelphia on Oct. 4. He said they also opposed a proposed Class I price bracketing system.

He voiced considerable concern for a Federal Order 2 decision which will lower prices to dairymen in the Northeast. The court denied Pennmarva's temporary injunction request but agreed to hear arguments on the merits of the case at a Dec. 15 hearing.

In response, Pennmarva has recommended the Order 4 Class I price be reduced 10 cents per hundredweight to prevent an even greater decrease in the Order 4 blend price resulting from lost Order 4 sales.

Dr. Hand noted problems in handling excess milk will continue to plague the Northeast. He also noted Inter-State will have difficulty in marketing the excess, particularly during upcoming holiday periods, until the Holly Milk Co-op butter-powder plant is completed.

The $8.2 million plant is presently under construction in Cumberland County, Pa. Inter-State and Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers are jointly financing the facility capable of receiving 2 million pounds of milk daily. Completion is anticipated about May 1.

Craig wins nat. award

NORRISTOWN — Jeff Craig, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Litchert, 549 Old State Road, Royersford, as been selected as National 4-H Teenager Achiever.

Word of this honor was received from Dallas, Tex. where the national headquarters for Miss Teenage America will telecast the 1978 pageant on Friday evening, November 25.

Jeff Craig

Jeff, who will also attend National 4-H Congress in Chicago following the telecast as a state winner in the achievement category, was completely caught off guard when notified by the Pennsylvania State University's 4-H office.

Correspondence by the Miss Teenage America staff said that until this year only women were recognized for outstanding achievement. However, expansion of the program will now honor young men and special teenage groups who have earned the distinction of outstanding accomplishments.

"The entire Extension staff," said Paul Reber, county agent, "is extremely proud of Jeff who will represent millions of 4-H members at this event. As a Teenage Achiever, Jeff will be awarded a $1000 scholarship to the college of his choice."

Reber pointed out that the national telecast can be seen on NBC from 9 p.m. to 11:00 p.m., November 25.

In recent trials... Seven veal feeding programs were compared... and you've got the winner!

In total gains, rate of gain and conversion rate, one program stood out above all others. That's the one on which new Agway Veal Pre-Starter, Starter, and Finisher are based.

The group on the winning program started at an initial average weight of 111.1 lbs. And finished at 349.00 lbs. An average gain of 237.9 lbs. With a feed conversion rate of 1.66 pounds of feed per pound of gain.

New Agway Veal Pre-Starter, Starter and Finisher are made from top quality products. From top quality protein, 100% derived from milk products. From 100% animal fat. Because Agway knows that protein quality and fat source are where performance is. As the trials showed . . . quality pays off. Every time.

Every veal grower knows that prime veal depends on the quality and vigor of the calves, on proper housing, feeding management and sanitation. Do all of them right, and the new line-up of Agway Veal Feeds can do a superior job for you.

A THANKSGIVING MESSAGE WE HOPE PEOPLE REMEMBER

"Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man.

DANIEL WEBSTER

With the prospect of hunger facing millions in the world today our Thanksgiving mealtime will be a perfect time to remember the men and women who work long and hard to provide America with its food supply. Our farmers and their families are the envy of the world when it comes to food production. If you've forgotten how important farming is in America, take a look at your Thanksgiving table.

nion Research Company, Sindlinger has never missed on a prediction for the stock market. On one recent occasion, for example, he advised White House aides to make a certain announcement, and promised them that the stock market would jump 10 points as a result of it.

"I was wrong," Sindlinger told his attentive audience at the Host Farm. "The stock market jumped 14 points," he added triumphantly. A financial whiz in his own right, Sindlinger forecasts a gloomy economic outlook due to the government's misunderstanding of financial figures and meanings. Also, the news media often misinterprets statistics. Interest rates, for example, are often adjusted without real justification for it.

The knowledgeable financial analyst makes no attempt to hide his disappointments with leaders in Washington. He has had meetings with every recent president and is overwhelmingly disappointed with their lack of understanding. He scores Jimmy Carter as the lowest rating president of all, when it comes to financial dealings.

The agricultural implications of his outlook are that it is commonly thought that farm commodities will be among the first to "go down the tube" if and when a recession hits.

Sindlinger is of the opinion that the only accurate financial figures which mean anything at all in relation to this country's economy are those coming from the stock market. A reflection of overall business activity and confidence, the stock market is a real measure of economic health. Sindlinger contends that if the men in Washington would simply understand that, then economic woes could be overcome.

But the opinion researcher is quick to add that we're in too deep trouble now to solve our problems without pain. The usual way to solve such messes throughout history was war. Sindlinger believes that mankind is too smart now to settle national monetary problems with open conflicts. Instead, the likely way will have to come through collapses here and there in the world-wide economic system.

One of the few methods Sindlinger sees as a cure – aside from a reawakening in Washington – is that budgets be cut across the board. Deficit spending will have to be stopped. Also confidence in the system will have to be re-generated.

Following his presentation, several dozen NEPPCO conventioners conversed with Sindlinger, showing profound interest in his outlook and opinions.

The NEPPCO conference was the last ever, since the organization will become a part of the Poultry and Egg Institute of America as of Jan. 2, 1978.

Poultry prod. above 1976

HARRISBURG – Poultry production in Pennsylvania continued at levels above 1976 production during the week ending November 5, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service.

Placements of broiler chicks in the Commonwealth were 1,793,000, four per cent below the previous week, but 12 per cent above the corresponding week a year earlier.

Average placement of broiler chicks during the past 10 weeks were nine per cent above the same period a year ago.

In the 21 key poultry producing states, broiler placements for the week were 58,528,000. The placements were four per cent below the previous week, but eight per cent above the same week in 1976.

Average placements in the 21 states during the past 10 weeks were six per cent above a year ago.

Broiler-fryers slaughtered in Pennsylvania under federal inspection during the week ending October 26 were 1,756,000.

is everybody's business", an article "Dairymen's lack of concern blamed in part for surplus milk dilemma", and finally an ad on page 88 by Agri-King presenting congratulations and awards for high milk production are conflicting and difficult to understand!

First off we have proven we can over-produce ourselves in to the poor house with what land we have! Preserve ag land? What for? Use it for jobs, since all the do-gooders and keepers of the world will see that cheap food prevails and the farmer loses on all ends!

We pay dues to co-ops and if not a co-op member we pay dues to Federal Order 4 in our area. We advertise and still are stuck with overproduction of milk! Come on now, someone is not [illegible] their job or jobs, and [illegible] ner is taking it in the [illegible], and I mean a big hole in the pocket!

Save Land, Overproduction is the farmers fault, and then present awards for high milk production all in the same issue!

Perhaps I am stupid, for I do not see anyone really concerned enough to demand an opening of exports with the farmer benefiting, nor do I hear of anyone fired from the job of a co-op worker for a job very poorly done in the promotion of dairy products!

I'm sure someone of your subscribers has an answer, usually everyone has an answer to the farmers problems, from saving land to overproduction, which all boils down to the farmer! Wouldn't it be great if we could strike for 365 days and be paid for it?

I am a distraught farm wife, and farmer!

Sincerely,
Joan C. Byerly

find out, vo-ag instructors Bob Woods and Cliff Day asked their students to summarize highlights of each day.

"I was fortunate enough to participate in the milk quality and dairy foods contest. There were 93 members in my contest, which was held at the downtown Holiday Inn. I found the contest both exciting and a challenge.

"Pennsylvania's team consisted of Ron Good and Barry Herman, both from Ephrata, and myself. Ron received a silver medal; Barry and I each a bronze medal for individual competition. Our team earned a silver plaque. Mr. Donald Chattin from Philadelphia was the team's coach.

"At Kansas City I had the pleasure to see a championship rodeo held in the Kemper Livestock Arena. There was plenty of fun and excitement. To entertain us, country music star Crystal Gayle highlighted the rodeo with her beauty and talent."

Maxine's twin sister, Eileen, was impressed with the American Royal, which she decribes as "a very complete livestock exhibition with beef, swine, sheep and horses." In addition, the New Holland student noted listening to "four well-written speeches" which were a part of the National FFA Public Speaking Contest.

Craig Sheaffer summarized a day's activities prior to the group's arrival in Kansas City. The highlight of that day, writes Sheaffer, was a trip to Lincoln's New Salem State Park. "Here, in this 19th Century village of log houses, barns, cabins and other miscellaneous buildings, is where President Lincoln spent a good part of his early life," Sheaffer reported.

Another highlight, according to Sheaffer, was crossing the Mississippi River, and inspecting a grain-laden barge at Hannibal, a town which is almost synonimous with Mark Twain. Naturally, there's a museum there which bears his name, and the Grassland FFA Chapter took the opportunity to visit.

"We drove then to the Linton Charolais Ranch," Sheaffer continued, "and after a tour of the LCR, we got back on the road towards John Campbell's farm at Cowgill, Mo."

John Campbell is a former Garden Spot FFA'er, and a 1964 Keystone Farmer who presently farms 800 acres of soybeans, milo and corn. He's one of several farmers from the Garden Spot to migrate westward. Another former Lancaster Countian who hosted the group is Isaac Hoover. Coming to Missouri from Bowmansville, Hoover now operates a dairy farm near Versailles.

Other highlights of the trip (other than convention activities themselves) were a visit to the Air Force Museum near Dayton, Ohio; the Truman Library, the Kansas City Royals-Chiefs stadium, the Indianapolis Speedway, the Agriculture Hall of Fame, the Kansas City Municipal Building, the Hereford Association headquarters, and the famous Gateway Arch in St. Louis.

$2.3 billion, and that was thought of as a give-away, said Heinz. The final costs are expected to be around $6.5 billion, he revealed.

In concluding remarks, the senator assured the dairymen that Congress is not about to attack cooperatives. Despite some criticisms which have been leveled against them as a result of "a few bad apples," Congress appreciates what the cooperative way of business is doing for American agriculture and the consumer, Heinz said.

School taxes may shift

CAMP HILL — State Senator Henry Hager, the Republican floor leader, addressed leaders of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) during a breakfast session Monday at the Penn Harris Motor Inn, here.

Senator Hager discussed two items of interest to agriculture: one is a legislative proposal to shift school taxes from real estate to income taxes over a four year period. Senator Hager said, "The plan would ease tax problems for the elderly on fixed incomes and low income families who own or want to buy a home."

The second issue is House Bill 111, currently in the Senate Appropriations Committee, which prevents prime farm land from being taken for highways and waste disposal areas when feasible alternatives exist.

PFA president says farmers are over-regulated

CAMP HILL - Farming has become more than just a way of life. It's a business and more than 900 farmers were here this week to take care of the business end of farming.

The 27th annual meeting and convention of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) was held here at the Penn Harris Motor Inn, starting last Sunday and closing Wednesday with the adoption of policy positions and elections of officers. The general farm organization has 21,723 family members.

"Farmers are not able to just stay at home and farm," says PFA president Eugene Thompson, an Indiana County dairyman. "Too many things outside the realm of the farm affect the ways and means by which the farmer produces food and fiber for the consumer."

The farm leader said that one of the major issues that seems to be surfacing in the policy development sessions is government regulations. "What we should call it is over-regulation," Thompson said.

"One suggestion is putting the U.S. Congress and the Pennsylvania General Assembly back in control of agency regulations," he remarked.

"Too often laws are passed by a legislative body and forgotten while some government agency outlines the rules for administering the law.

"These rules, or regulations seem to go way beyond the intentions of the lawmakers, who approved the law in the first place. We would like to see more legislative control over the regulatory process. A review of all regulations every four or five years might be in order.

Thompson contends there is too much "ivory tower" syndrome in governmental agencies today. "It's to sit in an office arriving at a solution to a problem," he explained," but too often the solution has a tendency to create impossible circumstances for the farmer."

"The food industry, in my opinion, is under attack. Farmers are for necessary regulations to protect the well-being of the consumers," he said. "But regulations have gone too far and don't really make a lot of sense."

The farm leader said the saccharin issue is a good example. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) ruled that saccharin could cause cancer in humans, based on laboratory tests on mice. FDA said that as soon as the supplies in the store were exhausted it could not be sold anymore.

"But then they said: 'Yes you can' after political pressures were applied," Thompson stated. "But look how absurd the situation really is. First, FDA ruled it could cause cancer, but at the same time they said you could continue to sell what saccharin the grocer had on the shelf.

"That's the same as saying you can continue to sell a cancer causing agent, but on a certain date you can't do it any longer. What really happened was the fact that FDA could not back up its charges against saccharin.

"The way things are going today," Thompson said, "you will soon be able to buy marijuana off the grocery shelf, but will be forced to purchase saccharin from a pusher."

A traditional Vesper Service started the convention with a sermon by the Rev. Delbert E. Jolley, pastor of the Grace United Methodist Church, Indiana.

PFA supply arm registers sales of of $1.6 million

CAMP HILL - The PFA Supply Division of the Members' Service Corporation had total sales topping the million figure for the sixth consecutive year for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1977, it was announced Tuesday by Charles H. Mohn, division manager, at the corporation's annual business meeting here at the Penn Harris Motor Inn.

The PFA Members' Service Corporation is a business affiliate of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA.) The corporation provides business services to association members. They Supply Division handles tires, batteries, twine and other products used by farmers.

Total sales of the Supply Division reached $1,636,397.00 in 1977. There are 125 dealers across the state to service the program. The division moved 56,052 pieces of merchandise in fiscal year 1976-77.

Several new products were introduced by the division this year in its supply purchasing program.

An estimated 700 members of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association joined in the 27th annual meeting this week to consider policies and discuss trends. President Eugene Thompson announced that the organization now has 21,723 family members.

Farm group sets membership record

CAMP HILL - The Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) broke its record high membership with 21,723 family members, according to PFA President Eugene Thompson. He made the announcement in his report to the PFA voting delegates, attending a four-day convention here at the Penn Harris Motor Inn.

Thompson, an Indiana County dairyman, said the previous record was 20,313 family members.

"Farmers are joining PFA because they know that they must act as a group if they expect to be effective in government work," he said.

PFA is a general farm organization with 53 county units. It is also affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Thompson reported to the delegates that legislative activities in the Pennsylvania General Assembly have been devoted to budgetary efforts.

PFA's legislative efforts, according to Thompson, have been directed to three major areas: (1) working for fiscal responsibility through the leadership of both political parties; (2) assuring fair and adequate financing for all phases of state government, especially agricultural endeavors; and (3) reforming the budgetary process to eliminate future crisis.

"Reforming the budgetary process," Thompson told the delegates, "is vital to good government in Pennsylvania. We (PFA) presently support a proposal that would maintain funding at last year's level until a new budget is approved. This would remove the tremendous pressures placed on General Assembly members, who truly support fiscal responsibility."

The state farm leader predicted that once the budget question is solved, "you can expect a flurry of legislative activities by both parties in an attempt to catch up."

Grassland travelers recall highs of K.C. trip

By DIETER KRIEG

NEW HOLLAND -- "Everyone who attended the Kansas City Convention at its 50th year had a great time and I'm proud to have been a part of the celebration," says Maxine Messner in a review of the recent trip.

The Grassland FFA Chapter, of which Maxine is a member, was represented at the Golden Anniversary of the FFA with 12 students from the eastern Lancaster County area. Leaving Garden Spot High School at 6 a.m. on Nov. 5, the group spent nine days away from the usual activities at home and in school.

What did they think of their trip to Kansas City? To

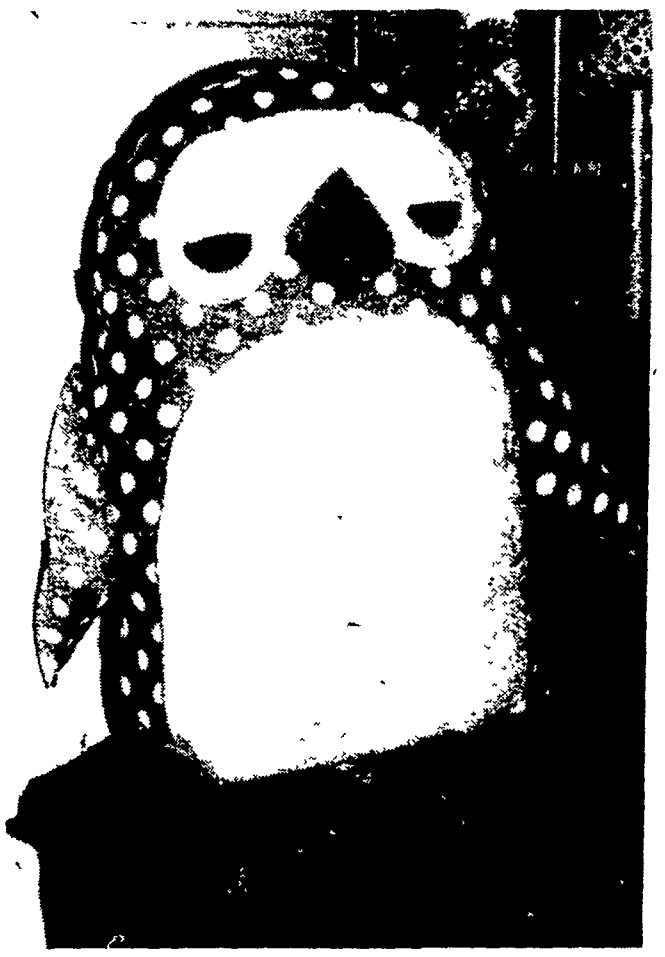
Recycling is their business



A stuffed owl is just one charming example of the stuffed dolls and animals which come to the Mennonite Central Committee for sale from the craftsmen of eastern Kentucky.

By SALLY BAIR
Feature Writer

Recycling is a popular word these days, but hardly an unfamiliar concept among the Pennsylvania Dutch folk in this area. There isn't a family around that hasn't recycled clothing regularly, passing items from one child to the next in the family or among close friends.

The Re-Uzit Shop at 50 E. Main Street in Mount Joy has made a business of recycling, and the community is the beneficiary. The Shop, sponsored by the Mennonite Central Committee, specializes in used clothing and household items, and for a small sum you can find almost anything you need, from anklets to zebras.

Verna Brandt, manager of the Re-Uzit Shop, explains the store this way, "It gives people an opportunity to unload things they don't want and allows them to buy things at a lower cost." Proceeds are donated to the MCC which uses the money for overseas work and relief work in this country.

After a July opening, "We have been swamped with donations - people have donated anything and everything. We do have to turn down furniture, because we have no place to store it.

"We look at it as a community service - and it is not just for lower income people," Verna said. "You can buy good things at very reasonable prices."

The most important aspect of the store is its good used clothing. "We do ask for it to be cleaned before it is donated, but occasionally some of us do wash items. We get a lot of nice clothes. We sort everything given to us and we keep those items which we feel will be of use to somebody. A few things which are not usable, we discard," Verna said.

The group also regularly donates to the Salvation Army, the American Mission to Greece, and the Bowery Mission in New York City. Verna explained that they try to send usable items along with some less desirable ones so that the agencies will be willing to collect.

One large part of the store's inventory consists of self-help items purchased from the Mennonite Central Committee. Verna explained, "These are purchased from many countries with the MCC paying the craftsmen a living wage in that country." This form of help is particularly useful and better than just sending clothing, Verna explained, because clothing styles and needs are different. "The craftsmen receive a small wage, so we don't need to charge a lot for the items."

Indeed most of the gifts featured in the store are very reasonably priced, and the variety is as great as any conventional gift shop. There is exquisitely carved jewelry, carved wooden animals and puzzles, baskets and woven items, hanging plant holders and the largest array of really unusual stuffed dolls and animals imaginable.

Verna said, "We select things from MCC's stock, and try to get items which will move. It was difficult at first, but now we have some idea of what will sell."

The store is completely staffed by volunteers, with 85 to 90 on the roster to help regularly. Verna explained that there is a minimum of two on duty at any one time, and usually three or four are at work. "Several will be sorting and pricing and hanging items up, and one must be at the cash register."

Verna is very proud of her volunteers, and said, "Some work a few hours, some work one day a month and some work one day a week." Volunteers are welcome on whatever schedule is convenient to them. A volunteer coordinator does the scheduling to ensure that someone is on duty to keep the store open during its regular business hours of 9 a.m to 5 p.m. daily. Fridays it is open from 9 a.m. - 9 p.m. p.m.

Verna sees the Re-Uzit shop as a service for the volunteers. "They can work when they want to and how much they want to. It gives them an outlet they wouldn't otherwise have. They meet other people, and it gets them out of the house. It is good for them to have a break from routine, and be doing something worthwhile too."

She said conversation in the sorting room ranges from canning and freezing to other lively topics, with many women being from the farming community. While women sort the donations, they also have a sewing machine on hand for minor repairs and an ironing board to spruce up some things.

When a volunteer reports for the first time, Verna said, "I put her under someone's wing for the day. This has worked out pretty well. The first thing they are asked to do is just look around the store and get an idea of the items and their prices." She explained that as volunteers get familiar with the operation, they are given more responsibility. Volunteers, for instance, do all the pricing of the items, following a printed sheet of suggested guidelines. A pricing committee oversees the setting of prices, but Verna said there is often a wide variety of ideas on what an item should cost.

Verna herself is an unpaid volunteer which she explains by saying, "I'm not interested in being a paid manager." She retired two years ago as a nurse and in her "retirement" she doesn't want to feel completely tied down. She said, "In the first few months I spent a lot of time over at the store. Now I'm in a few hours in the morning." Her job is mostly coordinating, and she feels she has very qualified volunteers to keep things going smoothly.

"I enjoy the work - but you have to know your limits. Working with the volunteers is an education in interpersonal relationships," she says with a laugh.

She claims to have no background which would qualify her for the job. "They drafted me and talked me into it." As she reflects, she acknowledges, "I had a business course one time and I worked for an optometrist for a few years and did some office work. As a nurse, you need to learn to organize pretty well. If you don't keep order, you're sunk."

Verna retired from the Elizabethtown Children's Hospital after 27 years as a nurse. Part of her working career was spent at the Children's Rehabilitation Institute in Maryland, a school for children afflicted with Cerebral Palsy which is now part of the John F. Kennedy Institute at John Hopkins.

"I enjoyed working with children. They are much easier to care for than Carved animals make up a large portion of the self-help items in the Re-Uzi Shop in Mount Joy. Verna Brandt points out some of the animals from th Philippines and from Israel.

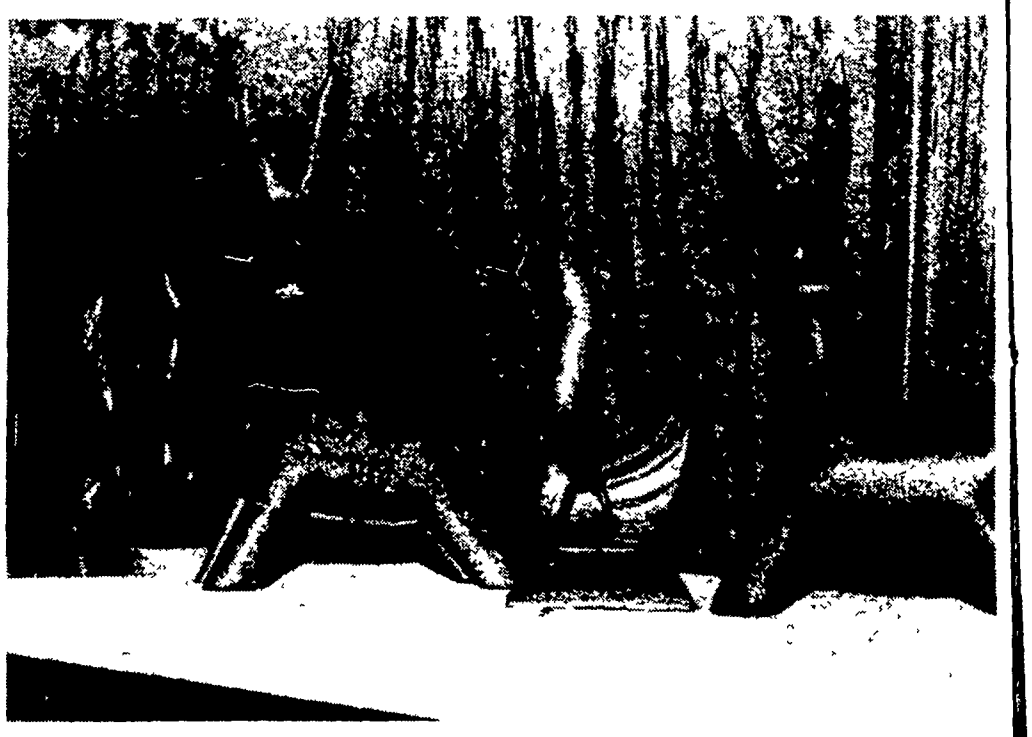
Volunteer Anna Mary Newcomer, Mount Joy R3, is hard at work sorting men's trousers by waist measurement. Anna Mary spends one day a week in the shop.



These intricately carved animals were created by craftsmen in the Philippines.

Kendy's Kollumn

by Kendace Borry

The paper says write,
So here I sit,
Pen in my hand,
Mind in a fit.

I tickle my ear;
I wrinkle my head;
I look all around;
I long for my bed!

My mind is a blank;
My heart's over there;
I read what I wrote;
It's too much to dare.

The paper says write,
So writing I do,
This poem is my column,
Written for you!

Weaver scores high with corn

EAST EARL – Raymond Weaver, East Earl, has placed high in the local Project: 200 corn growing program with a corn yield of 173.2 bushel per acre.

Weaver used Funk's G-4520 in his high yielding plot. He used Atrazine and Lasso for weed control. The crop was planted on May 7 in 36-inch rows at 27,000 plants per acre. The yield was adjusted to 15.5 per cent moisture.

Project: 200 is sponsored annually by the producers of Funk's G-Hybrids and is the largest corn growing program of its kind in the nation.

adults, because they have a healthier outlook regarding their illness. I found it very satisfying. I never married or had children of my own, but I had a 'raft' of other children. During those years I didn't have time to do volunteer work."

A wide variety of interests keeps Verna well occupied. Her living room window at 211 North Frederick Street, Mount Joy, overflows with plants, which she inherited from her mother when she died. "Plants were my mother's hobby and the last few years of her life I helped care for them." She said she is making two crotcheted afghans and enjoys knitting and playing the piano. Showing how much music means to her she sings with the Mount Joy Community Chorus. She is active in the Erisman Mennonite Church and works with her Bishop's wife once a month on a clothing sale in Lancaster's lower income district.

A graduate of Eastern Mennonite College in Virginia and St. Joseph's Hospital's School of Nursing, Verna said she loves to travel. Last year she journeyed to Africa and had an opportunity to visit students who had attended EMC. In the Spring of this year she went to Israel.

"I enjoy being with people, which I guess dates back to being an only child. I was never shy. I started way back at my grandaddy's blacksmith shop where I met a lot of people." Verna calls herself a "Pennsylvania Dutchman of the first degree. I can speak Dutch, which stood me in good stead when I would get Amish children for patients." She was the only child of Ferris and Katy Brandt and said her grandparents who lived with them spoke Pennsylvania German.

Although she modestly takes little credit, Verna's enthusiasm and hard work are a large part of the success of the Re-Uzit Shop. 'We've come a long way in getting organized since July," she says. Now committee members take charge of different departments within the store, freeing Verna of much responsibility. The executive committee consists of Mrs. Mildred Steffy, East Petersburg, president, who also helped organize a similar shop in New Holland; Mrs. Blanche Hershey, vice-president and volunteer coordinator; Mrs. Raymond Charles, secretary; and Ruth Shenk, treasurer.

The Re-Uzit Shop is a community effort - from the donors, to the volunteers to the patrons. Donations are welcomed from anyone and can be dropped off at the store during business hours.

With Winter weather here and the holidays coming up perhaps the Re-Uzit Shop has someing to offer your family.

ABOUT ENERGY SAVING IN THE LAUNDRY AND IN THE KITCHEN

Prevention is always easier than the cure. If you buy your laundry and kitchen appliances wisely you can ward-off some of the energy problems.

What to look for ? A new washing machine uses 32-45 gallons of water per load . . . . some models use less water. Some models have a "float fill" that provides a more accurate control of the amount of water used than "time" fill. Water level controls are useful to adjust the water to the type of load you are washing. Some models offer "suds saver" that saves wash water for later loads. You might consider avoiding new clothes purchases if the clothing requires special washing and handling.

Plan your menu and your meal . . . and also the way you'll serve it. Cut down on the number of utensils used in preparing food . . . and on the plates and glassware used with the meal to save on dishwashing.

Do small kitchen jobs as they occur to prevent larger jobs – for example, wipe up small spills immediately to avoid frequent mopping of floors. Vacuum carpets and rugs so you won't need to shampoo them too often. Take care to clean spots when they happen.

To get warm water (for food preparation) turn hot water on first; then add cold water as needed. You get warm water more quickly this way and save on water.

Cook foods over low heat in pans with tightly fitted lids to reduce evaporation of liquid.

You can reduce the use of your garage disposal (which uses two gallons of water per minute). One way may be to peel vegetables, eggs and other foods on newspapers–wrap and dispose. Better yet–make a compost pile. Even little ideas can save!

PLASTIC WRAP AND MICRO-WAVE.. THE PERFECT PAIR!

Microwave ovens, in widespread use for about 10 years, are becoming the fastest selling cooking appliance in the nation. Because of the speed and convenience achieved with microwave ovens, cooking habits are also changing. Favorite family meals can be prepared in much less time and thawing of frozen food is almost instantaneous. Owners all over the country are anxious for additional information and help in ways to use their microwave ovens more effectively.

One favorite kitchen item, plastic wrap, long in use for wrapping and covering food for storage, is a natural companion to microwave cooking. All manufacturers of microwave ovens give specific instructions on techniques to follow when covering good for microwaving. Covering is necessary when cooking vegetables, dried foods, some meats and reheating other foods which need steam in order to cook or heat properly.

Because plastic wrap comes in a roll, it can be easily torn and shaped as a cover to fit any type or shape cooking container, even those odd or unusual shaped ones. It allows the microwave energy to pass through to the food, and is resistant to the heat from the microwaved food. It expands to allow for the development of steam within the container.

These are some tips to follow when using a clear wrap as a cover for microwaving food. Place the wrapping material loosely over the food and press it lightly down the side of the container. Allow some looseness so that venting can take place. Some microwave oven manufacturers recommend folding a corner back to create a small hole for steam to escape. It should go just down the sides of the container. NOT underneath the bottom. This placement is necessary for expansion of steam around the food. After microwaving use a fork to lift the cover ... simply pick up the corner of a side away from you and lift to release steam.

Remember to store cooked food in a container that can go into the microwave oven for heating later. The same plastic wrap cover works in the refrigerator and in the microwave oven.

When steaming fresh whole vegetables like zucchini, Summer squash, and corn on the cob wrap each item individually in plastic wrap. Season and butter each item and you'll enjoy one of the best tasting eating delights ever. These individual cooking containers keep the food hot longer because of the tight seal ... and there are no dishes to wash.

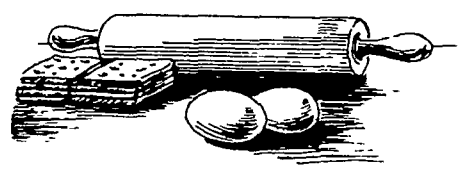
Home on The Range



Cranberries go with both Thanksgiving and Christmas meals, and this week "Home on the Range" is featuring 12 recipes to try out for the upcoming holidays. From punch to bread to salads and pies, cranberries make versatile ingredients to many foods.

CRANBERRY JELLO MOLD

½ pound cranberries
3 apples
1 orange
1 cup sugar
1(6 oz.) box of black cherry jello
3 cups water
1(1 pound 4 oz.) can crushed pineapple

Grind cranberries, apples, and orange. Prepare jello with two cups boiling water and then add one cup cold water. Let set until partially jelled. Add ground fruit and pineapples. Pour into large mold. Prepare 30 to 36 hours before serving.

Mrs. Raymond Wenger
Lititz, Pa.

xxx

CRANBERRY CREATIONS

1 cup oatmeal
½ cup flour
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup margarine
1 pound cranberry sauce jellied or whole cranberries

Combine oatmeal, flour, brown sugar, and cut margarine into ingredients to make crumbs. Place ½ of crumb mix in 8 by 8 greased dish. Cover crumbs with cranberry sauce, top with remaining crumbs. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees F.

CRANBERRY PUNCH

1 (3 oz.) cherry jello
1 cup boiling water
1 (6 oz.) can lemonade
3 cups cold water
1 quart cranberry cocktail juice
1 quart gingerale

Dissolve cherry jello with one cup boiling water. Make lemonade and combine all ingredients. Serves 25.

Pat Sechrist
York Haven, Pa.

FIESTA SALAD

1 (14 oz.) can condensed milk
¼ cup lemon juice
1 (20 oz.) can drained crushed pineapple
1 (16 oz.) can whole cranberries
1 (9 oz.) container whipped topping
½ cup crushed nuts

Mix first four ingredients together, then fold in whipped topping. Put in big size glass baking dish. Sprinkle nuts on top. Freeze. (Take out a little before serving.)

Mrs. Merle Mishler
Hollsopple, Pa.

xxx

CRANBERRY HOLIDAY SALAD

2 (3 oz.) boxes orange jello
1¼ cups boiling water
2 cups cold water and pineapple juice
1 medium sized can of crushed pineapple
1 (16 oz.) can cranberry sauce
1 cup celery, diced very fine
1 can mandarin orange slices, drained

Prepare gelatin by mixing it with hot water. Add the cranberry sauce to the hot mixture and stir until dissolved. Drain the crushed pineapple--reserving the liquid. To the reserved liquid, add enough cold water to make two cups. Add to the gelatin and stir. When it begins to set, stir in pineapple and celery. Place in a mold. Decorate the top with mandarin orange slices.

CRANBERRY — ORANGE MUFFINS

1 egg
1 cup milk
¼ cup salad oil
2 cups all-purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt

Heat oven to 400 degrees F. Grease bottoms of 12 medium muffin cups. Beat egg; stir in milk and oil. Mix in remaining ingredients just until flour is moistened. Batter should be lumpy. Fold in one tablespoon grated orange peel and one cup cranberries (cup cranberries in half) into batter. Fill muffin cups ⅔ full. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Immediately remove from pan. Makes 12 muffins.

3 cups raw cranberries
1 cup sugar
1 cup finely chopped apples

Dissolve the lemon gelatin in the boiling water; add the cold water and salt. Cool. Grind together the whole orange (including the rind) and cranberries. Add sugar and mix well. Then add apples. Combine with the gelatin and place in refrigerator in molds, or in oblong pyrex plates. Serve on lettuce leaves and top with mayonnaise and a green cherry. This makes a pretty Christmas salad. Serves eight to ten.

CRANBERRY FRUIT BREAD

Each member is asked to bring a suggestion on how to save energy to the December 12th meeting. A Christmas party with a $1 gift exchange will be held at the Grange hall December 23 instead of the regular meeting December 26. Preceding the party the Grange will go caroling at 7 p.m.

FFA pumpkin results posted

HUMMELSTOWN – The Lower Dauphin Chapter of the Future Farmers of America recently held their annual pumpkin growing contest. Sponsored by the FFA for elementary school students, the program is run primarily to encourage students to become interested in agriculture and the FFA.

The pumpkin seeds were passed out in early June to students in the Lower Dauphin school district and were later judged in the following categories: best carved, largest in circumference, heaviest, and best decorated. The winners included: best carved: Steve Wyley, first; Adam Capage, second; and Randy Farney, third.

Circumference winners were Suzanne Zerphy, first, at 33 inches; Tammy Weisling, second at 26 inches; and Cindy Evler, third at 21-½ inches.

The heaviest pumpkin weighed 35 pounds and belonged to Dave Bahajak; second weighed 17 pounds and was owned by Shelly Jones; third belonged to Tammy Weisling at seven pounds.

Bradley Geyer decorated his vegetable the best and won a first place for his efforts with Karen Breidenstine taking second and Eric Fackler taking third.

Produce license suspended

LEWISTOWN – Samuel Eugene Elsesser, Lewistown, Pa., has failed to pay a reparation award issued under the Perishable Agricultural Commodities (PAC) Act and is not now eligible to operate in the produce business under the Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has said.

Elsesser may not be employed by or affiliated with any licensed produce firm without USDA approval.

The PACA license issued to Elsesser, doing business as Elsesser's Produce Service, was suspended after the firm failed to pay a $4826 reparation award issued by USDA in favor of a Maine shipper for two lots of potatoes shipped during March and April 1975. USDA ordered payment of the award after Elsesser failed to answer the complaint.

The PACA establishes a code of good business conduct for the produce industry. It requires that interstate traders in fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables be licensed and authorizes USDA to suspend or revoke a trader's license for violating the Act.

Weather-resistant RAMIK® Brown rodenticide keeps shape, freshness, taste, potency. Count on a long period of excellent control.

Potent treatment costs little in comparison with loss of just a few of your trees.

What's one of your trees worth?
What will a bushel of fruit bring?

Figure what your loss would be from just one dead tree root-pruned or girdled and killed by orchard mice (pine or meadow voles)

Then figure the application of highly effective Ramik Brown weather-resistant rodenticide

You'll find Ramik well worth it!

Ramik bait is 26% protein

As food sources diminish after harvest, meadow voles go all out for highly palatable, apple-flavored, mouse-sized Ramik pellets and leave your trees alone Most other foods simply do not attract rodents as high-protein Ramik does

The quiet killer

Ramik Brown pellets contain a small amount of the well known anticoagulant, diphacinone a killing agent used by professional exterminators Diaphacinone thins out the blood so that the vole bleeds internally, painlessly, and dies

Because diphacinone is in such low concentration, the vole does not react violently Ramik does not "signal" its killing ingredient Chance of bait shyness is much lessened

Ramik lasts long, does the job

A special patented manufacturing process helps Ramik pellets retain shape, palatability and potency, even under high-moisture conditions Also chemically treated for mold- and insect-resistance, weather resistant Ramik keeps fresh over a comparatively long period

Get ready to bait with Ramik Brown

As it says on the label, apply Ramik pellets after harvest and before snow Ramik will knock down the hungry vole population Later, when the snow recedes, a second application can be made to control high density populations or the voles that may have reinfested the vacated tunnels

Ramik is a pesticide Handle it as you would any other orchard chemical Never allow exposure of drums to non target species Do not expose bait in small piles, or in a constricted pattern The bait should be scattered evenly over the orchard floor at the rate specified on the label Reseal any unused portion of the bait and store in a closed storage area

Registered for use only in Colorado, Idaho, Michigan, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Utah, Virginia and Washington

Junior Cooking Edition

Thanksgiving is fast approaching and today's column is filled with ideas to help with the November holiday dinner. Such tempting foods as apple salad, crusty baked potatoes, and different kinds of breads can all be found below. See if you can find a recipe that will add to your Thanksgiving dinner and help your family with the cooking.

After this week, the Junior Cooking Edition will concentrate on recipes that will add to the Christmas season all throughout the holiday time. Please send the recipes you like that are special at this time of the year to: Junior Cooking Edition, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 266, Lititz, Pa. 17543. Please include your name, address, age, and phone number as well as complete directions for the recipe.

APPLE SALAD

8 apples
2 bananas
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup raisins
¼ cup cocoanut
½ cup peanuts
½ cup walnuts
juice from ½ lemon

Dressing:

1 cup water
1 teaspoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ cup cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Dice apples in weak salt water, while other ingredients are prepared or add lemon juice and mix thoroughly. This keeps fruit from turning brown. Drain and add chopped celery, bananas, raisins, cocoanut, and nuts. Cook dressing and pour over the apple mixture.

GOLDEN WHEAT BREAD

2 cups milk (scalded and cooled to luke warm)
2 cups lukewarm water
⅓ cup honey
4 teaspoons salt
3 cakes or packages yeast
⅓ cup shortening
7 cups whole wheat flour
3 cups white flour

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Measure flour into pan and make a well, add liquid and yeast, shortening and salt. Stir. Let rise until spongy. Then add white flour, and knead well. Let rise until double in bulk. Knead lightly again. Cover and let stand until almost doubled in bulk. Shape into loaves and place in greased bread pans. Let stand in warm place until double again. Then bake at 375 degrees F. for 40 minutes.

COOL-RISE WHITE BREAD

5½ to 6½ cups unsifted all purpose flour
2 packages active dry yeast
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 tablespoon salt (omit if using self-rising flour)
¼ cup softened butter or margarine
2¼ cup hot tap water cooking oil

Spoon flour into measuring cup and level off. Pour onto wax paper, set aside. Combine 2 cups of the flour, undissolved yeast, sugar, and salt in a large bowl. Stir well to blend. Then add butter or margarine. Add hot tap water to ingredients in bowl. Beat with electric mixer at medium speed for two minutes. Scrape bowl occasionally. Add one cup more flour. Beat with electric mixer at high speed for one minute or until thick and elastic. Gradually stir in just enough of remaining flour with wooden spoon to make a soft dough which leaves sides of bowl. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead five to ten minutes or until dough is smooth and elastic. Cover with plastic wrap, then a towel. Let rest for 20 minutes on board. Then punch down dough. Divide dough in half. Shape into loaves. Place in greased 8½ x 4½ x 2½ inch bread pans. Brush dough lightly with oil. Cover pans loosely with plastic wrap. Refrigerate two to 24 hours. When ready to bake, remove from refrigerator, and uncover. Let stand for 10 minutes while preheating oven. Puncture any surface bubbles carefully just before baking. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 30 to 40 minutes or until done. Remove from pans immediately, brush with butter, cool on racks. Makes two loaves.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

The big day has come and gone. All the flourish and fanfare are a thing of the past. It was a beautiful wedding and a wonderful reception and we have gained another daughter. The evening ceremony was resplendent with flowers and candles. The huge cake was a sight to behold with a simulated fountain and playing lights in the center of it. All evening my eyes kept following my youngest high school-age son, with his six-foot stature, walking around in his dark suit with tails as he ushered people to their seats. How did he grow up so quickly?

But as we all know, it isn't what is on the outside but rather what is on the inside that counts. And to prove it - the week before I had washed and waxed and polished our car to be ready for the special event. Wouldn't you know it, the car could not be started. Never before had it behaved this way! So, our second son loaned us his 1950 Dodge and we were on our way. It is good that I decided the day before to do a kind deed and had washed all three cars in the driveway.

One reminder of the day is a large arrangement of fall flowers on my coffee table. And, another reminder that will be around a bit longer is the floor length gown, one of only a few which I've owned, that hangs in my closet. My daughter, Judy, made it for me and also made her own gown. Hers was a last minute affair as she hemmed it on her way home from Penn State - after getting up at 5:30 a.m. so that she could home to help me with the rehearsal meal.

One other thing that made the day eventful was the arrival of our daughter and her husband from Portland, Ore. The next day they left, in their rented 1978 car for the Philadelphia Airport, and flew to Nassau in the Bahamas for a week's vacation. It should be a nice place to visit in November.

ABYSS. a bottomless gulf; chasm. 2 Anything too deep for measurements

"Well," said the elementary school teacher. "Now that you know the meaning of the word 'abyss', give me an example of one "

Immediately, I raised my hand Being an overeager learner, I usually got called on, and this day was no different.

"An abyss," I said with expertise, "is like the hay hole over the bull pen--if you fall down there, you'll never come out "

Not being a farm child, my teacher was at a loss to understand the sage wisdom I had just imparted, and to cover up her lack of understanding and even possible disagreement with my statement, her brows knitted, and her eyes wandered helplessly over the entire room, hoping some other more intelligent child might come to her rescue.

No one ever did So, we went on to the next spelling word.

But, it is true, you know. Hay holes have always been the terrors walking around the upstairs of the barn. They are all strategically placed--one above the steer pen, another above the bull pen, one above the cow stable, and a fourth above the entry.

Three of the four sit right out in the open--unprotected--and the trick is that sometimes they are open and sometimes they are closed.

And, when they are open, they swallow children up and throw them into the black depths of the bull or the steer pen from which children never return again -or so I've been told.

I've never fallen down any, but there have been some close calls, like the time (to be continued next week).

Holly Trail coming in Dec.

LANCASTER – The 10th annual Holly Trail tour sponsored by the Lancaster Branch of the American Association of University Women will be held on December 3 and 4 from 1 to 6 p.m., featuring homes of Lancaster area residents decorated for the Christmas holidays by gift shops, florists, and nurseries.

This year's tour features six homes including the Ralph Frey home, Route 272 Willow Street, a large home decorated by the owners, Frey's Evergreen Plantation.

The Robert Smith home, 755 Barrcrest Lane, Lancaster comes complete with a sunroom featuring a unique display of antiques and a prized 1790 Banjo clock decorated by the Dew Bee Shop.

The William Haiges home, 1036 Marietta Ave., Lancaster, will be decorated by Stauffers of Kissel Hill.

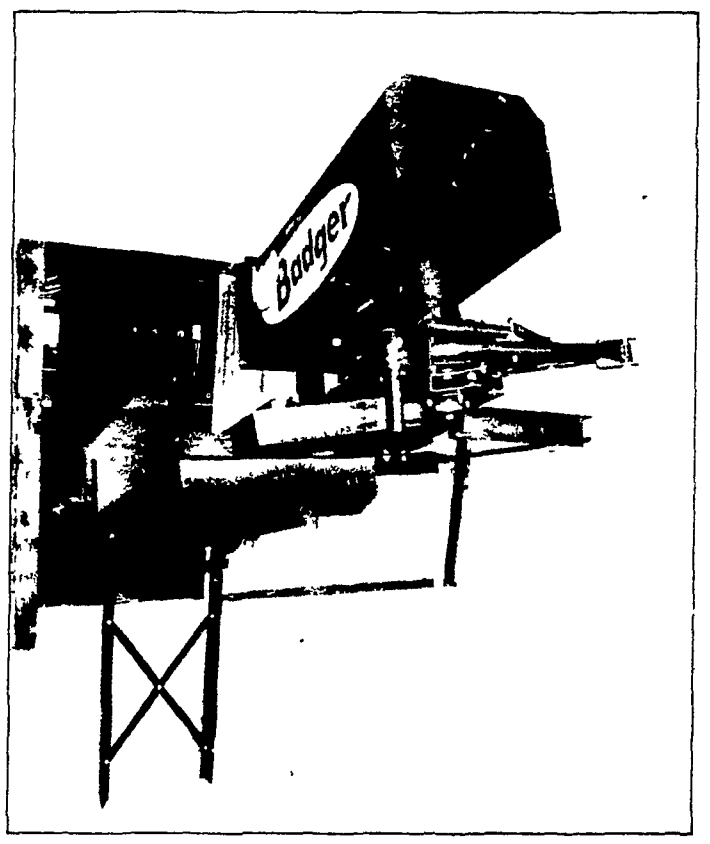
The William Duncan home, home of the president of Millersville State College is located on the college campus. Huber's nursery will accent the beauty and the tradition behind this home.

The James Appel home, 2005 Millersville Pike, is the 1977 Idea House. The theme is "getting ready for a party" and will feature ideas on how to decorate for various types of Christmas get-togethers. All decorations for this home will be made by the University Women.

The Edmund Heltshe home, Stone Hill Road, Conestoga R2, will be decorated by Funk's Farm Market. The Heltshe family will be demonstrating the making and selling of blue spruce wreaths for the benefit of the American Cancer Society.

St. Paul Lutheran Church, 222 North George Street,-Millersville, will be decorated by Girvin's Flower Shop. Biemesderfer Executive Center, Millersville State College, will be decorated by the Village Flower Shop.

Tickets for the tour are-$2.25 and may be purchased by any of the stops on the trail or by contacting Jeannine Free, 2148 Kentwood Drive, 717-569-9289. Children under 12 are free.



A barn cleaner's an "everyday" machine. Badger builds 'em to last Cleaning barns is part of your everyday routine. Badger keeps it routine. When you're running tight, Badger keeps you on-schedule with a dependable, trouble-free barn cleaner.

Badger's chain is designed to operate smoothly with minimum wear. Every link is heat-treated forged steel, joined by heavy carbon-steel pins. The closed links reduce chain stretching...so there's no need to clean your barn twice a day, if you have a long installation. Badger chain is built to carry a full load.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

Did you say you love to travel by air? Well, that makes two of us. But the next time I'm asked to fly to a far-off meeting via the Wright brothers magnificient invention, you may see me make a mad dash to the nearest bus station. Why? Read on.

On a recent early Monday morning, three farm wives depart Harrisburg Airport at 8:15 a.m. en route to Green Bay, Wis., to attend the American Agri-Women national convention. First mistake: having to fly on a foggy day. Three hours later, finally touch down at Chicago's O'Hare Airport, after being "stacked up" in the traffic pattern for an extra hour because of poor ground visability. Rush to catch connecting flight to Green Bay; sorry, flight cancelled. Stand in ticket line for another hour to reschedule flight. Pass time eating lunch. By stroke of sheer luck, get called as stand-bys on early afternoon flight. Important meetings to attend, so eagerly wait for take-off. Wait. And wait, and wait. Disembark after 40 minutes; plane not moving an inch because Green Bay still fogged in. Retrace quarter-mile walk to ticket offices. Wait in line hour and a half. Tiny chance of after-dinner flight leaving. Pass more time eating–this time at airlines expense. Evening flight finally leaves the ground with passengers warned they'll probably end up in Milwaukee for the night. Miraculously, fog lifts just enough for plane to set down at Green Bay. Ah ha, here at last. Wait long, long time for hotel limousine to arrive, finally discovered masquerading as a plain old car. Near 11:00 p.m., three exhausted farm wives collapse on a sixth floor hotel room, mulling over the marvels of travel by air.

Four days later, on a beautifully crystal clear night, same trio checks out of hotel, eager to return to York County. Perfect flight south over Wisconsin, with Chicago spectacularly lit like a sparkling jewel in the black night.

Too good to last. Connecting flight home to Harrisburg delayed hour and a half due to technical difficulties. Pass time–eating again. Jet finally arrives and whisks Pennsylvanians home for weekend. By midnight we should be home in our beds.

But wait: the car left all week in the parking lot is dead. (No, it was not my car.) Lights left on all week. Call road service. Wait two hours. Where is road service? Airport good samaritan finally starts car with persistent use of jumper cables. Walk through door at home in wee hours of morning to find father, daughter, and cat sound asleep in living room waiting. Beautiful!

And now I know why my beloved country-folk singer, John Denver, takes guitar in hand to sing: "I'm leavin' on a jet don't know when I'll be back again....."

Three PFU meetings set

HARRISBURG – Three countywide Farmers Union meetings are scheduled for the week of November 20 in Pennsylvania.

The question of property taxes, low farm prices, and the issue of farmland condemnation will be among problems discussed by farmers at the policy meeting of Snyder and Union County Farmers Union members on November 21.

Then, on November 22, both York County and Perry County Farmers Union members will meet separately to discuss problems facing farmers today.

Adequate supplies and fair prices for energy resources needed by farmers will be a major agenda item at the York County Farmers Union meeting. To be discussed by Perry County Farmers Union members is the cost and supply of energy resources for agriculture as well as the present economic crisis facing farmers today.

The Snyder and Union County meeting is scheduled to be held at the ASCS building on Route 104 at the North end of Middleburg at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served. Election of county officers for the coming year and of delegates to the state convention will also be held at this meeting.

Perry County's meeting is set for the New Bloomfield Courthouse at 8 p.m. Farmers Union members from both Perry and Juniata County are invited to attend.

In urging all members from these two counties to attend the meeting, Truman Holman, county president said, "Farmers themselves can best describe their individual problems and we hope to get imput from the entire family--mothers, fathers, sons, and daughters--about how to improve and strengthen the future of the American farm situation."

The York County meeting is scheduled to begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. at the 4-H center in Bair. Elections of county officers for the coming year and of delegates to the state convention will also be held at this meeting.

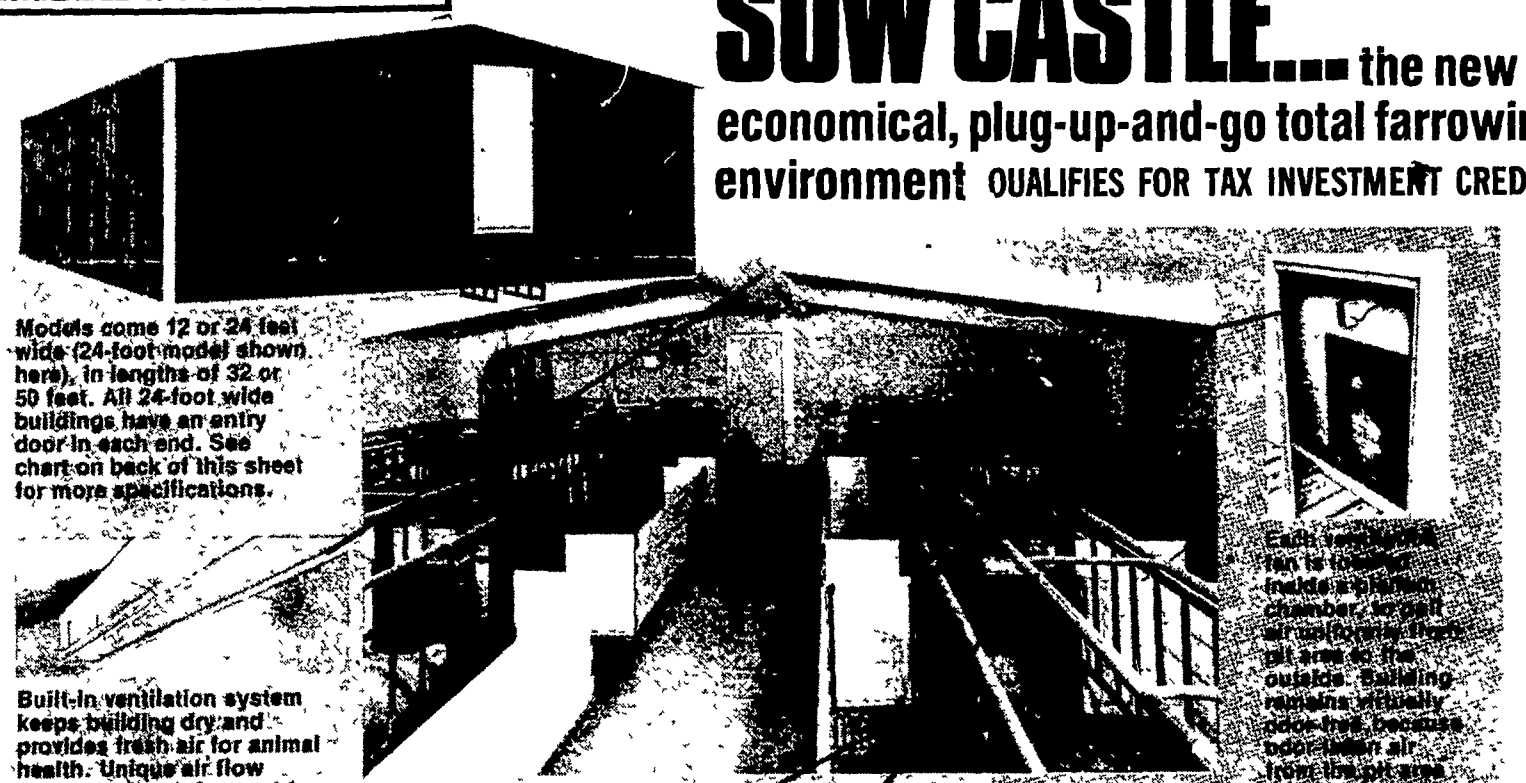
SOW CASTLE... the new economical, plug-up-and-go total farrowing environment QUALIFIES FOR TAX INVESTMENT CREDIT



Models come 12 or 24 feet wide (24-foot model shown here), in lengths of 32 or 50 feet. All 24-foot wide buildings have an entry door in each end. See chart on back of this sheet for more specifications.

Built-in ventilation system keeps building dry and provides fresh air for animal health. Unique air flow system pulls air in at roof ridge line, circulates it over the top of the animals, through the pit, and out. Note that design of roof system eliminates the need for any massive bulkheads that could restrict air flow.

Each farrowing stall has an adjustable sow feeder and automatic water cup. Nipple waterer is optional in place of water cup. Stall sides are adjustable to size of sow. Nursery feeders are provided for pigs.

Each ventilation fan is located inside a plenum chamber to pull air out of the pit area to the outside. Building remains virtually odor-free because odor-laden air from the pit area does not enter living area of the animals.

Farrowing stalls and nursery areas are equipped with aluminum T-slats in the floor, front and rear. Individual slats are 1" across the top and 1" high, with 3/8" spacing between slats.

Watch your kilowatts this Winter when cooking

Mrs. Nancy Wenrich

By JOANNE SPAHR

LEBANON – What's a kilowattcher? A kilowattcher is a homemaker who carefully watches how electricity is used. And, during these slowly shortening, quickly cooling days, kilowattching will become ever more important.

So, for those homemakers who are conscious of energy saving as well as fuel bill saving, Mrs. Nancy Wenrich, director of home economics at Metropolitan Edison, Lebanon, offered a few tips and recipes at a recent homemakers meeting.

First of all, she said, avoid opening the doors of the refrigerator and freezer very often. Instead, know what you want before opening the refrigerator or freezer door.

Also, defrost the freezer regularly and never allow more than ¼ inch of frost to build up. Generally, the rule of thumb when freezing is to freeze no more than two or three pounds of food to each cubic foot of capacity.

Some general household hints include operating a self-cleaning oven after 8 p.m. whenever possible, since the greatest energy load is taken between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily.

Set most water heaters to 140 degrees F. Under most conditions, this is hot enough for household hot water needs.

When it comes to laundry, Metropolitan Edison suggests waiting until 8 p.m. to do the wash that requires hot water, and if the laundry must be done during the daytime power rush, it sould be washed in warm or cool water. Always rinse with cold water.

Cooking can also be energy saving.

SESAME CRISPS

1¾ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup shortening
4 tablespoons cold water (approx.)
1 egg yolk
3 tablespoons sesame seeds

Stir flour and salt together in a medium-size bowl; cut in shortening with a pastry blender until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle with approximately 3 tablespoons of the water, one tablespoon at a time. Mix lightly just until pastry holds together and leaves sides of bowl clean. Roll out to an 18 x 12 rectangle on a lightly floured pastry cloth or board. Beat egg yolk with remaining 1 tablespoon water in a cup; brush over pastry; sprinkle with sesame seeds. Cut out fancy shapes with a floured 1½ inch cutter; place on ungreased cookie sheet. Place trimmings on same cookie sheets and bake for family nibbles. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 10 minutes, or until golden. Remove to wire racks. Cool completely. Store in a container with a tight cover. Makes five dozen.

TOMATO BOUILLON

1 cup tomato juice
1 cup water
1 bouillon cube - beef

Combine ingredients and heat to boiling point. Serves 2 or 3. A simple recipe to increase.

According to Mrs. Wenrich, the above two recipes are good "to warm up cold bodies after an ice hockey game or caroling." The "Sesame Crisps" are really just pastry with sesame seeds on top, and these crisps go well with the tomato bouillon.

To make the tomato bouillon party-sized, Mrs. Wenrich suggested a 30-cup percolator.

The next three recipes Mrs. Wenrich offered are three seasoned products that have no cooking involved, so they are "definitely energy savers."

ONE, TWO, THREE — DIP!
Seasoning Mix

¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons toasted sesame seeds
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon celery seed
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon garlic powder

Combine all ingredients. Store in a screw-top jar. To make dip, stir one tablespoon into a cup of sour cream or yogurt.

MAKE AHEAD SALAD SEASONING MIX

2 tablespoons salt
1 tablespoon paprika
1 tablespoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon black pepper

Combine all ingredients and store in a screw-top jar. To make dressing, add one tablespoon mix to ¼ cup vinegar or lemon juice and ¾ cup vegetable oil. For variety add 1 clove crushed garlic OR 1 tablespoon minced fresh herbs OR 1 teaspoon dried herbs (parsley, dill or basil).

SEASONED SALT
Last forever and a day

6 Tb salt
½ tsp. dried thyme leaves
½ tsp. marjoram
½ tsp. garlic salt
½ curry powder
1 tsp. dry mustard
½ tsp. celery salt
¼ tsp. onion powder
1/8 tsp. dill seed
2¼ tsp. paprika

Put all ingredients into blender container. Process on low until blended. Yield: ½ cup.

And, for holiday gift-giving, Mrs. Wenrich gave out a "Honey Tea Ring" which any friend would be pleased to receive.

HONEY TEA RING

1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 cups Master Baking Mix
⅓ cup chopped nuts
⅓ cup raisins
honey

Combine softened cream cheese, sugar and vanilla, mixing until well blended. Prepare biscuit mix according to directions for biscuit dough. Roll to 12 x 18-inch rectangle on lightly floured surface. Spread with cream cheese mixture; sprinkle with nuts and raisins. Roll up, starting on long side; seal long edge. Place on greased cookie sheet; join ends to form ring. With scissors, cut three-quarters of the way through ring at 1-inch intervals; tu each section on its side. Bake at 425 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Glaze with honey; continue baking 5 to 7 minutes or until golden brown. Glaze with honey, if desired.

York Countian named nat'l demonstration winner

YORK – Linda Brown, Loganville, was named a national demonstration winner during the 43rd Annual National Junior Horticultural Association Convention held last week in Winston-Salem, N.C.

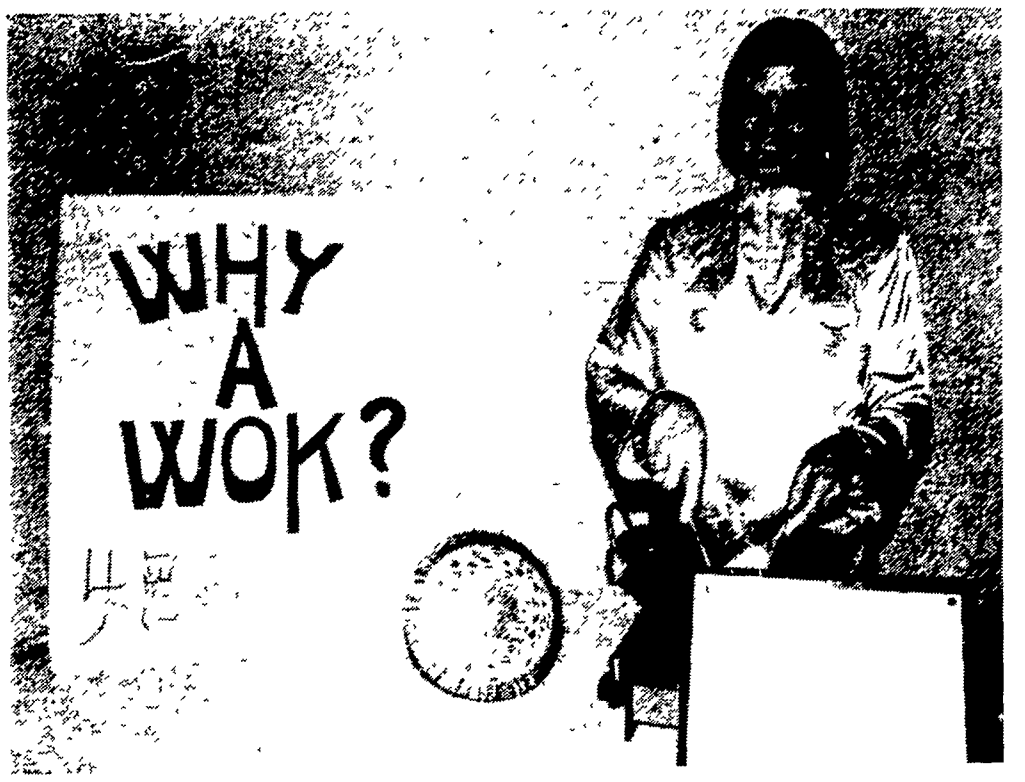
"Why A Wok?" featuring the cooking technique of stir-frying, won 15-year-old Linda the special recognition in the category of "Use of Horticultural Products." In her sixth year of 4-H participation, she carries projects including gardening, cooking, sewing, photography and teen leader. Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brown and is a member of the Loganville Community Club and the York County Horticulture Club.

Bryan Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Palmer, Shrewsbury, received national honors in the gardening category for young horticulturists. Other delegates from York County were Becky Brenneman, Glen Rock R2, and Brooke Palmer, Shrewsbury.

The NJHA meeting brought together 500 youthful horticultural leaders and their advisors who competed in various demonstrations and contests, participated in tours of the area, and studied new areas in the science of horticulture.

Delegates from 30 states competed for national honors in areas of environmental education and beautification, production and marketing, experimental horticulture, speaking contests, gardening, plant propagation, and achievement and leadership.

Co-sponsors who made the trip possible for the junior horticulturists from York County included Rockelman's Nursery and Garden Center, Shioh Nursery Inc., Trail Nurseries, The York Bank and Trust Co., Glen Rock State Bank, The Commonwealth National Bank, York Federal Savings and Loan Association, Spring Grove National Bank, and Society of Farm Women Group 28.



"Why a Wok?" is the question posed by Linda Brown. The answer is given in her award-winning 4-H demonstration, which took national honors during the recent National Junior Horticultural Association convention.

Holiday decorations featured at ladies luncheon

By KENDACE BORRY

LANCASTER – "How to Make Interesting Holiday Decorations in your Home" was the subject of a lecture and demonstration given for the ladies as part of the program of the NEPPCO Expo '77, held at the Host Farm Resort, Lancaster, Pa. Speaker for the Tuesday luncheon program was Mrs. Rhoda Oberholtzer, head of the floral design and craft department at Stauffer's of Kissel Hill.

Taking a variety of natural and artificial materials, Mrs. Oberholtzer showed her audience ways of adding beauty to their homes in the forms of centerpieces, decorations, and arrangements. Demonstrating what she was doing while talking, she explained how differnt materials add to each other's attractiveness, and give a pleasing effect to the eye.

Two arrangements that would add to the beauty of any home were made by Mrs. Oberholtzer, one with a candle, the other in a cup and saucer. The little owl watching in the front was made from a pinecone craft.

One centerpiece that she made started with a large pineapple placed in the center of a platter, with some evergreens placed around it. To this, she added acorns, apples, oranges, English walnuts, glycerized oak leaves, pine cones, bittersweet, and cat tails, along with a piece of red felt formed in the shape of a turkey gobbler's head to create the impression of a large turkey sitting on the table.

Mrs. Oberholtzer explained that when she waxes her fruit, she first puts a pick in the fruit, then melts candle wax. The was is then allowed to cool slightly, and the fruit is dipped into the wax, usually about three times.

All the greens and leaves are glycerized, with most of that work being done in August and September, when the plants are not dormant as they are now. She used two parts hot water to one part glycerin, plus the color dye she wants to do the job.

Corn husk decorations were shown by Mrs. Oberholtzer, including wreaths, dolls, and flowers. To make a corn husk flower on a pinecone, the following directions were given.

First all corn husks were bleached, prior to use. Then one dampens the field corn husk, and places it on a hand towel to drain off the excess moisture. For each flower, eight to 12 petals are cut. Next, to a small Hemlock pinecone, add a 24 gauge wire, twisting it into the pinecone to form a stem. Using a white glue, one next places each pointed end of the petal into the glue and then places it into the petal section of the pinecone, starting at the bottom of the cone and working it into the center of the pinecone. The petals towards the center of the pinecone may be cut smaller, if desired. Finally, a 20 gauge heavier wire is added to the thin wire on the pinecone and taped with floral tape to form a stem.

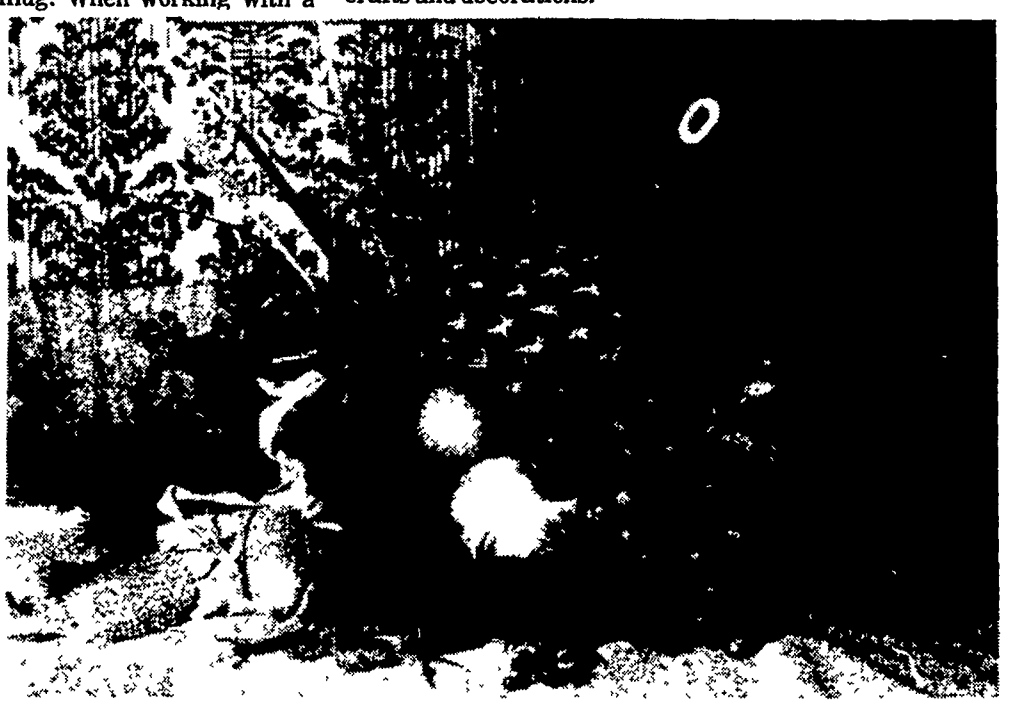
Corn husk dolls that were shown included Pilgrims and a scarecrow, which Mrs. Oberholtzer explained could be changed into a Santa Claus by the changing of the costume made for the doll.

Candle centerpieces being popular, Mrs. Oberholtzer spent some time showing a variety of ways to make creations utilizing a candle. One thing she mentioned was that she always puts the candle in the centerpiece first and then works around it, forming her centerpiece. She also showed some methods of creating arrangements using a cup and saucer and a pitcher or mug. When working with a pitcher or mug, she pointed out that a good rule to remember is to work up with the handle and down with the spout. However, if working with a cup in a saucer, this rule does not apply.

After the demonstration, the ladies were served a luncheon at the Host Farm Resort and given the opportunity to examine the crafts and decorations.



This handsome turkey gobbler was made from a variety of fruit and greens, with a few extras added, including the head and neck made from red felt.

HARRISBURG - The Lancaster County 4-H team placed fourth in the junior livestock judging contest held at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. Ohio's 4-H team won the junior contest, with a team from Virginia placing second, and one from Maryland placing third.

Samuel Long, Peach Bottom R2, was the third placing high individual in the competition and the highest placing individual in the beef cattle division of the judging.

Judy Zimmerman, Ephrata R1, was named 11th high individual in the contest and Deb Carmean, East Petersburg placed 20th.

Lancaster County finished second in the beef cattle competition, fifth in the swine, and sixth in the sheep division. Ten junior judging teams competed in the contest.

Coach for the Lancaster County team is County Agent M. Max Smith; assistant is Gary Dean, Strasburg R1.

In the intercollegiate competition, Purdue University won top honors, with Ohio State University placing second. Penn State's team placed fourth in the contest.

Fall-plowed UNIPEL® 20-10-10 fertilizer yields benefits all other three seasons.

A Unipel Single Application for Fall plowdown provides basic corn fertility for the next growing season with these benefits:

- Eliminates Spring soil compaction (often responsible for significant yield reductions), saves your valuable Spring time for planting,
- Two forms of Nitrogen provide both quick response and continuous feeding for corn plants through planting and growing seasons,
- Long-lasting form of Phosphate resists fixation in acid soils, remains readily available for plant use during the growing season,
- The chemical combination of Nitrogen and Phosphorus in a pellet enhances Phosphate uptake by the plant and increases overall fertilizer efficiency,
- Low calcium-carbonate equivalent helps maintain more favorable soil pH and reduces liming costs

Let's discuss these and other benefits of Fall-applied Unipel 20-10-10 complete pelleted fertilizer for corn

Pennsylvanians place in feeder cattle show

HARRISBURG – Although the grand champions of the 1977 Feeder Steer show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition went to West Virginians, Pennsylvanians placed high, in many instances, in their respective classes.

In the Angus breed, Shrives Angus Farm of Seven Valleys, took a first place berth; Erdenheim Farm, Lafayette Hill, second; Walter S. Laird, third and fourth; Sidney Riggs, Friedens, fifth; and Runnymede Farm, Coatesville, sixth.

In the Herefored breed, Nature's Acres Farms, Inc., from Northumberland, took the third place pen of five feeder steers.

Robert C. Burkins, Holtood, had a second place entry in the pen of five feeder steers under the crossbred and purebred steer division.

Sixth in that class was PCS Farms, Osceola, Pa.; seventh, Green Gate Farms, Lewistown; eighth Warrington Green Farms, Wellsville, Pa.; ninth, William and Eugene Sweigard, Halifax; and tenth, Runnymede Farm, Coatesville.

In Angus Feeder Heifers, Erdenheim Farm, Lafayette Hill, placed first in pen of five feeder heifers. In Crossbred and Purebred Heifers and Other Beef Breed competition, Blue Eye Valley Farm, Corry, Pa. took a first in pen of five feeder heifers; Runnymede; Farm, Coatesville, took a second in that class; and Maynard L. Long, Carlisle, took a third.

The champion pen of feeder heifers went to Runnymede Farm, Coatsville.

The Tractor Specialist sells more "up-time"

When the land is ready a farmer's tractor had better be ready to go That s why a Case dealer franchise just makes good common sense

As a Case dealer you re a tractor specialist Everything you do — selling, servicing parts — has one target the best in farm power You and your tractors are backed by an industry "first" a sound marketing program Assured Availability It tells your customers that if, for any reason during warranty the tractor they bought from you isn't ready to go, they'll have a free replacement And Case backs you up!

Case backs you up with other strong marketing help including the Demo/Rental and Commitment to Quality programs

If the franchise is open in your territory, you may also be eligible to sell and service light construction power For information on the full potential of a Case franchise in your area, write or call

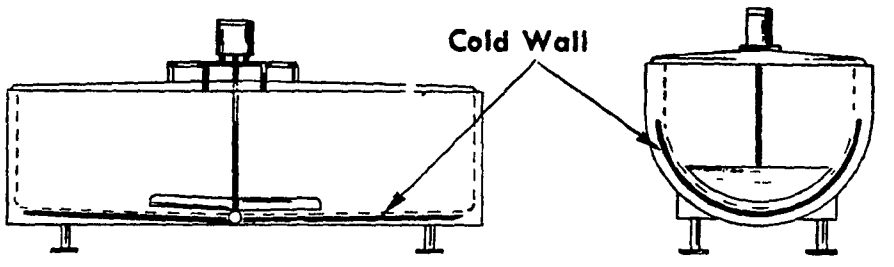
IN OPEN TOP BULK TANKS
GIRTONS FLAT BOTTOM IS BETTER THAN THEIR ROUND BOTTOM

HERE'S WHY:

1. Eliminates condensation because a minimum of milk covers the entire cold plate.
2. Increases efficiency of cooling system because as soon as the bottom is covered the full cooling system is cooling milk, not air.
3. Makes less work because lower sides make it easier to pour milk into the tank. Lowest pouring tank on the market - 34¾" high.



A small quantity of milk completely covers the refrigerated bottom of the DIPLOMAT

OUR EXPERTS ARE YOUR EXPERTS. Put them to work- FREE!

What's good, sensible feeding for one dairyman can be just plain extravagance for another.

That's why Beacon emphasizes "no-nonsense feeding".

By "no-nonsense" we mean profitable feeding, based on the needs of your herd, using as much as possible the feed available on your own farm, along with whatever supplements are needed for a complete nutritionally balanced diet.

How can you be sure you're feeding your herd well, and at the least possible cost?

We urge you to call upon the services of our dairy experts, in the field and at our headquarters in Cayuga. By all means, take advantage of our free roughage analysis.

Your Beacon Advisor will take a sample of your roughage and send it to our laboratory. There it will be analyzed by one of the dairy experts shown above—a man with a great deal of experience in animal nutrition. His analysis will be sent to you promptly, along with feeding recommendations based on your roughage quality and feed requirements.

There's no charge for the service and no one will try to sell you feed or supplements you don't need.

With Beacon feeds and Beacon's advisory service, your herd will get nutrients, not just ingredients.

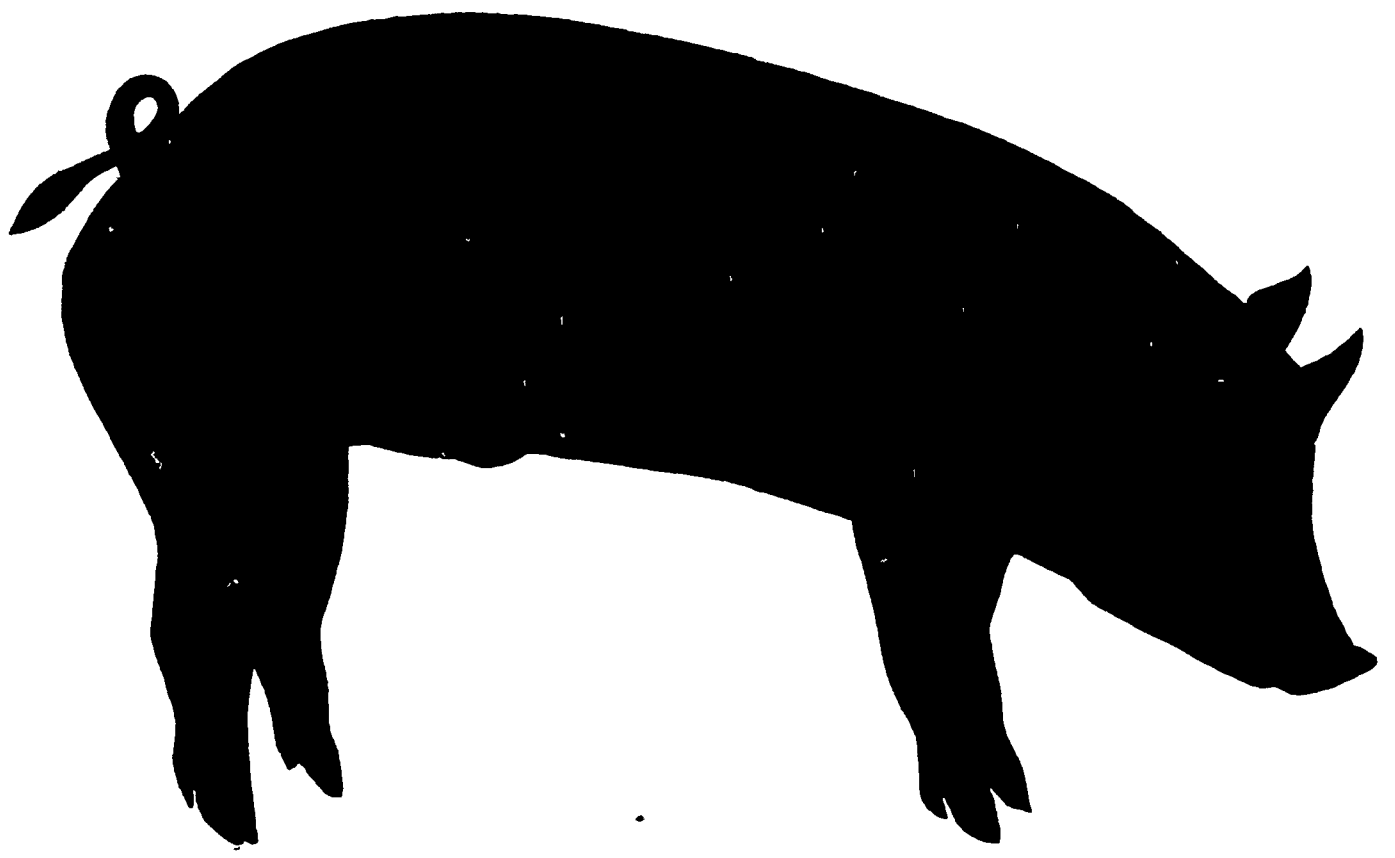
PROTEIN



WHO NEEDS IT?

It may surprise you to know that a pig doesn't even require protein.

What he does need are Amino Acids - those funny little "building blocks" that are referred to as "protein".

Agway man wins president's cup

Agway Inc. farm systems salesperson Harris Bezner (center), Laureldale, Pa., accepts the Vice President's Cup award from Edward Hartnett, vice president, merchandising, for outstanding sales achievements thie past year. Each year, cups are given to the top ten sales employees by the Syracuse-based farm supply and food-marketing cooperative. Bezner will also be enrolled in Agway's Wall of Fame of outstanding sales persons. Watching the presentation is Robert Patterson, Area farm and home sales manager.

4-H'ers win weanling colts

HARRISBURG - Rene Evans, Bridgeville, Allegheny County, and Brian Eckstein, Harmony, Jefferson County, were awarded weanling Quarter horses from Bob Evans Farms, Ohio, during the State 4-H Horse Show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition in Harrisburg November 10.

Rene, 12, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Evans, has been a 4-H member for five years and has won numerous awards for horsemanship skills in the Pennsylvania Junior Quarter Horse Association, the Saddle and Fence Club and the Tri-State Junior Quarter Horse Association.

Brian is the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Eckstein. He has been a 4-H member for six years and has served as a horseback instructor. He is working with individuals from the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind, United Cerebral Palsy Programs, the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh and other civic groups.

The two 4-H'ers won the awards in recognition of their outstanding work and leadership demonstrated within 4-H, at school and other activities. They are two of 9,500 youths who take part in 4-H Horse Club activities.

Nominations for the awards were screened by each 4-H Horse District Committee with winners determined by a committee of Penn State College of Agriculture faculty and staff members.

Eastern names new district director

SYRACUSE, N.Y. -- George Stambaugh of Newville, has been elected Director of District 15 of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative. Delegates from thirteen of the fourteen Locals of the district participated in the election which was held on November 7, at the Hilltop Dairy Restaurant near Shade Gap. He will officially take office on November 16, 1977 at the Co-op's monthly Board of Directors' meeting in Syracuse, New York.

A native of Newville, Stambaugh graduated from Big Spring High School, Newville and completed the Public Affairs Leadership Program plus several Short Courses at Penn State.

In 1959, Stambaugh and his wife, Shirley, began dairy farming on the home farm in Newville where they presently reside. They are the parents of three children: Debra, George and Gary. The Stambaughs own 330 acres with 350 head of Holsteins including 150 milkers, a considerable number of dry cows and young stock.

A member of Eastern since 1971, Stambaugh has served as delegate of the Co-op's Cumberland Valley Local over the past five years. Other farm organizations in which he has been active include: Chairman of the state and county Pennsylvania Farmers Association's Dairy Committee; PFA State Legislatives Committee and PFA State Dairy Action Council.

Listed among his other achievements was 1976 Pennsylvania State winner in corn production.

New Holland promotes two

NEW HOLLAND – L. Lavern Anstee, engineering development manager at Sperry New Holland, has been named to the new position of product manager for future products. With his new duties, Anstee will be concerned primarily with investigating and recommending future types of products for the company to offer in the agricultural line or through diversification into new market areas.

The engineering Development Department now headed by Anstee will become the Engineering Research and Development Department. Jack W. Crane, product design manager for haytools, will be promoted to director of this department.

Linde tops county Guernsey herd for 2nd year

Production award winners at the Guernsey banquet last week are (left to right): Mrs. Francis Kirk, Francis Kirk, Dairy Princess Twila Brubaker, Donald Breneman, Louise Witmer, Raymond Witmer, K.D. Linde, Else Linde. Special recognition was given to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Witmer for having the highest lifetime production and to Mr. and Mrs. K.D. Linde for having the high producing herd in the county.

By SALLY BAIR
Staff correspondent

OXFORD – For the second year in a row, K.D. Linde and his wife Else received the award for the highest testing Guernsey herd in the county. Lindenhof Farms, Oxford R1, had a herd average of 14,143 pounds and 658 pounds of fat.

The award was presented at the annual meeting and banquet of the Lancaster County Guernsey Breeder's Association held last Friday evening at Refton Fire Hall.

Linde also received an individual production award for milk for four-year-old Lindenhof Nance Nanette, who produced 19,206 pounds of milk and 731 pounds of fat.

Raymond and Louise Witmer, Willow Street R1, were recognized for their cow having the highest lifetime production of 148,446 pounds of milk and 5,771 pounds of fat. The Witmers Penn Del Farms received two other individual awards, one for milk and one for fat.

Wyoming Fayvors Nedra received high fat honors for four-year-olds by producing 15,539 milk and 896 fat. Nedra is also famous for having withstood the milking contest at the recent mall promotion at Park City. The Witmers' Burkes Tavern Emorys Dottie was high in milk in the five-year-old and over category, with 18,249 milk and 671 fat.

Francis and Ethel Kirk, Peach Bottom R1, received two high fat awards. In the three-year-old category, Cedar Fringed Rosemary was high with 14,494 pounds of milk and 717 pounds of fat. Cedar Fringed Mert was high in fat in the five-year-old and older group with 13,783 milk and 784 fat.

Fred and Evelyn Crider, Nottingham R1, took both milk and fat honors in the two-year-old category with Fre-Lyn Diamond who produced 16,872 milk and 772 fat.

High three-year-old in milk production was Romella Farms Verna, owned by Robert A., H. Melvin, Larry E. and Donald Breneman, Strasburg R1. Verna produced 14,671 milk and 714 fat.

Roland Beauvais, fieldman for the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeder's association, said dairymen should consider culling cows after the first of the year because of the abundance of milk. He said, "You should figure out which are making money and which are losing money and sell those that are losing."

Beauvais also encouraged breeders to support the young sire program being developed, saying, "A lot of people are using the wrong sires and breeding the wrong kind of cattle. We hope to have the program organized by next Spring."

President of the Lancaster County group, Peter Witmer, concurred, "We would like to have everyone involved in the young sire program. We must have our own sire proving program. We have the material to work with and we must nurture this opportunity."

N. Alan Bair, county agricultural agent, discussed the difficulty of raising Guernsey calves, and said there is a basic managment outlook which can make the difference. "Your attitude and your way of farming can make or break you. The attitude of the man who is raising the calf is important."

Three new directors were elected to serve three-year terms. They are George Rohrer, Lime Valley Road, Lancaster; Donald Breneman, Strasburg R1; and Francis Kirk, Peach Bottom R1.

Awards were also presented to the three high scoring record books in the Guernsey 4-H club. First prize went to Carol Balmer, who had the high book in the county, second was Connie Balmer and third was Clarence M. Weaver, Jr.

USDA revises maturity dates for 1977 CCC grain loans

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced that effective immediately Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) loans on 1977-crop grain will be issued on a 9-month rather than a 11-month basis.

USDA officials explained that the anniversary loan concept is being retained in order to avoid having all loans for a commodity mature on a common date. However, by shortening the length of the loan, a greater number of the loans will mature before the 1978 harvest; this will permit 1977 grain to be moved from the farm and country warehouse to make room for the 1978 crop.

A producer who has obtained a 1977-crop grain loan before today has the option of continuing the loan for the 11-month period or reducing the loan period to 9 months. The Department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service county offices will notify such producers that they will have 30 days in which to accept the option to reduce the loan period.

Producers who expect to store 1978 grain in the storage structures now being used to store 1977 loan grain, may find the 9-month storage period advantageous, USDA announced.

We've Got Your Loader Number!

IF YOUR LOOKING FOR A SKID-STEER LOADER, LOOK TO YOUR SPERRY NEW HOLLAND DEALER FIRST:

- Six models to choose from - 22 to 60 - hp. Gas or diesel engines. Air or water - cooled.
- Each model has more dump reach than any competitor in its size class.
- Quick-attach feature lets you change attachments in seconds, without dismounting.
- All models feature hydrostatic drive for a smooth, even flow of power.

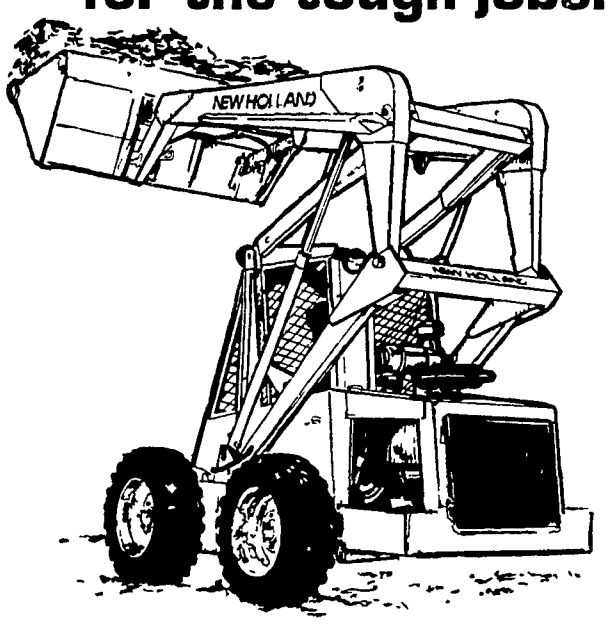
The Sperry New Holland Model L 325 offers you by far the longest dump reach in its size class

The 22 hp L 325 boasts hydrostatic drive that assures you a smooth, even flow of power And the L 325 cab is an integral part of the unit—not a bolt-on option It meets SAE standards for roll-over and falling-object protective structure.

Why not stop in soon and see how the L-325 can save time and labor on your job?

Big power for the tough jobs!



We've got big power to handle your tough jobs. Big power in a compact unit to get in and out of those tight places that used to require hand labor

The big power package is the Model L-778 skid-steer loader from Sperry New Holland The L 778 offers a choice of water-cooled 62 horse gas or 52-horse diesel engines. It delivers a whopping 2,050 pound operating load And you can place that load right into the center of a tri axle dump truck! That's because the L 778's unique boom reaches forward as it rises. So you get more forward dump reach than any competitor in its size class This unique boom gives you other advantages, too A bucket that stays level as it rises away from the operator So there's less spillback on him Greater roll back angle for less spillage when carrying a load And greater dump angle for easier bucket cleanout.

The L 778 offers other important features competitors don't match Features like an integral roll over structure, boom locks, low clearance height, greater stability, quick-on attachments, and much more Stop by soon for a free demonstration. We'll be glad to show you how the big power L-778 can save time and money for you!

Agway Farm Consulting and Tax Service

Read what Agway members say:

It really proved its worth when my son and I went into partnership—especially in the areas of taxes and counseling
Clarence and Charles Benson, Lansing, N Y

My consultant helped me work out a financing program with my banker With an improved cash flow, I can now do a better job of managing'
Ed Stebell, Dewittville, N Y

It gives us a reliable yardstick to appraise our monthly operation as compared to a year ago We always know where we are and where we re going"
Edward and Walter Smith, Watertown, N Y

'The record-keeping program helps me keep track of five separate herds Now I know exactly how well each one is doing compared to the others
Paul Percy, Stowe, Vt

We've always liked Agway's computer records Now with the addition of a consultant who comes to our farm the program is even more valuable'
Kenneth, Roy and Nelson Stoner Lititz, PA

Chester Co. 4-H'ers place

WEST CHESTER – Many months of hard work and competition in numerous local and district shows paid off for a number of county 4-H members last week when they won awards at the State 4-H Horse Show in Harrisburg on November 9 - 11.

Susan Hindle of Pottstown took first place in the state in Hunter Seat Equitation, over jumps, Hunter Under Saddle and Working Hunter Ponies.

Several other county horse club members also competed in the State 4-H Horse Show. They were· Kimberly Hindle, Pottstown; Ann Givens, Chadds Ford; Tammy Chiesa, Coatesville; and Christine Werner, Elverson.

Riders and their horses, all winners of county and district eliminations, were entered in 29 different classes with members from each district in the Commonwealth competing. Approximately 500 contestants from most counties vied for awards.

County Agent, Thomas Mitchell said that classes in the state contest gave members an opportunity to display their skills in horsemanship and ability to groom a horse for showing.

The junior event was part of the Keystone International Livestock Exposition held in the State Farm Show Building.

Lt. Gov. Kline addresses PFA

CAMP HILL - Lt. Governor Ernest Kline delivered the keynote address to the Twenty-Seventh Annual Meeting of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association on Monday.

Voting delegates for the 21,000 member general farm organization gathered at the Penn Harris Motor Inn, here, Nov. 13-16, to decide policies on state issues for the coming year.

Lt. Governor Kline told association members attending the opening luncheon, "We must create growth and prosperity in our farming industry before we can create growth and prosperity in our rural communities." He noted that Pennsylvania has the largest rural population of any state in the union.

Lt. Governor Kline told the farmer-delegates from throughout the state, "Increased farm income is the first step to breathing life into our rural communities."

By DIETER KRIEG

The most coveted degree of all was won by Barbara Snyder, a 16-year-old girl from the Red Lion FFA Chapter, guided by John Myers and Guy Naugle. The Winterstown area vo-ag student was also elected as president of the York County FFA. A separate feature on her appears elsewhere in this issue. Miss Snyder is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder, Felton R1.

The White Rose Degree presentations was one of the highlights of the annual meeting, which was hosted this year by the Dover FFA Chapter, headed by Richard Coons. New officers for the county chapter were also announced that evening.

Others to receive the White Rose Degree were: Fred Siegfried, and Michael Krug of the Eastern FFA Chapter; Mark Rehman, Bradley Rineholt, Jeff Wilson, Tracy Hosley, Mark Griffith, Marshall Burkins, Maurice Manifold, Melvin Taylor, and Joe Black, from the Kennard-Dale Chapter; Jeff Kerr, Jeff Donahoe, and Theron Mills from the Northern Chapter; Nelson Brenneman Jr. and James Wagaman from the Dover Chapter; Sue Garner, Sue Herbst, Sherry Holtzinger, Danielle Stump, Barbara Snyder, Cathy Garner, and Tom Innerst, all from the Red Lion Chapter, and Mary Lease from the York Vo-Tech School's White Rose Chapter.

Qualifications which must be met in order to be considered for the White Rose Degree include: 1. Member in good standing of County FFA, 2. Chapter Farmer degree holder; 3. $250 investment or 250 hours of work in agricultural project, 4. two years of instruction in vocational agriculture, 5. a minimum of one FFA project per year, and 6. office holder of the local chapter or showing outstanding leadership qualities in school or community.

The award presentations fit the theme of the two guest speakers for the evening.

First to take the podium was Lee Shaffer, who told the gathering of blue-jacketed students: "You can if you think you can ... and if you think you're beaten you are."

Mike Beatty, president of Pennsylvania's 212 FFA chapters, preached that goals in life are attained by dreaming first of achievements, then making use of opportunities, being enthusiastic and motivated, and striving towards the success which reaps rewards.

Mark Mummert, a Dover FFA'er and outgoing county FFA president, had a similar theme for his retiring note: "Give FFA your best shot, and it'll have a lot to offer. Be good to yourself."

In an awards program which gave recognition to winners of contests earlier this year, the Red Lion Chapter dominated with a commanding six first places and 11 seconds. Details of various contest placings follow:

Poultry Contest - 1. - Ray Smeltzer - Eastern, 2. - Kenneth Sechrist - Red Lion, 3. Robert Dehoff - Red Lion, 4. - Leroy Bowles - Red Lion, 5. - Dave Wineholt - Red Lion.

Meats Contest - 1. Tracy Honsley - Kennard Dale, 2. - Dean Miller - Kennard Dale, 3. - James Wagaman - Dallastown, 4. - Mark Mummert - Dover, 5. - Brenda Walter - Red Lion.

Livestock Contest - 1. Brenda Walter - Red Lion, 2. Tina Taylor - Red Lion, 3. - Jay Caudill - Red Lion, 4. - Teresa Lehigh - Dover, 5 - Leroy Bowles - Red Lion.

Sludge raised yields on Chester County farm

WEST CHESTER - The Orcon Report, a three year study on the use of sewage sludge on farmland, has been released by the Brandywine Valley Association. Started in 1973, this research and demonstration project was an attempt to find a suitable alternative to incineration of sludge which was proposed to the Borough of West Chester as part of its sewage treatment plant upgrading and expansion. The project was funded by Longwood Foundation with Laboratory costs being paid by West Chester Borough.

The study was conducted on a two acre site at Marshall Jones' farm in Westtown Township. Initial preparation included the drilling of three groundwater monitor wells, background soil samples and a complete analysis of the sludge. Initially, sludge from Wester Chester's Goose Creek plant was applied by a manure spreader in a semi-dry state. This process was too slow and did not produce a uniform application. Sludge from the West Goshen plant, applied in liquid form, was then used for the remainder of the study.

The test plot had one strip fertilized with Orcon (sewage sludge) while an adjacent strip used an equivalent amount of commercial fertilizer. After each year the corn yields were compared. In 1973 the Orcon plot yielded 123 bushels of corn per acre, the commercial fertilizer 93. The second year the Orcon produced 17 bushels more than commercial fertilizer, and the third year the two were equal. It was estimated that the increased yield and savings in fertilizer represent an additional $70 per acre each year where the Orcon was used. Tests on the corn grain also showed higher protein levels in the Orcon fertilized corn.

As a result of the study, West Chester has decided to use sludge on farmland rather than build an incinerator, a decision which will save nearly $1 million in construction costs and thousands of dollars in operating expenses.

The Orcon Report is applicable to many other treatment plants. It shows how a resource, which is generally considered a waste, can be used benefically and safely. The report is available from the Brandywine Valley Association, 409 F&M Building, West Chester, Pa. 19380. Cost is $1.00.

Northampton DHIA has awards night

TATAMY – Production awards and special recognition to youngsters with 4-H and FFA projects were among the many highlights of the recently held annual meeting for the Northampton County Dairy Herd Improvement Association. The event was held in the fire hall, here, in conjunction with the annual Holstein dinner with Sterling Fabian, Northampton County Holstein club president, in charge.

The high herd trophy went to Donald Seipt and family, whose famed Keystone Holsteins averaged 768 pounds of butterfat per cow. Their 73 Holsteins' milk production average (18,748 pounds per cow) ranked third to Karl Miller of Bangor, whose 38 Holsteins pumped out an average of 19,935 pounds of milk and 657 pounds of butterfat per cow, and Fulmer Brothers, whose 76 Holsteins averaged 19,402 pounds of milk and 736 of butterfat.

Following is a list of the top 10 herd averages, ranked according to butterfat:

1. Keystone Farm, 2. Fulmer Brothers, 3. Old Homestead Farm, Springtown, 51 Holsteins averaging 17,952 pounds of milk and 669 pounds of butterfat; 4. Harold Fabian, Bethlehem, 44 Holsteins averaging 17,596 pounds of milk and 668 of butterfat; 5. Karl Miller, 6. Woodale Farms, Pen Argyl, 44 Holsteins averaging 17,712 pounds of milk and 657 of butterfat; 7. Gerald and Carole Ulmer, Riegels, 45 Holsteins averaging 16,754 pounds of milk and 653 pounds of butterfat; 8. Thaler Farms, Easton, 91 Holsteins averaging 16,673 pounds of milk and 649 pounds of butterfat; 9. Floyd and Barry Ott, Bangor, 70 Holsteins averaging 16,853 pounds of milk and 645 of fat, and 10. Edwin and Jeffrey Gum, Pen Argyl, 46 Holsteins averaging 15,972 pounds of milk and 641 of butterfat.

The high cow for milk belonged to Karl Miller. The record was 26,591 pounds. The high cow for fat belonged to Keystone Farm's "Becca" who put out 1092 pounds of butterfat.

Lifetime production records which were given special recognition belonged to cows in the Keystone herd, among other. The minimum standards for this honor are that the cow must have produced a minimum of 4000 pounds of butterfat or 100,000 pounds of milk. Recognition is also given when the cow moves on to the next level of butterfat production, calibrated by 1000 pounds at a time. More than 1600 Northampton County dairy cows received that distinction earlier this month, with one of Keystone Farms' cows taking the top honor with a record of 216,729 pounds of milk.

The award for high herd average increase over the past three years went to Paul Richards of Bangor, whose 56 Holsteins jumped up an average of 4087 pounds of milk per head. His current average stands at 15,082 pounds of milk and 586 of fat.

Other production awards included one for the highest record for a cow 10 years old or older - John Valkovac, Bath, with 21,721 pounds of milk on his "Valeria." Fulmer Brothers' junior 2-year old, "Pandora," had the high record for the youngsters. The high cow over herd averages was Number 316 in the Twin Gap Farm herd, Mount Bethel. She exceeded her herd average by more than 10,000 pounds of milk.

Production trophies were sponsored by NEBA, Bill Shandor from Curtiss Breeding Service, Flory Milling Co. of Bangor, Phillips Feed Service of Bath, the Northampton Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, Penn-Jersey Harvestore, Eric Heinsohn of American Breeders Service, Fred Irwin of Agway, and Ronald Achenbach, owner of a Surge dealership.

Brian Ott of Bangor received a plaque for outstanding first year 4-H youth. Plaques for older 4-H members were given to Thomas Weber of Township Line Road, Bethlehem; Kenneth Fabian, Nazareth, and Shawn Weber of Bethlehem.

Carlos Straight, vo-ag teacher at the Eastern Vo-Tech School, presented a plaque to Kenneth Fabian as the outstanding FFA member.

In other proceedings that evening, Clarence Stauffer, Holstein Association program director for eastern Pennsylvania, stressed the need to recruit new members and advertise milk. He also said that the Holstein association plans to spend more time working with breeders.

Attendants to the banquet and meetings were told by Donald Seipt, a national director of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, that the export business for Holsteins is growing and amounted to nearly $2 million last year.

Donald Ackerman, president of the Northampton County DHIA, presided during the DHIA activities of the evening. Two new directors were elected: Elwood Fox of Bangor, will direct in Association No. 1, while William Haines of Pen Argyl will assume duties for Association No. 2.

Finishing its 42nd year, the Northampton County DHIA data shows that dairymen in the County shot above a collective average of 15,000 pounds of milk per cow for the first time. It stands at 15,142 pounds, compared to 14,022 pounds a year ago. Butterfat production jumped from 529 last year to 575 this year. The number of cows enrolled in the DHIA program is up too: From 3349 a year ago to 3487 in 1977.

DHIA data for the County shows that the standards set here are well above the state average for milk and butterfat, and value of the product. Feed costs are up as well, but leave nearly a $200 above feed costs edge when compared to the state's average of $803 per cow.

Curator gives tips on saving for posterity

Dr. John Schlebecker

LANCASTER – "If it's any good, they'll stop making it," says Schlebecker's Law. So, continues the newfangled adage, "save it."

Dr. John Schlebecker is the inventor of the sage words in question as well as the curator of Agricultural Sciences at the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. A renowned instructor, authority, and author, Schlebecker spoke recently at a banquet for commerce and industry in Lancaster, giving the audience some guidelines for selecting agricultural implements and tools for posterity.

In his presentation intersperced with humorous illustrations and comments, Schlebecker first traced the "universal passion people have always had to keep things."

"The utilitarian collector saves something for seven years – if he has not found a use for it by then, he throws it out," says the curator.

"Historically, many objects were buried along with their owners either to appease the spirits or ancestors or to please a diety." Temples were in reality the earliest museums, he said.

"Cathedrals are simply gigantic museums," he continued. "Things were kept in them or saved, first of all for their spiritual or emotional value."

"Early researchers, however, went to temples and discovered ways to trace man's history from the objects displayed there. "It turns out that what was saved because of it's spiritual value now has an educational value," Schlebecker explained. The Smithsonian curator advised the audience to save new things they have in their possession.

"Pick out what is worth saving," he said. Much of what is old now actually survived only by accident, he pointed out. Either the artifact was in abundant supply or "someone didn't know what it was and threw it into a shed – that in itself is unique for farmers – and someone found it later."

Schlebecker suggested the would-be collector select only what is useful now, "don't save freaks," he cautioned.

He also advised saving implements which are hard to explain without having the object itself for demonstration.

"The cotton gin, for instance," he explained, "is it's own best explanation."

To assist in the collecting of objects, Schlebecker proposed saving documents relating to the artifact such as owner's manuals, parts of catalogs, and even the sales receipts.

The curator stressed keeping records including keeping a clear idea or inventory of where the objects are located in the collection.

To illustrate the problems brought about by a lack of record keeping, he explained he would be spending all of this week on a three acre plot in Iowa attempting to identify hundreds of agriculture artifacts and machinery gathered since the turn of the century.

Schlebecker briefly contrasted European and American 18th century agriculture artifacts and pointed out that America used lighter and less structurally strong implement.

"American implements were different but not necessarily inferior," he clarified.

"The American farmer in the 18th century was not interested in an indestructable two ton plow which had to be drawn by a huge team of oxen. He wanted something to do the work fast." The American farm basically differed from the European in a "lack of materialism."

"If I break it, I'll just get another one," was the American theory," said Schlebecker.

"This quick obsolescence creates a problem for collectors, though."

"Things do not survive by accident in America now. They must be saved on purpose, they are not made to last," he concluded.

"Time is of the essence."

1917 - Smith-Hughes Act provided federal funds for courses in vocational agriculture.

1923 - Local and state organizations for vocational agriculture students began to develop. Names like Young Farmers, Junior Farmers and Future Farmers were popular.

1926 - Vocational agriculture students were invited to Kansas City, Missouri, to participate in Judging Contests at the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show. They formed the National Congress of Vocational Agriculture Students.

1928 - Future Farmers of America was organized in Kansas City, Missouri. The FFA was an outgrowth of the Congress of Vocational Agriculture Students and served to unite all vocational agriculture youth groups.

1939 - The National FFA Organization purchased 28½ acres of land once part of George Washington's estate and established a National FFA Camp. The campsite is now the location of National FFA Headquarters.

Girl is York County FFA leader

Barbara Snyder has the gavel ready to call York County's FFA chapters to a new order of achievement and promotion.

By DIETER KRIEG

DOVER – Sixteen-year old Barbara Snyder leads York County's FFA chapters in more ways than one. She's the recently elected new president of the group and is also the White Rose Star Farmer. It's a first for a York County girl on both counts.

Miss Snyder believes in a strong future for agriculture and wants to do something to promote the cause. Convinced that one of the most important duties of the farm wife is to go out and promote agriculture, the female FFA member wants to waste no time in bringing the importance of agriculture and related activities to the forefront.

Introduced Monday evening as the County's new FFA president, Miss Snyder acknowledged the honor and responsibility in these words:

"It's a great honor to have been selected to serve as county president. My major goal this year is to get everyone involved in the promotion of FFA. There's much that can and will be done."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder, Felton R1, Miss Snyder is a student at Red Lion High School. An active member of her FFA chapter, she has ambitions to go on as a candidate for state FFA offices, the Keystone Degree, the American Farmer Degree, and possibly national office.

One of her most noteworthy recent accomplishments is that she was chosen as the White Rose Star Farmer Monday night. More than 30 students from throughout the county were in contention for that honor.

The combination of having grown up on a farm, and being naturally curious is partially responsible for Miss Snyder's decision to join the vo-ag program at her school and take on leadership responsibilities within the FFA. But there's more. Her older brother, George, was an American Farmer Degree winner in 1967 and has been an inspiration to her ever since, she admitted.

"Leadership is the big thing in it all – the satisfaction of running for something and making it," Miss Snyder affirmed when asked about the personal rewards she finds within the FFA program. The new president says attending leadership training conferences has helped her a lot.

Calling a 100-acre grain farm her home, the ambitious young lady is committing herself to a future in farming. She recognizes that women are becoming more and more important in agriculture, particularly in the areas of promotion. "People can't survive without agriculture," she says matter-of-factly.

Miss Snyder's work experiences at home include working with a grain dryer and storage facilities and clerking in her father's store for salvaged goods. She puts in about 30 to 35 hours a week, in addition to being a full-time student and leader within the FFA. Other extra-curricular activities include the parliamentary procedures team, public speaking, agronomy, dairy cattle judging, dairy products judging, and FFA projects involving approximately 40 layers, nine acres of potatoes, 25 acres of field corn, and seven head of registered Jerseys. The latter is her major interest, she confessed.

Miss Snyder got her start with Jerseys several years ago while enrolled in the junior ag program at Red Lion. She needed a project, she recollected, and decided that dairy animals is what she'd like best. Her father purchased a $420 Jersey calf for her, in exchange for the work she's been doing over the years. That same calf went on to win championships at Dallastown and York, and participated in the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show in Harrisburg during the All-American. Since then, Miss Snyder has purchased several more Jerseys and she's a member of the Pennsylvania Jersey Breeders Association.

In the future, she'd like to go to college for two years, major in chemistry and agriculture, become a milk laboratory technician, and marry a farmer.

"FFA has inspired me. It's good for anyone who really puts something into it. It's rewarding," she concluded.

Mulches important part of gardening

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - The use of mulches dates back to the very beginning of agriculture. They help in a number ways - reduce and slow down run-off and erosion, conserve moisture, maintain soil structure and modify soil temperature, add plant nutrients, and increase biological activities in the soil.

Mulching materials include crop residues, sawdust or woodchips, tree bark, manure, compost, stone or gravel. They can be used to mulch around shrubs and in gardens.

When one is applying mulches to shrub beds, apply one to one and one-half inches deep and to a distance of three feet around the plant.

When mulching a flower or vegetable garden, a person should use a two-inch layer of mulch. This can be worked into the soil in spring or allowed to remain to help reduce weeds and conserve moisture during the growing season.

Roses need special winter care

FLEMINGTON, N.J. – Many gardeners have their own ideas on how low to cut rose bushes in the fall. Some cut down as short as eight inches, other 15 or 18 inches

If one wants to do his rose bushes a favor, the canes should be cut at varied heights. This is for disease control.

When roses are pruned back, each cane should be inspected carefully. If brown, black, or purple blotches are noted on canes, these are sure indications of fungus diseases which cause rose canker.

A gardener should prune each cane so that no canker spot remains on it; making the cut about two inches below the lower margin of the canker.

This will assure that next spring when the new shoots start developing, they won't die just about the time the flower starts.

To protect roses from winter injuries due to low and fluctuating temperatures, one can mound eight to 10 inches of soil around the base of the plant. Soil should be used from another section of the garden so that one won't be apt to injure the roots of the plants in the rose bed. This should be done after the first killing frost, but while the soil can still be worked.

Another step for winter protection is for a person to tie all canes together so that the winter wind will not loosen the root system.

If one lives in the upper reaches of the county, where temperatures dip below zero regularly, hay or straw can be mounded over the canes, holding it in place with a few shovelfuls of soil.

The protective mound can be removed in spring when the danger of severe frost is over.

One last tip for outdoor plants. Before cold weather arrives, one should prune out broken and diseased branches, but not remove any healthy twigs which could devitalize the plant and possibly increase winter injury.

Dairy hearing extended

PHILADELPHIA -- Farmers are notified by the United States Department of Agriculture that John G. Liebert, administrative law judge, has extended the time for filing briefs on the record of the public hearing held October 4-7, 1977 at the Franklin Motor Inn. from November 21, 1977 until December 1, 1977.

The hearing was held with respect to proposed amendments to tentative marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of milk in the Middle Atlantic Marketing Area.

Auto Service Tips

Check auto fan belt periodically to see if it needs to be tightened or replaced. The belt drives the water pump, fan and alternator. Should it break, the result would be overheating and battery discharge.

MANHEIM – John Huber, Lititz, a 15-year-old 4-H Capon Club member, won his second championship at the Elm-Penryn and Lititz-Manheim 4-H Clubs capon roundup on November 15. The ten pound champion bird was auctioned after the roundup to be sold for the price of $2.50 per pound, being bought by the president of the Manheim Rotary Club, Jim Bright.

The roundup, dinner, and auction were all sponsored by the Manheim Rotary Club. Eighteen birds, weighing between 10 and 12½ pounds were offered by the 4-H'ers and sold throughout the evening.

Reserve champion capon was shown by Ed Nissley, Manheim R5. The 11½ pound bird was sold for 1.60 per pound to Clarence Keener, Sr., who is vice president of the Manheim Rotary Club.

Third place bird was shown by Jeff Shenk, Lititz, and sold for $1.65 per pound. Wendy Huber showed the fourth place capon, which brought a selling price of $1.75.

Other 4-H members participating in the roundup from the area included: Jim Kreider, Bud Shenk, Tim Hostetter, Phil Nissley, and Deb Huber.

No. 4 milk price $10.46

ALEXANDRIA, Va. - Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine recently announced an October 1977 base milk price of $10.46 per hundredweight for the Middle Atlantic Marketing Order and an excess milk price of $8.75. The wieghted average October price is $10.32 and the butterfat differential for the month is 11.6 cents. The October base milk price is down 10 cents from September and is 24 cents below the October 1976 base price. Order No. 4 prices are announced for 3.5 per cent milk f.o.b. plant location within 55 miles of Philadelphia, Pa., and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, D.C. or Baltimore, Md. There is a 6-cent direct-delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Shine reported that October producer milk receipts totaled 468.2 million pounds, a drop of 2.0 per cent from September, on a daily basis, but 3.4 per cent above a year ago. Class I producer milk accounted for 59.54 per cent of total October producer deliveries, compared to 61.10 per cent in September and 61.50 per cent a year ago. Base milk represented 91.87 per cent of total October production. A total of 7,941 dairymen supplied Middle Atlantic Order handlers during he month and the average daily delivery per producer was 1,902 pounds, 3.7 per cent above the October 1976 daily average.

Middle Atlantic Order pool handlers reported Class I in-area milk sales of 7.63 million pounds per day during October. When adjustment for variation in calendar composition is made, October fluid milk sales were down 0.6 per cent from September and were 2.4 per cent below last October.

Corn/forage contest results announced at Leb. YF meeting

LEBANON – The Northern Lebanon Young Farmers met Monday with president Paul Maulfair presiding. At the meeting, corn and forage contests were held with the following results: Ray Sattazahn was the winner in the corn yield contest with 207.3 bushels per acre; Richard Van Lieu took a first in the corn quality contest; first place alfalfa went to Gary Lentz; the timothy hay top award went to Wes Harding; mixed hay to Donald Weidman; clover hay to Wes Harding; corn silage to Ray Sattazahn; high moisture corn to Wilmer Weaver; and haylage to Bob Shuey.

Other winners in the corn yield contest were: 2. Lewis Werner, 3. Jeffrey Werner, 4. Gary Lentz, 5. Chris Seaman, 6. Vince Wagner, 7. Galen Bollinger; 8. Calvin Miller, 9. Lamar Bollinger, 10. Wilmer Weaver.

In the corn quality contest, second through 10th place winners were: 2. Oscar Van Lieu, 3. Tom Shuey, 4. Ken Mull, 5. Calvin Miller, 6. Paul Maulfair; 7. Bob Shuey, 8. Wilmer Weaver, 9. Wes Harding, and 10. Chris Seaman.

Second through 10th place winners in the alfalfa hay contest were: 2. Roy Moyer, 3. Donald Bausher, 4. Ralph Shirk, 5. Ralph Shirk, 6. Harold Swienhart, 7. Daniel Bausher, 8. Ralph Shirk, 9. Paul Maulfair, 10. Dale Maulfair.

The complete results from the mixed hay contest were: 2. Ray Sattazahn, 3. Wilmer Weaver, 4. Art Kunkle, 5. Roy Moyer, and 6. Art Kunkle.

Second and third placing clover hay winners were David Bausher, second and Jeff Werner, third.

In corn silage, placings up to 10 included Lewis Werner, second; Tom Shuey, third; Bob Shuey, fourth; Donald Bausher, fifth; Wes Harding, sixth; Ralph Shirk, seventh; Larry Shuey, eighth; Donald Weidman, ninth; and Wilmer Weaver, 10th.

In the haylage contest, Ray Sattazahn placed second; Ed Funck placed third; Wilmer Weaver, fourth; Lewis Werner, fifth; Tom Shuey, sixth; Dale Maulfair, seventh; Paul Maulfair, eighth; and Donald Bausher, ninth.

Also discussed at the meeting were plans for the Christmas banquet to be held December 3 at 7 p.m.

Lawn mowers need work before winter

DOVER, Del. – Some good basic maintenance work on lawn mowers now can save time and trouble next spring. Thomas H. Williams, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware, recommends the following overhaul when putting the machines away for the winter.

First of all, a person should wash the mower with kerosene or fuel oil to remove any dirt, grease, oil and clippings accumulated this year. Then the gas tank and carburetor should be drained and refilled with alcohol. Each should be soaked long enough to dissolve any gum that may have formed.

Next, the air filter is removed and cleaned according to the manufacturer's instructions. The dirty oil is drained from the crankcase and replaced with fresh oil of the proper weight.

A perosn should remove and clean or replace the spark plug and pour a small amount of gasoline in the tank. Next he starts the engine and lets it run until the fuel is used. (One should be sure this is done in a well-ventilated place.) Then, the wheel bearings and moving parts should be lubricated.

Finally, with the spark plug wire disconnected, one must check the blade and sharpen or replace it if necessary. If sharpening the blade, a person should take care not to get it out of balance, cautions Williams. The job is finished by lightly coating the blade with oil to prevent rust. For safety's sake, it is best to replace the bolt that holds the blade on the mower. These bolts become weakened, especially if they've been banged with a hammer.

While working on the blade, a person can take time for one last step. With the mower resting on a flat surface, the blade is adjusted so that its cutting edge is at least two inches above theis surface. Setting the blade at this height will give a more vigorous lawn, better able to tolerate drought, wear and other stresses.

Improved home sewage system alternative to septic tank

UNIVERSITY PARK – Improved decomposition of sewage is possible in a home sewage system developed by agricultural engineers at Penn State University. The new system could become an improved alternative for home septic tank and backyard disposal field now used commonly in many areas.

The system features a large fiberglass bag positioned inside a metal tank holding as much as 1000 gallons of organic solids and effluent. Raw sewage enters the top of the fiberglass bag as the continuous process of decomposition takes place.

Air is the key to the system, according to Dr. Kermit Q. Stephenson, professor of agricultural engineering at Penn State. Air seeping into the bottom of the bag builds up microorganisms which feed on the sewage solids and decompose or digest them. The air flowing through the bottom of the bag also keeps the bottom from clogging so that effluent free of solids can flow out into the tank.

The tank gradually fills with effluent which is removed through a pipe at the top. The effluent can then be chlorinated to destroy harmful bacteria.

"Our experiments look very promising thus far," professor Stephenson said. "Now we must test the system on a full-scale 1000 gallon tank, the septic tank size required by state law, in an actual home situation."

The need for an alternative home sewage system is indicated by the many areas unsuited for septic tanks and disposal fields, he pointed out. Presently, many rural home owners are bothered by odorous, bacteria-laden effluent from their disposal fields. This occurs, he claimed, when organic solids accumulate in the absorption bed to the extent that the soil pores clog and the disposal field no longer functions.

The big question, he indicated, is to determine the proper size for such a system serving an average family of four to six people. In earlier experiments, 600 gallon tanks were used. The latest experiments, testing air seepage into a fiberglass bag, used a 100 gallon tank in the developmental stage.

Air treatment of sewage, known as aerobic digestion, offers much faster decomposition of solids than the anaerobic or no-air treatment used in present septic tanks. The air serves to agitate and keep solids circulating within the fiberglass bag while supplying oxygen needed for aerobic bacteria to decompose organic solids into water and carbon dioxide, chiefly. When decomposition is completed, the effluent is relatively stable and less contaminated than effluent from a septic tank, Stephenson noted.

He said the chlorinated effluent from this system is pure enough to use as irrigation water—much like the effluent from Penn State's long-term experiments on crop and forest land. The effluent could be discharged underground during the Winter, he suggested. He added that more studies are needed regarding the storage and use of effluent from air-treated home sewage systems.

York 4-H Council meets

YORK – Tom Perry of the Loganville 4-H Club, was presented with the Sr. Vegetables Trophy for being the county winner at the 4-H County Council meeting on November 2 at the 4-H Center, near Bair. David Norman, Ass't. County Agricultural Agent, made the presentation.

Tim Markovits, Ass't. County Agricultural Agent, announced that York County's Ellanna Kern received second place in the state competition of the Poster Art Contest. Her poster title was "4-H-The Sound of Youth". Posters made by Bonnie Wire and Julie Kline received Honorable Mention.

Members decided to place a sign titled "HALL OF FAME" in the hall of the 4-H Center where the pictures of York County State and National winners are placed.

Brooke Palmer, social chairman, reported that a semi-formal Christmas Dance will be held on December 17 from 7:30 to 11:00 p.m. at the 4-H Center for all Capital Region 4-H members.

The winners of the Halloween Costume Contest were Tom, Greg, and Jeff Perry, and Linda Ebaugh. Mr. and Mrs. John T. Smith served as judges.

Coming events include: Franklin County Hayride on November 26; Roller Skating Party on November 21; and National 4-H Congress from November 27 to December 1.

Area organizations add to ag scholarships

UNIVERSITY PARK – Recently the College of Agriculture of The Pennsylvania State University held a gathering at the Nittany Lion Inn, University Park, to dole out scholarships and awards to deserving individuals within the college.

Of the 58 scholarships awarded, 17 were sponsored by business firms and organizations within the coverage area of Lancaster Farming.

The Adams County Poultry Association awarded $400 to undergraduate students from Adams County enrolled or planning to enroll in agriculture who have an expressed interest in poultry or another major in agriculture. Michele E. Krichten, of Littletown, was the individual selected by the Department of Poultry Science in consultation with the Adams County Poultry Association to receive the award.

Receiving the Eastern Milk Producers Scholarships of $250 each were Dale R. Olver, Honesdale, in dairy production and Scott A. Rhoads, New Cumberland, in animal science. These stipends are given to undergraduate students in agriculture and are intended to encourage leadership.

Four students were awarded the Mason C. Gilpin and Norman F. Reber scholarships of $250 by the Pennsylvania Master Farmers Association. Two of this year's recipients were male and two female. Judy A. Howe, from Erie, in horticulture, earned the award and Maureen McPoland from Pittsburgh in animal science earned the honor also. In general agriculture, the honored awardee was Richard J. Lotstein, Port Matilda, and Michael Ohler, Polk, animal production, also took the honor.

Two undergraduates in agriculture who demonstrated interest in the livestock and meat industry, preferably with an animal production major, were given awards of $400 and $600 by Hatfield Packing Company, Hatfield, Pa. Those two students, chosen by a faculty committee from the Department of dairy and animal science were Rebecca Perkins, Plymouth, - $600, and Paul Tuttle, Wyalusing - $400.

The Glatfelter Pulp Wood Company, from Spring Grove, provided the D. E. Hess Industrial Forestry scholarship to aid junior and senior forestry students interested in an industrial forestry career. Selected by a faculty committee in the school of Forest Resources was Kurt D. Oswald, Kutztown, who received a $250 scholarship.

Both Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative, Southampton, and friends of J. Lin Huber from St. Thomas, Pa., provided an award to Julianne Nagel, Johnstown, in horticulture. Miss Nagel received $500.

A separate Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative grant was presented to Kelley E. Ritchey, Roaring Springs. This grant is awarded to an agricultural student who is the son or daughter of members of Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative, or if no student is eligible under this qualification, the grant may be awarded to any agricultural student who has demonstrated a need. Ritchey received $500.

The Pennsylvania Egg Marketing Association also granted a stipend to andergraduate in agriculture. Primarily, the student must express an interest in poultry via animal science, animal production, or food science. Selected by the Department of Poultry Science in consultation with the Association, Robert F. Gerlach, Quakertown, was named the recipient of the $300 award.

Other awards bestowed at the Monday gathering were made by: Pennsylvania Limestone Division of Pennsylvania Stone Producers–Mary K. J. Dix, Parkside, $500; and Wesley R. Rhine, Harrisburg, $500; Pennsylvania Poultry Federation Scholarship – Diane S. Keeney, York, Animal Science, $500; Pennsylvania Seedmen's Association–Christopher P. Egg testimonies brighten, but battle not over

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER – Speaking here briefly Tuesday morning after having received a $7385 check from the Shell Egg Committee of the Poultry and Egg Institute of America (PEIA), Hendrik Wentink noted that some light is being shed on fair cholesterol research and reporting. He made comments during the last annual meeting of the Northeast Poultry Producers Council, which will merge with PEIA on Jan.1. The meeting was held at the Host Farm Resort Inn

"Evidence is increasing, and being published, which is shedding an entire new light on lipid hypotheses and pointing towards the positive side of egg nutrition," Wentink stated.

Wentink is employed in Lancaster as assistant to the president of Pennfield Corporation, and also serves as general chairman of the National Commission on Egg Nutrition (NCEN), an organization which is dedicated to defending the nutritional and beneficial qualities of eggs and egg products.

Despite the new positive exposures for eggs, Wentink is quick to point out that "one rose doesn't make Summer."

While gains are being made on the medical and media fronts, the current administration in Washington is allegedly determined to come up with a national diet plan for Americans. According to Wentink, who has for years been in the forefront for fair publicity on egg nutrition, the Carter Administration is very commited to the concept of dietary goals. "It's not just a McGovern idea," the Lancaster Countian warned, adding that the Administration is looking seriously at the very recommendations and conclusions offered earlier this year by the Senate Select Committee on Human Nutrition and Needs, which Senator George McGovern of South Dakota chaired.

In the opinion of Wentink and many others, such a dietary program would be a big mistake.

"There is no justification to go to a diet program which is so damaging to agriculture and even more damaging to consumers, especially since there's no evidence on what the new proposed diet will do to the consumer," the poultry specialist explained. As proposed by the McGovern Committee, the name by which the select senate committee is popularly known, the American people would be encouraged to eat less red meats, dairy products, and eggs. All three of these agricultural segments have protested these recommendations and evidence has since gone on record that the McGovern Committee's findings are unfounded. But up to now the Committee, charges Wentink, has paid no heed to this new testimony. Therein lies the poultry and livestock industry's continued dilemma and challenge, despite the gains being made in medical research and media coverage.

One study Wentink cited as new evidence bringing out the positive side of egg nutrition was conducted in London, and will likely be repeated in this country for further documentation. In that experiment, scientists were encouraged that high density lipid protein has a protective factor built in against cardiac problems. "But much more needs to be done on it. In time, it's very likely that the old theories dealing with cholesterol levels will be entirely obsolete," Wentink added.

One of Wentink's chief criticisms of the dietary goals, other than that they would be detrimental to both agriculture and the consuming public, is that the government is attempting to take an unproven dietary plan and apply it to he entire population. "The dietary goals would interfere with nutritional needs of the vast majority while maybe offering health protection to a few," Wentink said. Dietary plans, he claims, should be approached on an individual medical basis, rather than across the board.

"The Carter Administration wants to change the dietary habits of the U.S. citizen," Wentink repeated, explaining that the chief vehicles for this are school lunch programs and education. Influence in schools is expected to carry over into adult life, thus effectively changing nutritional patterns.

Wentink also pointed out that tremendous gains have been made over the last 15 years to eliminate many infectious diseases, thus pushing cardiac diseases to the forefront as the number 1 killer since something has to be in that position. NCEN continues to be committed to offering facts which keep eggs from being unjustly abused in courts, the media, and medical world. Until recently, the organization was headquartered in Park Ridge, Ill. Their new home will be in Washington, D.C. where the Poultry and Egg Institute of America has offered them office space and facilities.

Buck season opens Nov. 28

HARRISBURG - Deer hunters, who have been reporting harvests in excess of 100,000 annually in Pennsylvania for more than a decade, can again expect to have another good season in 1977, according to the Pennsylvania State Game Commission.

The regular two-week antlered deer season will open one-half hour before sunrise on November 28 and close at sunset on December 10. The regular statewide antlerless deer season is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, December 16 and 17.

Wildlife managers report that the 1977 pre-hunting season deer population in the state is over 650,000, a figure that is dangerously high in light of available over-Wintering food supplies.

The Game Commission hopes that hunters will report harvesting at least 57,000 bucks and another 57,000 antlerless deer this year. Should the harvest fall considerably short of the projected goals, whitetails will be in serious trouble if severe Winter weather conditions prevail from December through March. Starvation and other Winter losses could be excessive.

IH grants quarter mill to nat'l 4-H center

WASHINGTON - A $250,000 grant from the International Harvester Foundation to help complete expansion of the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C., was announced recently by Brooks McCormick, president and chief executive officer, International Harvester Company.

The 12½ acre National 4-H Center, which opened in 1959 with major assistance from the Ford and Danforth Foundations, currently serves more than 30,000 participants annually. Rapid expansion of 4-H enrollment-nearly doubling since 1970 to 5.8 million boys and girls-today makes completion of the Center an urgent matter, according to Grant A. Shrum, executive director of the National 4-H Council.

"The International Harvester Foundation grant will provide a substantial portion of our remaining capital needs," Shrum said. "In recognition of the long-term support of the McCormick family and International Harvester Company to agriculture and 4-H, one building will be named McCormick Hall."

International Harvester provides annual support to the national 4-H agricultural awards program and to the young agricultural specialists exchange program between the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

The National 4-H Center is owned and operated by the National 4-H Council as an educational service to 4-H. The 4-H program is conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service of state land-grant universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"This new grant and those which have preceded it have but one ultimate purpose - to strengthen the 4-H program and build responsible initiative in youth," Shrum said.

When completed the Center will provide lodging, dining and conference facilities for 650 persons at a time to meet the goals of annually training 12,500 key teenage leaders, 5000 volunteer leaders and 2500 professional staff members, to serve the educational training needs of 10,000 others in cooperating youth groups and organizations; to provide a national educational library and service pilot programs which will update, extend, and expand 4-H educational efforts.

Special emphasis is given to citizenship training for teenagers each Summer with programs focusing on the free enterprise system, health, environmental improvement, economics, judicial process, and international understanding.

The expansion program initiated in 1969 is scheduled for completion this Summer with dedication of entire facility set for September 22. Expansion has been made possible by gifts totaling $2 million from 4-H members, leaders and staff, together with more than six million dollars from the private sector. In addition to International Harvester Foundation, major contributors to date include W.K. Kellogg Foundation, Kresge Foundation, J.C. Penney Company, Inc., and J.C. Penney Foundation, Inc.

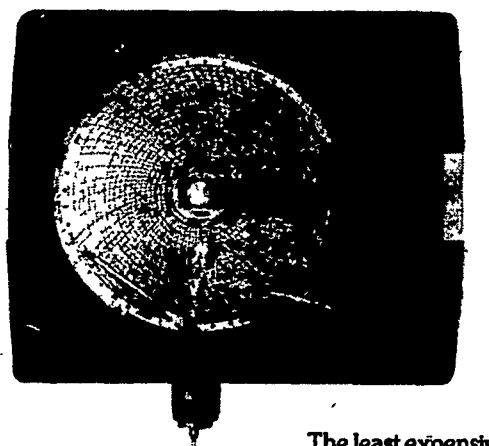
WHO'S MINDING THE MILK?



If you depend upon your milk check for a living, who's minding your milk?

The least expensive, one-shot insurance you can get is the Sentinel — the 10-inch recorder which charts temperature of your milk-cooling or holding tank. Here's what it provides:
- Permanent proof that proper temperature was maintained.
- Record of cooling equipment efficiency.
- Cleaning temperature recording on the same chart.

The Sentinel is also available with provision for actuating an alarm or warning light if pre-set temperature is exceeded.

Remember — if it prevents the loss of only one tank of product, the Sentinel has paid for itself. It minds your milk.

Court orders violations to stop

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Jerome C. Davis, former operator of Jerry's Meats, Dysart, Pa., has been ordered to refrain from violating bonding requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said.

Davis formerly purchased livestock as a packer in south-central Pennsylvania, northern Maryland, Indiana, Ohio, and Kentucky. He is not in business as a meat packer at this time.

Since May, Davis had been enjoined by the U.S, District Court, Pittsburgh, from purchasing livestock while he did not have the required bond, unless payment was made in full for the livestock at the time of purchase.

The most recent order against Davis was issued in default when he failed to answer charges in an administrative complaint filed by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration.

The cease and desist order, like a permanent injunction, was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act.

Packers are required under the P&S Act to maintain a reasonable bond as a measure of financial protection for the sellers of livestock.

Thomas Thiede, Forest City, Pa., has been ordered to cease and desist from operating as a livestock dealer without maintaining a bond as required under the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said.

Thiede purchases livestock in northeastern Pennsylvania and southern New York State. He has now filed the required bond.

Thiede consented to issuance of the order and waived oral hearing. He neither admitted nor denied the charges in an administrative complaint filed under the P&S Act.

Schlegel wins

VIRGINVILLE - James Schlegel, of Virginville Grange, won the best of show at the Pa. Grange Convention held recently. He and his accompanist, Esther Stitzel, and their families, are representing Pa. at the National Grange Convention.

It was announced at the Virginville Grange meeting that the National Grange will be held in Lancaster, Pa. in 1979.

The awards banquet for the grange will be held on November 26 at the Grange.

SCS begins erosion study

LANCASTER - The Soil Conservation Service (SCS) is in the process of an erosion inventory and sediment yield study in Lancaster County. This is part of a national erosion study that is being carried out throughout the country, reports Warren M. Archibald, district conservationist.

SCS technicians in Lancaster County are visiting random 100-acre plots that have been selected to insure uniformity of the sampling throughout the USA. They will record land use data from these plots. They will also check three randomly selected points within each plot and record different types of information, such as the type of cover, slope, kind of soil, and conservation practices.

According to Warren M. Archibald, all this information will be computerized at Ames, Iowa. It will help SCS to determine the amount of sheet and rill erosion in rural and urban areas both in Pennsylvania and in the nation.

Next Winter and Spring, SCS technicians will complete the study. They will examine the 100-acre plots and determine tons of soil eroded each year from gullies and streambanks. They will also measure the amount of soil eroded from roadbanks and construction sites within the plots.

This information will also be computerized at Ames, Iowa. It will give SCS enough information to estimate the total amount of yearly erosion and sediment in Pennsylvania and throughout the United States, concluded Archibald.

Corn, soybean guide published

DOVER, Del. - Though Delaware corn and soybean farmers may still be smarting from losses on this year's crops, most of them are already planning for next year. According to University of Delaware Extension economist Carl German, farmers can gain insights into making important plantings and marketing decisions for next year by determining this year's production costs and break-even prices.

For this reason, he has compiled a circular to help Delaware farmers plan their production strategy for next year. Entitled "Representative Break-Even Prices for Corn and Soybeans at Various Yields, Land Values and Size of Operations," the circular is intended as a guide to both farmers and agricultural industry personnel.

German collected information for the circular from various Delaware farm operations on the basis of their 1977 crops. He included purchased input costs, such as seed, fertilizer, fuel, etc., as well as so-called fixed farm costs like machinery depreciation, land, taxes and insurance. This data was further broken down by the size of the operation, the yield per acre, and the value of land associated with the cost of production.

Based on the information included in this publication, Delaware corn and soybean farmers should be able to compute their own production costs and break-even prices. A worksheet for this purpose is included at the end of the circular.

Farmers wishing to receive copies of German's publication should write to Carl German at the University of Delaware or their local county extension agent's office in Georgetown, Dover or Newark, Del.

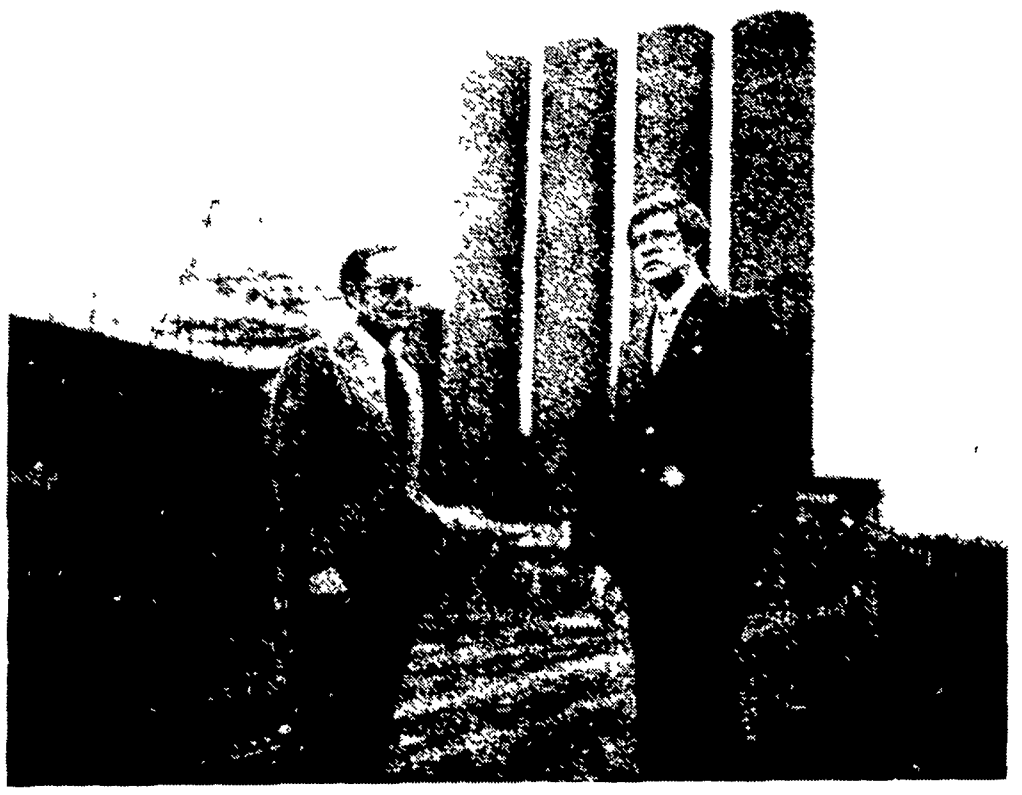
Goodling inspects Holly Milk



Congressman William F. Goodling, 19th District, (right) inspects the new Holly Milk Co-op plant with Ivo V. Otto Jr., president of Holly. The plant, located near Mt. Holly Springs, Pa., will receive up to two million pounds of milk daily for manufacture of powdered milk and butter. The plant is expected to be completed in time for the Spring flush. Holly Milk Co-op was formed earlier this year by Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative and Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers at a cost of more than $8.2 million.

Produce reporting method changed

NEW YORK – Beginning January 1, the U.S. Department of Agriculture will report the volume of fresh fruit and vegetables moving through marketing channels by weight instead of rail carlot equivalents. The change ends a 50-year tradition of converting truckload quanitites of produce to the size of rail car loadings.

Clay Ritter, USDA marketing official, said changing transportation modes and the reduction or withdrawal of rail service at shipping and receiving points prompted the change. With trucks hauling nearly 75 per cent of all fresh fruits and vegetables marketed today, the use of carlot terms has declined significantly within produce trade circles, he said.

Daily and weekly reports will produce shipments in units of 10,000 pounds as proposed in the June 9 Federal Register. Yearly totals will appear in units of 1000 hundredweights in annual reports. This method, Ritter said, makes it possible to include low-volume items like artichokes and blueberries in daily reports and to simplify the consolidation of data for use in annual reports.

The market news program of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service currently covers fresh fruit and vegetable market activities in 25 major U.S. metropolitan areas. Key agricultural production and shipping centers are also covered. The daily and weekly market reports are immediately made available to news media through USDA's nationwide telecommunications network and mailed reports.

A notice confirming the volume reporting method change appeared in the Oct. 17 Federal Register. Copies may be obtained from the Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Choose your turkey then carve the easy way

UNIVERSITY PARK – A happy holiday meal usually includes turkey. This year consumers have many forms of turkey to choose from. And, according to Penn State home economists, turkey and turkey products should meet the needs and tastes of everyone.

The most popular form again this year will be the ever-traditional whole turkey, roasted for hours to a golden-brown and served with all the fixings. You can buy whole turkey either fresh or frozen.

Expect to pay a premium price for fresh, unfrozen turkeys, since they must be processed during the rush period prior to a holiday. Fresh turkey can be held at refrigerated temperatures for approximately one week after slaughter. Since frozen turkeys have been rapidly frozen immediately after slaughter, they retain their quality well during storage.

A new twist to the whole turkey has appeared in the past few years. You can buy turkey frozen with a seasoned stuffing already in the body cavity. The stuffing is prepared under sanitary conditions and is ideal for those who don't have a favorite recipe. You roast a prestuffed turkey in its frozen state with little advance preparation. These turkeys must NOT be allowed to thaw before placing in the oven to roast.

Another concept is the self- and the deep-basting turkey. An oil-type product, such as corn oil, margarine or butter, is added to the turkey meat to add succulence and greater flavor. In the self- and deep-basting process, the mixture bastes with the meat and skin surface, leaving you free to enjoy your guests while the turkey bastes itself to a golden brown.

If you prefer just breast or dark meat, or want additional meat to go along with the whole bird, turkeys are sold in parts in the frozen meat case. Because of the added labor costs and meat content, turkey parts cost a little more than whole turkeys. Penn State explains that there are a variety of turkey products available that involve little or no waste which are ideal for a small family. The boned and tied turkey consists of light and dark meat surrounded by a natural skin cover. The advantages of this type of turkey are a shorter cooking time and no bones or trimmable waste. Because of the labor involved in separating the meat from the bone and the processing necessary to put the product into final form, boned and tied turkeys also cost more than whole turkeys.

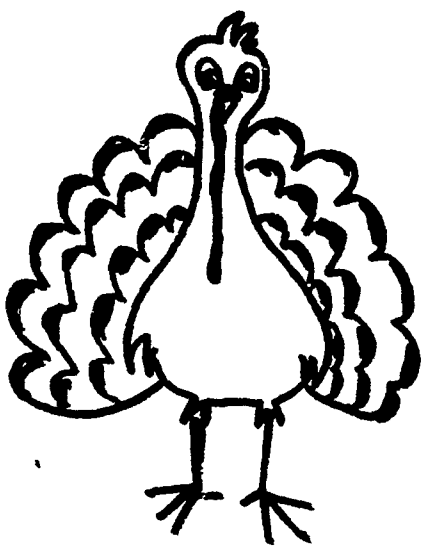
Another no-bones-or-waste products is the turkey pan roast. The meat portion consists of a light and dark meat portion which has been mixed with binding materials and formed in an aluminum pan with a natural skin covering placed on top. The pan roast may also include the cost per pound to decide the best buy in pan roasts.

Still another type of boneless turkey meat product is processed in a pear-shaped ham-type can, which can be roasted with little advance preparation.

The frozen turkey and gravy concept is also ideal for a Thanksgiving meal. Slices of turkey are placed in aluminum pans and covered with gravy. All you need to do is reheat it prior to serving.

There are a variety of forms of turkey to choose from for your holiday meal. Select one that is just right for you, your family and friends.

And once, the right turkey is chosen, the question will be, who's going to win the annual battle of carving the meat at holiday meals. Penn State offers a method that can make carving a turkey a graceful and easy task:



–Cool the bird for about 20 minutes before you start to carve. During this period the meat becomes more firm so that the turkey doesn't fall apart during carving.

--Separate the leg--drumstick and thigh–by holding the drumstick firmly and pulling it away from the body. At the same time, cut through the skin between the leg and the body. With skin cut, the entire leg will freely pull away.

–To remove the leg, press it away from the body. The joint connecting the leg to the backbone will often snap free or you may easily sever it with your knife point. Cut the dark meat completely from the body by following body contour carefully with your knife.

–Slice the dark meat by placing the leg on a separate

When you need feed, you need it fresh.

We're fresh.

The Mix-Mill automatic grinder/mixer makes fresh feed. It grinds and mixes up to five different ration ingredients, automatically. It's accurate, too. 98% to 99% accuracy on recipe proportions.

A remote electrical control panel gives you finger tip command of all mill functions. Operates unattended too, controlled by modern electrical timers and switches.

Mixing is by auger proportioning, driven by trouble free steel gears. Just dial in the proportions desired for your feed rations and let Mix-Mill do the rest. Select the exact amount of feed required day-after-day at the push of a button.

A daily ration of fresh feed generally gives dramatic increases in rates of gain. So make your next move to Mix-Mill.

Towerview Kelly's Heather tops Ayrshire dairy show

Tower View Kelly's Heather, a three-year-old cow owned by Tower View Farm of Cochranville, Pa., was selected as the grand champion female of the Ayrshire Dairy Show, conducted at the North American Livestock Exposition in Louisville on November 5 to 19 at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center.

Pa.'s grain crop predicted to produce over 101.2 mill bu.

HARRISBURG – As of November 1, Pennsylvania's 1977 grain corn crop is still expected to produce 101.2 million bushels, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. This is unchanged from earlier forecasts but two per cent below last year due to an expected yield of 88 bushels or two bushels below 1976.

Tobacco prospects are also unchanged with 23.5 million pounds expected this year. This would be less than one-half of one per cent below a year ago as a 500 acre reduction for harvest slightly more than offset an expected yield at 1,810 pounds or 60 above 1976.

Potato production is forecast at 6.8 million hundredweight or six per cent below last year. Acres harvested or expected to be harvested is down 1000 to 27,000 while yield at 250 hundredweight is down five cwt. Some potatoes harvested from wet fields will not hold up well in storage and thus cullage in the coming months may be abnormally high.

U.S. corn production is forecast at a record 6,367 million bushels based on conditions as of November 1, up one per cent (64 million bushels) from the October 1 forecast and two per cent above 1976.

Soybean production, forecast at a record 1683 million bushels, is up two per cent (35 million bushels) from a month earlier and 33 per cent above last year.

All tobacco production is forecast at 1918 million pounds, up 26 million pounds from October 1. but 218 million pounds or 10 per cent below the 1976 crop.

plate and cutting through the connecting joint. You may slice the drumstick and thigh individually. Hold the drumstick with a napkin, and tilt it to a convenient angle while slicing toward the plate.

–To slice the thigh meat, hold the piece firmly with a fork. Cut even slices parallel to the bone.

–Prepare the breast for easy slicing by placing the knife parallel and as close to the wing as possible. Make a deep cut into the breast and cut to the bone. This is your base cut and all breast slices will stop at this cut.

–After the base cut, begin to slice the breast. Start halfway up the side, carving down, and ending at the base cut. Start each new slice slightly higher up the breast. Keep slices thin and even.

Meeting considers calf hutches

NEW HOLLAND — The Garden Spot Adult Farmer Program will sponsor an educational meeting on dairy calf hutches and calf management on November 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the agriculture classroom of the Garden Spot High School, here.

A number of area dairymen are trying calf hutches as a means of raising healthier replacement stock and the purpose of this meeting is to examine design features of various calf hutches and to discuss management of the calf in the hutch. Several area dairymen who are using hutches will discuss their experiences. Slides of their operations will be shown. Elmer M. Martin, a calf hutch manufacturer from Myerstown, will display one of his hutches in the agriculture shop. Dr. Geroge Zimmerman, local veterinarian, will also have some comments on the health aspects of raising calves in hutches. Design plans to build hutches will be available at this meeting, which is open to all area dairymen. Refreshments will be served.

For any additional information on the meeting details, contact Donald Robinson, Adult Farmer Advisor, Eastern Lancaster County School District, at 354-0480.

Livestock firm suspended for bonding violations

HARRISBURG – Cattle Sales, Inc., Scenery Hill, Pa., has been suspended as a registered market agency for violating bonding requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has said.

The firm does business as Scenery Hill Stockyard. Its trade territory is in southwestern Pennsylvania.

The order was issued in default when Cattle Sales, Inc., failed to answer charges in an administrative complaint filed by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration.

Administrative law judge Victor Palmer suspended the respondent's registration, starting Nov. 14, until it files a reasonable bond. The firm may not operate as a market agency or dealer during that time.

Cattle Sales, Inc. was also ordered to cease and desist from operating as a market agency or dealer without filing and maintaining a reasonable bond. The cease and desist order, like a permanent injunction, was issued to insure future compliance with the Packers and Stockyards (P&S) Act.

Market agencies and dealers are required under the P&S Act to maintain a reasonable bond as a measure of financial protection for the sellers of livestock.

The P&S Act is a fair trade practices law. It promotes and maintains fair and open competition in marketing of livestock, poultry and meat.

Food wastes turned into feed by automated processor

NEW YORK, N.Y. – Through the use of a special new stainless steel installation, the waste parts of vegetables, chicken and meat can now be further processed into cattle fodder.

The completely automated installation is produced by ENBE B.V., an engineering concern at Asperen, the Netherlands. It is now available for export to the United States and can be employed for the benefit of farmers, ranches and farm cooperative organizations.

The completely automated installation consists of a waste water separator, a crushing machine and a blanching machine, assembled in a compact unit. The separator has a drum with .7 mm perforations.

The waste is drawn by a plunger pump from a collection trough and fed into the drum. All solid particles larger than .7 mm are passed along the drum into the crushing machine below the separator. The waste is then reduced to a maximum size of 25 mm. Afterwards, the waste is processed by the screw blanching machine into cattle fodder ready for consumption.

Together with the smaller particles, the water passes through the perforations in the drum of the waste water separator and through an outlet pipe into a reservoir The dirty water goes to the water drain via an overflow system and a stench trap.

Simultaneously, some of the separated water is utilized through a recycling system and a spray pipe situated above the drum to keep the perforations open constantly. When constituents containing fat are processed, steam injection has to be employed.

According to ENBE B.V., the installation is available in a variety of sizes.

For further information, please write to the Netherlands Consulate General, Commercial Division 616, One Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10020.

Bergland says U.S. has national food policy

MAQUOKETA, Iowa, - Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said Nov. 10 that for the first time, the United States has a national food policy that protects farm income, hedges against food price inflation, and provides for expansion of farm exports.

Speaking at the United Livestock Auction here, Bergland declared that the food issue should be handled as "a single national problem and not as three or four separate problems."

For too long, Secretary Bergland said, we have treated the food issue solely as a farm problem without regard to consumers or the tremendous impact our farm exports have on farmers themselves and the nation as a whole.

But, the secretary added, "our first and primary concern – is to keep our farm family system of agriculture strong and productive – for without our farmers there can be no food policy of any kind."

In outlining the national food policy, Secretary Bergland stated: "We are not offering promises we cannot keep nor policies that do not work... we are offering the farmers and the nation a food policy based on hard realities."

"In the long run," the secretary said, "these policies will mean a more stable agriculture, more protection for the nation, and a better and more humane use of our food throughout the world."

Secretary Bergland stressed the need for better understanding of the impact farm exports have in determining domestic farm income and the hard economics of our nation's balance of payments.

Mr. Bergland said we are going to avoid previous costly mistakes of "needless export controls and embargoes which lead to the loss of foreign markets and reduce confidence in our reliability as suppliers of food."

1944 - The National FFA Foundation, Inc., was created to give interested organizations, businesses and individuals an opportunity to make a financial investment in the future of agriculture by providing funds for FFA incentive award programs.

1947 - Members voted to start their own supply service thus beginning the National FFA Supply Service in 1948.

Miller and Rex top Schuylkill Co. DHIA

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN - The herd of Miller and Rex, Andreas R1, had the highest butterfat average in Schuylkill County for the month of October, according to information released by the Pennsylvania State University and J. Allan Shoener, county agent.

The production is given as the average production per cow per day. The top five herds are listed as follows for the month of October:

Miller and Rex, Inc., Andreas R1, 34.8 cows, 51.5 lbs. of milk, 1.94 lbs. butterfat; Heisler Brothers, Tamaqua R1, 73.9 cows, 44.8 lbs. of milk, 1.70 lbs. butterfat; William R. Daubert, Pine Grove R2, 72.1 cows, 37.2 lbs. of milk, 1.59 lbs. butterfat; Carl J. Snyder, Pitman R1, 66.9 cows, 42.5 lbs. of milk, 1.59 lbs. butterfat; and Wilbert Moyer, Schuylkill Haven R1, 36.2 cows, 40.8 lbs. of milk, 1.55 lbs. butterfat.

Forty-nine cows finished lactation records with 600 lbs. of milkfat in October. The records are based on 305 days or less, 2x actual production. The top cow belonged to Miller and Rex, Inc., whose "Polly" produced 22,946 lbs. milk and 989 lbs. butterfat.

Grange Master lists stresses on ag

GREENSBORO, N.C. – "Agriculture, our nation's greatest industry, is going through severe stress," said John W. Scott, master of the National Grange, as he addressed delegates attending the 111th annual session of the National Grange which opened here Monday.

The national farm leader said farm programs must be devised to aid those farmers who are in real need. He believes the whole concept of basing price supports on cost of production should be re-evaluated. He said the inclusion of charges for land in the cost of production and then using cost of production to determine target prices may result in farm programs becoming so costly they will be placed in jeopardy. He said alternatives must be found to unlock support from any criteria that may influence production. He suggested a return to a certain percentage of parity to determine price supports.

Scott expressed deep concern over the Department of Interior's decision to invoke the National Reclamation Act of 1902 which places severe new acreage limitations on farm landholders in 17 Western states including Hawaii. He said the act limits land holdings to 160 acres on farms where federal water if provided and requires owners to sell-off federally irrigated land in excess of 160 acres within five years and owners must live on the 160 acres or within a 50 mile radius. Scott warned that farmers see this as an agrarian reform movement that will change the market enterprise system and the principle of private property rights.

In the field of transportation which is vital to the economic growth of rural America, Scott said governmental regulations should be kept to a minimum to encourage competition in the marketplace. He said each system of transportation should stand on its own through user charges. He supports government policies which encourage use of energy efficient forms of transportation which also produce efficient interchange between the modes and are not punitive to any form of transportation.

Scott said he feels the President's energy proposals place an imbalanced emphasis on conservation and lack leadership in stimulating the development of new or existing sources of fuel. He strongly recommends that the federal government undertake a major research and development project to determine the feasibility of converting agricultural products to alcohol for energy.

Scott called upon Grange delegates to vigorously oppose any attempts to divert highway funds into other projects. He said figures indicate that a small increase in federal gas taxes at the rate of one cent per gallon in 1979 and 1981 would allow for the completion of all Interstate highways, correct bridge deficiencies on the federal aid system by 1985 and improve primary and secondary roads.

He also said there must be increased efforts to improve utilization of railroads. He recommended that through regulation, encouragement should be given to containerization, piggybacking and interfacing with other modes. He said work labor rules should be reformed and that any passenger service which is unprofitable and subsidized through Amtrak should be abandoned.

American Agri-Women meet, choose co-ordinator

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter

GREEN BAY, Wis – "American Agri-Women pleads for unity in agriculture," says Joan Adams, newly elected coordinator of the national coalition of farm and ranch women's organizations and individuals. Members of the organization and its affiliates met in Green Bay for their annual convention November 9 to 11 at the Port Plaza Inn.

"We deplore the farm economic crisis, as well as the resulting impact to the national economy. We urge A.A.W. members to obtain complete information about the American Agriculture movement, which is not affiliated with American Agri-Women. Each individual member is urged to participate in the movement to whatever extent their personal opinion dictates," stressed the new head of the organization.

Mrs. Adams' statement was released the final day of the convention, after some media stories linked the farm women's involvement with the stricke movement being headed up by American Agriculture.

American Agri-Women issued a challenge to all farm organizations, commodity groups, and cooperatives to unite with them toward achieving a unified voice for all agriculture.

"We must reconcile long held philosophical differences regarding agricultural economics in favor of common goals that will better insure the survival of the family farm," urged Mrs. Adams.

Over 100 delegates from across the country met during the Green Bay converence to elect new

Gail McPherson, New Park R1, headed up the goals committee and presented to the business session a list of 28 areas of concern adopted by the delegates as directives in policy-setting for the A.A.W. Included are statements on bureaucratic regulations and intervention in farming, estate planning, land use, nutrition labeling, and legislation.

During a closing day panel on the needs of rural women, Mrs. McPherson also presented her award-winning "Case for the Professional Farm Wife".

Another York County farm woman, Ethel Gross, Manchester R2, served on the ways and means committee and co-chaired an A.A.W. cookbook committee. The newly-published collection of favorite recipes from farm and ranch women across the states went on sale exclusively at the Green Bay convention and will be available through the Penn's Agri-Women affiliate of the national coalition.

Packed into the three-day conference were early morning through late night sessions covering agricultural economics, lobbying, public relations, farm land preservation and estate planning.

Keynote speaker was Dr. Harold Briemeyer, an Extension economist and professor at the University of Missouri. Other special speakers included Dr. Randall Torgerson, administrator of the Farmer Cooperative Service and Dr. Betty Hamlin, an education specialist and Oregon farm wife partner in a 1000 acre vegetable and blueberry operation.

The Thursday evening awards banquet featured four farm wife winners of the "Leaven" award. Winners were: Patricia "Corkey" Larson, California farm wife who has been deeply involved in the farm labor controversies; Sharon Steffens, Michigan farm wife who has served as the first AAW national coordinator; Nancy Smidle, assistant national AAW coordinator from Wisconson; and Joan Adams, who organized the Oklahoma farm women and led several successful lobbying trips to Washington, D.C.

More water quality control needed

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. – Environmental Protection Agency Region III administrator Jack J. Schramm said recently that Pennsylvania needs much greater control over its drinking water quality and waste disposal to reduce the contamination of State water supplies and related waterborne disease outbreaks.

"Pennsylvania ranks third in the Nation in generating solid waste and hazardous materials and for the past three years has led the nation in the number of waterborne disease outbreaks," said Schramm at a luncheon held in the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre area.

"I think that these facts should be of concern to every Pennsylvanian. Without greater control over drinking water quality and solid waste hazardous material disposal, these problems will probably increase in the coming years," Schramm said.

He said that when Congress passed the Safe Drinking Water Act and the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, it decided that while uniform standards could be best carried out by the states.

Pennsylvania has already declined the primary responsibility to enforce drinking water standards and has indicated that it will probably not accept the responsibility for solid waste when the opportunity presents itself. If a state refuses to accept primacy, the EPA must then take the responsibility.

Schramm said that the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources, who would carry out the enforcement programs, would be willing to accept the responsibility with more support from the State legislature.

He said that DER feels there has been a loss of momentum in the environmental movement in Pennsylvania. Legislative support is necessary to make changes in the State's drinking water and solid waste laws before Pennsylvania can assume primary enforcement responsibility.

The EPA is attempting to enforce the drinking water program by forming a task force with DER and County health departments and assigning a full-time person to Harrisburg to work with DER. The EPA itself is also gearing up for enforcement of the drinking water standards

In the solid waste area, the EPA is continuing to develop management guidelines to be put into effect under RCRA.

Schramm said that all of this effort will probably not be enough. "The EPA at present, cannot do the job as thoroughly as we think is necessary. If the State does not assume these responsibilities, the people of Pennsylvania will be the losers in the end." he said.
